6.02(a)(vi) To borrow money and issue evidences of indebtedness in furtherance of any or all of the purposes of the Company, and to secure the same by grant of security interests in assets of the Company;

6.02(a)(vii) Unless prohibited under applicable Laws, to require in any or all Company contracts that the Administrative Member and Investor Member shall not have any personal liability thereon but that the Person contracting with the Company shall look solely to the Company and its assets for satisfaction;

6.02(a)(viii) To enter into any kind of activity and to perform and carry out contracts of any kind necessary to, or in connection with, or incidental to the accomplishment of the purposes of, the Company, so long as said activities and contracts may be lawfully carried on or performed by a limited liability company under the laws of the State; and

6.02(a)(ix) To execute, acknowledge and deliver any and all instruments to effectuate the foregoing.

6.02(b) During the Compliance Period, the Administrative Member shall (i) operate the Apartment Complex and cause the Management Agent to manage the Apartment Complex in such a manner that not less than 83 of the residential rental units (not including any manager units) in the Apartment Complex will qualify as “low-income units” under Section 42(i)(3) of the Code; (ii) operate the Apartment Complex and cause the Management Agent to manage the Apartment Complex in such a manner that the Apartment Complex will qualify as a “qualified low-income housing project” under Section 42(g) of the Code; and (iii) make, or cause to be made, all certifications required by Section 42(l) of the Code.

6.02(c) In the event that a claim against the Company is made by the Service (a “Claim”) upon audit, the Tax Matters Member shall, within 10 days after receiving notice of such claim, notify the Investor Member of the Claim (such notice being referred to as a “Claim Notice”). The Tax Matters Member shall promptly furnish to the Investor Member a copy of each notice or other communication received by the Tax Matters Member from the Service.

The Tax Matters Member shall not have the authority, without the Consent of the Investor Member, to do all or any of the following:
6.02(c)(i) to enter into a settlement agreement with the Service concerning the adjustment or readjustment of any Company Items or which purports to bind Members other than the Tax Matters Member;

6.02(c)(ii) to file a request for an administrative adjustment with the Service at any time or file a petition for judicial review with respect to the Company or the Apartment Complex;

6.02(c)(iii) to intervene in any action brought by any other Member for judicial review of a final judgment as contemplated in Section 6226(b) of the Code (as in effect for taxable years beginning on or before December 31, 2017);

6.02(c)(iv) to initiate or settle any judicial review or action concerning the amount or character of any Company tax items; or

6.02(c)(v) to enter into an agreement extending the period of limitations for assessing or computing any tax liability against the Company as contemplated in Section 6229(b)(1)(B) of the Code (as in effect for taxable years beginning on or before December 31, 2017) or Section 6235(b) of the Code (as in effect for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2017).

The relationship of the Tax Matters Member to the Investor Member is that of a fiduciary, and the Tax Matters Member has a fiduciary obligation to perform its duties in such manner as will serve the best interests of the Company and the Investor Member.

The Company shall indemnify the Tax Matters Member from and against judgments, fines, amounts paid in settlement, and expenses (including attorneys' fees) reasonably incurred in any civil, criminal or investigative proceeding in which it is involved or threatened to be involved by reason of being the Tax Matters Member, provided that the Tax Matters Member acted in good faith, within what is reasonably believed to be the scope of its authority and for a purpose which it reasonably believed to be in the best interests of the Company or the Members. The Tax Matters Member shall not be indemnified under this provision against any liability to the Company or its Members to any greater extent than the indemnification allowed by Section 6.06. The indemnification provided hereunder shall not be deemed to be exclusive of any other rights to which those indemnified may be entitled under any applicable statute, agreement, vote of the Members, or otherwise.

6.02(d) The Members hereby designate the Administrative Member to serve as the "Partnership Representative" in accordance with Code Section 6223 for any Post-TEFRA Period. Effective for any Post-TEFRA Period, the Partnership Representative shall consult with the Investor Member prior to taking any action (including omitting to take any action) or making any election (or failing to make any permitted election) under the Partnership Tax Audit Rules. Further, the Partnership Representative will be subject to the same terms and conditions imposed on the Tax Matters Member pursuant to this Agreement.
If the Company receives a notice of final partnership adjustment from the Service, the Partnership Representative shall promptly forward a copy of such notice to the Investor Member and its legal counsel (as set forth in Section 14.02). The Partnership Representative may, with the written consent of the Investor Member (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld), within forty-five (45) days of receipt by the Company of a notice of final partnership audit adjustment, make the election described in Code Section 6226(a) to not have Code Section 6225 apply with respect to any underpayment of tax liability. Pursuant to such election, any final partnership adjustments shall be taken into account by each Member in accordance with Code Section 6226(b). In the event that an election described in Code Section 6226(a) is not made with respect to any notice of final partnership adjustment, each Member shall be obligated to make a Capital Contribution in an amount equal to such Member’s share of any taxes imposed in connection with such adjustment (and any associated interest and penalties). For purposes of the preceding sentence, each Member’s share of such taxes shall be determined by taking into account (i) such Member’s share of Profits, Losses and Credits to which such adjustment relates; (ii) such Member’s obligation (if any) to indemnify, defend, or hold harmless the Company or any other Member for such taxes (and any associated interest and penalties) under this Agreement; (iii) such Member’s obligations and liabilities arising from or related to such Member’s representations, warranties and covenants in this Agreement, and (iv) the obligations of the Administrative Member under Section 3.05 (relating to Credit Adjuster Payments and Credit Adjuster Advances).

If for any Post-TEFRA Period the Company meets the requirements of Code Section 6221(b) to elect not to have Code Section 6221(a) apply with respect to any adjustment to Company tax items, the Partnership Representative may, with the written consent of the Investor Member (which consent may be withheld in the Investor Member’s sole discretion), make such election described in Code Section 6221(b) for each tax year, as applicable.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 6.02, none of the Company, the Members, or the Partnership Representative shall, without the prior written consent of the Investor Member (which consent may be withheld in the Investor Member’s sole discretion), take any action or make any election under the Partnership Tax Audit Rules which would or could reasonably be expected to have a materially adverse effect on the Investor Member (or its direct or indirect owners). The rights of the Investor Member under this Section 6.02 shall survive any sale, exchange, liquidation, retirement or other disposition of the Investor Member’s Interest.

6.03 Restrictions on Authority.

6.03(a) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Agreement, neither the Managing Member nor the Administrative Member shall have authority to do any of the following:

6.03(a)(i) Do any act in violation of applicable Laws, the Project Documents or this Agreement;
6.03(a)(ii) Do any act required to have the Consent of the Investor Member prior to obtaining such Consent; or

6.03(b)(iii) Admit an additional Member;

6.03(b)(iv) Following the completion of the construction of the Apartment Complex, construct any new capital improvement which substantially alters the Apartment Complex or its use, except (A) replacements, repairs and remodeling in the ordinary course of business or under emergency conditions, (B) construction or rehabilitation paid for from insurance proceeds or (C) any rehabilitation, repairs, remodeling or construction which is required by the Lender;

6.03(b)(v) Acquire any real property in the name of the Company in addition to the Apartment Complex (other than easements or similar rights necessary or convenient for the operation of the Apartment Complex);

6.03(b)(vii) Substantially change the nature of the Company’s business;

6.03(b)(viii) Voluntarily file, or consent to or acquiesce in the filing of a petition in bankruptcy with respect to the Company;

6.03(b)(xiv) Enter into any additional documents or agreements affecting the Company in connection with the Section 811 Agreement;

6.03(b)(xv) Fix the interest rate on any loan that has a floating interest rate; or 6.03(b)(xvi) Institute or settle any claim in connection with any Letter of Credit.

6.03(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth in Section 6.03(b), the Consent of the Investor Member shall not be required with respect to the following subsections of Section 6.03(b) at any time following the expiration of the Apartment Complex's Compliance Period: 6.03(b)(i), (ii), (iv), (vi), (x), (xii), and (xv).

6.03(d) The Administrative Member and the Managing Member acknowledge that their Affiliates are parties to the Affiliate Contracts. The Administrative Member and the Managing Member covenant to fully enforce the Affiliate Contracts on behalf of the Company. To avoid any conflict of interest in dealings between the Company and the other parties to the Affiliate Contracts, the Administrative Member and the Managing Member shall obtain the Consent of the Investor Member as a condition precedent to (i) amending any Affiliate Contract or (ii) taking any material action (or in determining not to act), with respect to any Affiliate Contract. The Administrative Member and the Managing Member hereby each indemnifies and holds harmless the Company and the Members against any and all late fees, delay damages, penalty interest, or other claims, damages, or liabilities brought by a party to an Affiliate Contract against the Company.

6.04 Other Activities. The Administrative Member shall be required to devote only so much of its time as it reasonably deems necessary for the proper management of the Company business; additionally, the Managing Member shall at all times Materially Participate in the development and operation of the Apartment Complex. Affiliates of the Administrative Member and Affiliates of the Managing Member may engage or possess an interest, independently or with others, in other businesses or ventures (including limited partnerships and limited liability companies) of every nature and description, including, without limitation, serving as general partner of other partnerships which own, either directly or through interests in other partnerships, projects similar to or that compete with the Apartment Complex. Neither the Company nor any Member shall have any rights in or to such ventures or the income or profits derived therefrom and nothing shall be construed to render them members in any such business ventures.

6.05 Liability to Company and Investor Member and Indemnification of Investor Member and Company.

6.05(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, the Managing Member and the Administrative Member shall not be liable, responsible or accountable in damages or otherwise to the Investor Member or to the Company for any acts performed in good faith and within the scope of authority of the Managing Member or the Administrative Member, as applicable, pursuant to this Agreement, unless otherwise provided in this Agreement; provided, however, that the Managing Member and the Administrative Member shall be liable for (i) violations of laws, and for acts and/or omissions to the extent attributable to such Member’s fraud, willful misconduct or gross negligence (ii) any breach of fiduciary duty, (iii) breach of such Member’s representations, warranties, covenants, or obligations under this Agreement, and/or (iv) other matters that the Uniform Act provides are not able to be waived.

6.05(b) The Managing Member and the Administrative Member shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless the Members and the Company (and the Company shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless the Members) from and against any loss, liability, damage, cost or expense (including reasonable attorney’s fees) to the extent that (i) such Member’s acts and/or omissions constituted a violation of law, fraud, willful misconduct or gross negligence, (ii) such Member breached its fiduciary duty, (iii) such Member’s acts or omissions resulted in a violation or breach of any obligation under this Agreement; or (iv) such Member breached any of the representations or warranties set forth in Section 6.09 or the covenants set forth in Section 6.10, which breach had an adverse effect on the Company or on any Member.

6.05(d) The indemnification rights contained in this Section 6.05 (i) shall be the joint and several recourse obligations of the Managing Member and the Administrative Member, (ii) shall survive dissolution of the Company and withdrawal, removal, incompetence, bankruptcy or insolvency of a Managing Member or Administrative Member, (iii) shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights, remedies and recourses to which the Investor Member shall be entitled, whether pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement, at law or in equity, and (iv) shall benefit the successors and assigns of the Investor Member.
6.05(e) All rights of the Investor Member to indemnification shall survive the dissolution of the Company, the transfer by such Investor Member of its Interest, and the insolvency, dissolution or bankruptcy of the Investor Member; provided, however, that a claim for indemnification hereunder must be made by or on behalf of the Person seeking such indemnification prior to the time any distribution in liquidation of the Company assets is made pursuant to Sections 1.05 and 4.03.

6.06 Indemnification of Members.

6.06(a) The Company shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless the Administrative Member and the Managing Member from and against any loss, liability, damage, cost or expense (including reasonable attorney’s fees) arising out of or alleged to arise out of any demands, claims, suits, actions or proceedings against the Administrative Member or the Managing Member, in or as a result of or relating to its respective capacity, actions or omissions as Administrative Member or Managing Member of the Company, as applicable, or otherwise concerning the business or affairs of the Company; provided, however, that the acts or omissions of an Administrative Member or Managing Member shall not be indemnified hereunder as provided in the Act and also to the extent that the same resulted from fraud, willful misconduct, a violation of law, a breach of fiduciary duty or a breach of its obligations under this Agreement. The Company shall not pay for any insurance covering liability of the Administrative Member or the Managing Member for actions or omissions for which indemnification is not permitted hereunder.

6.06(c) The indemnification rights contained in this Section 6.06 shall be cumulative of, and in addition to, any and all rights, remedies and recourses to which the Administrative Member or the Managing Member (in its capacity as administrative member or managing member, as applicable) shall be entitled, whether pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement, at law or in equity.

6.09 Representations and Warranties. The Managing Member and the Administrative Member each hereby represents and warrants (and covenants, as applicable), as to itself, to the Investor Member and to the Company that the following are true and accurate as of the date hereof (or, as applicable, as of the date(s) on which the representations are restated as being true and accurate as required in Sections 3.03 or 9.02):

The execution and delivery by such Member of this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly authorized by all necessary corporate or other action, and the consummation of any such transactions contemplated hereby with or on behalf of the Company does not constitute a breach or violation of, or a default under, the statutes, regulations, bylaws or other governing instruments of such Member or any agreement by which it or any of its property is bound, nor a violation of any law, administrative regulation or court decree, any of which would have a material adverse effect on the Company.

The Accountants have prepared the certification with respect to satisfaction of the 10% test set forth in the preceding sentence and have provided said certification to the Investor Member. The Accountants will provide the utility certification that is required to be delivered with the 10% test to the Investor Member for its review and comment at least 10 calendar days before such certification is required to be provided to the Agency. The utility certification must be provided to the Agency by December 15, 2016. The Administrative Member shall, within 10 days of its receipt, provide to the Investor Member a copy of (i) the Carryover Allocation Agreement, the Extended Use Agreement and any Forms 8609 issued to the Company and (ii) any temporary or permanent certificates or permits of occupancy. 6.10(a) The Administrative Member shall cause the completion of the construction of the Apartment Complex substantially in accordance with the Plans approved by the Lender and the Investor Member and all requirements necessary to obtain the required certificates of occupancy for dwelling units, or cause the same to be completed, in a good and workmanlike manner, free and clear of all mechanics', materialmen's or similar Liens, and shall equip the Apartment Complex or cause the same to be equipped with all necessary and appropriate fixtures, equipment and articles of personal property, including

The Members shall determine such deficiency as soon after Construction Completion as reasonably possible. Notwithstanding the prior sentence, if the Administrative Member becomes obligated to make such a Capital Contribution, the Administrative Member first shall be entitled to use any due and currently payable (but unfunded) equity proceeds that were originally anticipated in the Budget to exclusively provide for the payment of the Developer Fee to pay such deficiency (which shall result in a like amount of payment deferral with respect to the Developer Fee) and second, shall be entitled to reimbursement for any such Capital Contribution made by the Administrative Member hereunder of up to (i) $650,000 from the proceeds of the 95% Construction Completion Installment, and (ii) $651,638 from the proceeds of the Final Installment otherwise intended to pay Developer Fee, if and when due and payable pursuant to this Agreement (which shall also result in a like amount of payment deferral with respect to the Developer Fee). The reimbursements referred to in the prior sentence shall be subject to the conditions precedent that the Investor Member shall have received evidence satisfactory to it that (i) the resulting increase in the Developer Loan will not jeopardize the Company’s ability to have a “reasonable expectation of payment” during the Compliance Period of that portion of the Developer Fee necessary for the Company to have sufficient eligible basis to allocate the Projected Aggregate Credit Amount to the Investor Member, (ii) the Administrative Member has made any payment to achieve any loan reduction necessary for Permanent Loan Conversion, (iii) the Operating Reserve shall have been fully funded, and (iv) all Adjuster Distributions due to the Investor Member have been made, and such sums are not otherwise necessary to pay Costs of Improvements. If Construction Completion occurs without full utilization of the then available debt and equity proceeds (the parties hereto agree that such debt and equity proceeds shall be used to finance the construction of the Apartment Complex before any use of Net Operating Income for such purpose), any construction cost savings in the amount of such differential (or, if less, the amount of the budgeted construction contingency) shall be applied to the reduction of the outstanding balances of the First Mortgage Loan to the extent required by the lender of the First Mortgage Loan, or held in reserve and used, with the Consent of all Lenders and the Investor Member, for Apartment Complex amenities or other depreciable costs, provided, however, if the Eligible Basis of the Apartment Complex equals an amount sufficient to generate the amount of Credits specified in Section 6.09(g), any construction cost savings may be used to pay the Developer Fee. Remaining proceeds made available because of construction cost savings may be used to pay down the principal balance of the First Mortgage Loan to the extent permitted by the lender of the First Mortgage Loan without penalty, or shall be deposited into the Replacement Reserve.

Prior to the date required by the First Mortgage Loan, the Company shall satisfy on a timely basis all conditions and requirements for Permanent Loan Conversion. The Administrative Member shall contribute to the Company such funds as are necessary to fully repay the Construction Loan, re-size the First Mortgage Loan if the amount of the First Mortgage Loan is not determined until Permanent Loan Conversion, and achieve Permanent Loan Conversion. In addition, at no time after the Ninety Five Percent Construction Completion Installment shall the outstanding balance of the Construction Loan exceed $3,500,000.

6.10(b) The Apartment Complex will be developed and operated in a manner that satisfies and shall continue to satisfy all requirements and restrictions, including tenant income and rent restrictions, (i) applicable to projects generating Credits, (ii) imposed by any Project Document, and (iii) necessary to comply with, or generate the benefits, amenities and services described in, the Company’s tax credit application. The Administrative Member shall cause the Apartment Complex to be placed in service within the meaning of the Code on or before December 31, 2017. All requirements shall be met which are necessary to obtain or achieve (i) compliance with the 40-60 “set-aside test” as defined in Section 42(g)(1)(B) of the Code, the “rent restriction” test as defined in Section 42(g)(2) of the Code, special set aside requirements pertaining to handicapped, impaired, homeless and other special tenants, if any, and any other requirements necessary for the Apartment Complex to initially qualify, and to continue to qualify, for Credits as to 83 residential rental units, (such requirement shall not include any manager units and shall be met from and after the end of the first year of the Credit Period) and (ii) issuance of all necessary certificates of occupancy, including all governmental approvals required to permit occupancy of all of the apartment units in the Apartment Complex. The Company shall execute and record an Extended Use Agreement that is binding on all successors of the Company and otherwise qualifies as a valid “extended low-income housing commitment” under Code Section 42(h)(6), and shall maintain the Extended Use Agreement in full force and effect for each year of the Compliance Period. No portion of the financing or operation of the Apartment Complex will be funded with grants or federal subsidies (as defined in Code Section 42(i)(2)) and the Eligible Basis of the Apartment Complex shall not include any costs financed with the proceeds of a federally funded grant (within the meaning of Code Section 42(d)(5)(A);

6.10(c) While conducting the business of the Company, it shall not act in any manner which it knows or should have known after due inquiry would (i) cause the termination of the Company for federal income tax purposes without the Consent of the Investor Member, (ii) cause the Company to be treated for federal income tax purposes as an association taxable as a corporation, (iii) cause the Company to fail to qualify as a limited liability company under the Uniform Act or (iv) cause a Investor Member to be liable for Company obligations in excess of its unpaid Capital Contributions plus any distributions required to be returned pursuant to the Uniform Act, provided that such Member shall not be in breach of this Section 6.10(c)(iv) if such liability is caused by an action or inaction of any Investor Member. The Company will not (A) own or acquire any asset or property other than the Apartment Complex and incidental personal property necessary for the ownership or operation of the Apartment Complex or (B) engage in any business other than that related to acquiring, owning, constructing and operating the Apartment Complex;

6.10(d) The Administrative Member shall own no other property other than its Interest and shall engage in no business activity other than serving as Administrative Member of the Company. It shall exercise good faith in all activities relating to the conduct of the business of the Company, including the acquisition, operation and maintenance of the Apartment Complex, and shall take no action in its capacity as Administrative Member with respect to the business and property of the Company which is not reasonably related to the achievement of the purpose of the Company;

6.10(e) The Administrative Member is exclusively responsible for negotiating and performing all services incident to (i) the Company’s acquisition of the Land underlying the Apartment Complex, (ii) the arranging of appropriate zoning and equity and permanent financing with respect to the Apartment Complex (including, but not limited to, reviewing the State of Texas’ qualified allocation plan, applying for Credits and obtaining such marketing and feasibility studies and appraisals as it deems reasonably necessary) and (iii) the organization and formation of the Company. In addition, the Administrative Member is responsible for the management and operation of the Company, including the oversight of the leasing and operational stages of the Apartment Complex, and it shall promptly take all action that may be necessary or appropriate for the proper development, maintenance and operation of the Apartment Complex in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement and the Project Documents. In this regard, among other things, it shall have the obligations to keep the Apartment Complex in good working order and condition, reasonable wear and tear excepted, to not commit waste with respect to the Apartment Complex and to promptly repair or replace any damage to the Apartment Complex;

6.10(f) Such Member covenants that it shall cause the Company to depreciate all of its applicable property under the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System (MACRS) set forth in Code Section 168 and that no election will be made under Code Section 168(g)(7) to use the Alternative Depreciation System (ADS) without the Consent of the Investor Member. In addition, no lease of any portion of the Apartment Complex will be entered into if such lease would cause any portion of the Apartment Complex to be treated as tax-exempt use property under the Code;

6.10(g) The Apartment Complex and all of (i) the fixtures, maintenance supplies, tools, equipment and the like now and to be owned by the Company or to be appurtenant to, or to be used in the operation of, the Apartment Complex, as well as (ii) the rents, revenues and profits earned from the operation of the Apartment Complex, will be free and clear of all security interests and encumbrances except for the Mortgages and any additional security agreements (including financing statements) executed in connection with the Mortgage Loans;
6.10(h) The Company will make on a timely basis all tax return and other filings necessary to qualify for the Credits. In addition, it will execute on behalf of the Company all documents necessary to elect, pursuant to Sections 732, 734, 743 and 754 of the Code, to adjust the basis of the Company’s property upon the request of the Investor Member. Additionally, Investor Member may compel the Company to make an election to defer commencement of the Credit Period to 2018 pursuant to Code Section 42(f)(1) in order to avoid the application of Code Section 42(f)(3). In connection with its preparation of all tax returns and forms (including initial Forms 8609 for each Building) from the date hereof, the Company shall receive (and provide to the Investor Member) (i) from the Accountants, the Cost Certification, in form and substance acceptable to the Investor Member, to be used by the Company in applying to Agency for the issuance of (A) a carryover allocation of Credit, including satisfaction of the “10% cost incurrence” requirement of Code Section 42(h)(1)(E) and (B) Form 8609 with respect to each Building and (ii) from the Accountants, a written agreed-upon procedure report addressing, based upon a review of the applicable tenant certifications and documents with respect to all units performed by such entity, the Qualified Basis (as such term is defined in Section 42(c)(1) of the Code) of each Building. The Administrative Member covenants that it will provide or cause to be provided to such entity (with a contemporaneous copy to the Investor Member) all information requested by such entity to determine the Qualified Basis of each Building, including, but not limited to, a copy of all tenant files, leases, certifications and income verification documentation. The Administrative Member shall provide the initial Forms 8609 to the Investor Member at least 14 calendar days (but in all events within 10 days of receipt thereof by the Administrative Member) prior to the date such Forms are required to be filed with the Service and the Consent of the Investor Member shall be received before any election is made to defer commencement of the Credit Period pursuant to Code Section 42(f)(1).

6.10(i) The Administrative Member will hire the Accountants and provide them with such information in its possession and sign such documents as are necessary for the Company to make timely, accurate and complete submissions of federal and state income tax returns (and in all events such returns shall be filed with respect to the year of the Investor Member’s admission to the Company and each year thereafter). The parties hereto covenant and agree that the Accountants identified in Section 2.01 shall be the accountants for the Company for the purposes of preparing such returns, the audit of the Company and the matters set forth in Section 6.10(h) from the date hereof and through at least the first three tax years commencing with the year in which the first Building in the Apartment Complex is placed in service by the Company or, if later, the first year of the Credit Period. Thereafter, the Administrative Member may change Accountants with the Consent of the Investor Member. The Administrative Member and the Company hereby agree, authorize and direct the Accountants to contemporaneously provide to the Investor Member copies of all tax returns, audits and any other information described in this Article 6 or Section 12.06 that the Accountants deliver to the Administrative Member or to the Company. The Administrative Member agrees and acknowledges that all Company Tax Returns shall be provided to the Investor Member for its review and approval at least ten (10) Business Days prior to the date such tax returns are required to be filed (and the approval of the Investor Member to such returns shall be deemed received if no objection is received by the Administrative Member prior to the due date for filing; provided, however, approval of tax returns by the Investor Member shall not be treated or construed as a waiver of any of its rights or remedies under any provisions of this Agreement);

6.10(j) It will take all actions necessary to comply with the Project Documents and keep them in full force and effect and it will not intentionally take any action or intentionally fail to take an action which would result in (a) acceleration of payments owed under any Company loan or (b) an uncured default under any Project Document. The Administrative Member shall provide to the Investor Member fully executed copies of all construction and permanent loan documents (including, without limitation, the applicable construction or permanent loan note, loan agreement, mortgage, deed of trust and all other security agreements, assignments, financing statements, guarantees, agreements, certificates and instruments executed in connection with such loan) within 30 days of the applicable loan closing;

6.10(k) The Administrative Member shall furnish to the Investor Member within five Business Days of receipt thereof, a copy of any notice of default or other material notice under the Mortgage or any of the Project Documents (including any loan commitment) given to the Company or to the Administrative Member by the Lender. It shall also furnish to the Investor Member within five Business Days of execution a copy of all amendments or changes to the articles, bylaws, certificate, partnership agreement, operating agreement or other organizational documents of the Managing Member, the Administrative Member, the Company or any Guarantor (without implying the consent of Investor Member to any such amendment or change to any such organizational document). In addition, it shall promptly respond to any reasonable requests or inquiries made in writing by the Investor Member regarding matters affecting the Apartment Complex or the Company;

6.10(l) The Administrative Member will use all reasonable efforts to cause the Apartment Complex to be: (i) developed in compliance with all applicable laws including, without limitation, laws pertaining to (A) wetlands and (B) endangered, threatened, or rare species; and (ii) kept in compliance with all applicable zoning regulations, ordinances, and subdivision laws, rules, and regulations;

6.10(m) The Administrative Member shall use all reasonable efforts to maintain the Apartment Complex and the Land so that there is no discharge, release, spillage, uncontrolled loss or seepage of any oil, petroleum or chemical liquids or solids, liquid or gaseous products or any hazardous wastes or hazardous substances (as such terms are used in the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act of 1980) which causes a genuine risk to the health or safety of the residents or employees of the Apartment Complex. The Administrative Member shall also use all reasonable efforts to maintain the Apartment Complex and the land upon which it is located so as not to violate the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, Toxic Substance Control Act, Safe Drinking Water Control Act, Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, Occupational Safety and Health Act and other federal, state and local laws governing hazardous substances. In the event that the Investor Member becomes personally liable for Company violations with respect to the Apartment Complex under any federal, state or local hazardous substance law, the Administrative Member shall indemnify and hold harmless the Investor Member (except to the extent attributable to direct actions of the Investor Member) for any and all costs, expenses (including reasonable attorneys’ fees), damages, or liabilities to the extent that the Investor Member is required personally to discharge such costs, expenses, damages, or liabilities in whole or in part from any source other than Company resources. The foregoing indemnification (i) shall be a recourse obligation of the Administrative Member, (ii) shall survive the dissolution of the Company with respect to violations which occurred prior to the death, retirement, incompetency, insolvency, bankruptcy, or withdrawal of the Administrative Member against whom the indemnification provided in this paragraph is sought to be enforced, (iii) shall continue to benefit the Investor Member subsequent to its transfer of its Interest, and (iv) shall benefit the Investor Member’s successors and assigns. In addition, the Administrative Member shall provide the Investor Member with prompt written notice (i) upon any Administrative Member or Affiliate thereof obtaining knowledge of any potential or known release, or threat of release, of any hazardous material at or from the Apartment Complex or any other property owned, occupied or operated by any Administrative Member, any Affiliate of a Managing Member or any Person for whose conduct any Administrative Member or Affiliate of a Administrative Member is or was responsible and whose liability may result in a Lien on the Apartment Complex, (ii) upon any Administrative Member or Affiliate thereof receiving any notice to such effect from any federal, state, or other governmental authority, or (iii) upon any Administrative Member or Affiliate thereof obtaining knowledge of any incurrence of any expense or loss by any such governmental authority in connection with the assessment, containment, or removal of any hazardous material for which expense or loss a Lien may be imposed on the Apartment Complex;

6.10(n) The Administrative Member shall provide the Investor Member with prompt written notice (and with copies of appropriate correspondence) within five calendar days in the event that the Company receives any writing from the Service or the Agency that the Apartment Complex or any portion thereof is not in compliance with the requirements of Section 42 or is subject to a Credit recapture event or any other event that could result in an adjustment to the Credits or losses allocable to the Investor Member. In addition, it shall promptly provide to the Investor Member a copy of the annual certification required to be submitted by the Company to the Agency pursuant to Treas. Reg. § 1.42-5, including a copy of all required reports with respect to building code violations and the certification with respect to compliance with the Fair Housing Act;

6.10(o) If any of the low-income residential rental units in the Apartment Complex fail at any time during the Compliance Period to constitute eligible low-income units or if the Apartment Complex is not in compliance with the requirements contained in Section 42 of the Code, the Administrative Member agrees to notify the Investor Member within five calendar days of its knowledge of such event or occurrence and the Administrative Member shall promptly commence and diligently prosecute to completion all actions reasonably necessary to bring the dwelling units or the Apartment Complex, as the case may be, into compliance with the requirements of Section 42, such that the Apartment Complex will qualify and continue to qualify for Credits during the Compliance Period as projected. In addition, if at any time after attainment of Permanent Loan Conversion, less than 90% of the low-income units in the Apartment Complex are physically occupied by Qualified Tenants who are current in the payment of rent under their leases, then the Administrative Member shall within 5 calendar days of such event provide written notification of same to the Investor Member;

6.10(p) The Administrative Member shall establish and maintain reasonable reserves to provide for working capital needs, improvements, replacements and any other contingencies of the Company;

6.10(p)(i) At a minimum, the Administrative Member shall cause the Company to establish and maintain a Replacement Reserve with Wells Fargo Bank, National Association (or with the First Mortgage Lender if required under its loan documents), to be funded monthly throughout the term of this Agreement, commencing the earlier of (A) 30 months after the Closing Date; or (B) Permanent Loan Conversion at an annualized rate of $300 per dwelling unit per year (such amounts to be increased three percent (3%) each twelve month period), or such higher amount as is required by any Lender. Funds in the Replacement Reserve shall not be used for any purpose other than capital improvements. All amounts remaining in the Replacement Reserve at the end of the last expiring Compliance Period with respect to any Building shall either be used for Company expenses or capital expenditures or distributed in accordance with Section 4.02(a).

6.10(p)(ii) In addition, the Administrative Member shall cause the Company to establish, from a portion of the proceeds of the Final Installment, and thereafter maintain, a segregated operating reserve account with Wells Fargo Bank, National Association (or with the First Mortgage Lender if required under its loan documents), in an amount not less than $257,910 (the "Operating Reserve"). The Operating Reserve shall require the signatures of both the Administrative Member and the Investor Member before withdrawals therefrom can be made. The Operating Reserve may only be used to pay any operating expenses, debt service obligations or other expenses of the Company approved by the Members and accrued or paid subsequent to the expiration of Period 1 (as such term is defined in Section 6.12). The treatment and disbursement of sums remaining in the Operating Reserve upon the expiration of the last Compliance Period will be governed by the terms of the First Mortgage Loan documents; provided, however, that at such time as the First Mortgage Loan documents do not restrict the use of the funds in the Operating Reserve after the expiration of the last Compliance Period with respect to any Building, then such funds shall be distributed to the Members in accordance with Section 4.02(a).

6.10(q) The Administrative Member shall cause the Company to maintain in full force and effect with reputable licensed insurers (each insurer must have rating from A. M. Best Co. of A-VI or better), such insurance policies, including fire and extended coverage insurance, as may be required by any Lender; provided that in all events, the Company shall obtain and maintain in favor of the Company, the Investor Member (as a "Loss Payee" with respect to items (i) and (iii) below and as an "Additional Insured" with respect to item (ii) below) and the Lender as named insureds as their interests appear: (i) fire and extended coverage insurance in an amount equal to at least the full replacement cost of the Apartment Complex, and with not more than $25,000 deductible from the loss payable for any casualty, (except that the deductible for wind damage shall not be more than 5% of the full replacement cost of the Apartment Complex); (ii) single limit comprehensive general liability insurance (including coverage for elevators, if any, in the Apartment Complex) on an "occurrence basis" against claims for personal injury in an amount of at least $1,000,000 coverage for any single occurrence and $2,000,000 aggregate coverage for any single year (inclusive of umbrella policies); (iii) business interruption insurance and/or rental loss insurance commencing on or before the date of Construction Completion and adjusted annually thereafter in an amount equal to the greater of (a) the maximum amount of rental income that could be generated over 12 months assuming each unit in the Apartment Complex was rented at the then maximum permitted rent under Code Section 42 or (b) rental income for the prior 12 months or (c) the amount of such insurance required by a Lender; and (iv) workers’ compensation insurance in an amount not less than the statutory minimum. Flood insurance will also be required if the Apartment Complex is located in a Special Flood Hazard Area (Zones A or V) as designated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency ("FEMA") in an amount equal to the lesser of: (a) the minimum amount required under the terms of coverage to compensate for any damage or loss on a replacement basis (or the unpaid balance of the Company’s outstanding mortgage indebtedness plus the total amount of the Investor Member’s Capital Contribution obligation if replacement cost coverage is not available for the type of building insured); or (b) the maximum insurance available under the appropriate National Flood Insurance Administration program. Unless a higher minimum amount is required by FEMA or other law, the maximum deductible clause for such flood insurance should be no more than $3,000 per Building. Title to the Apartment Complex shall be insured at all times by a reputable title insurance company in an amount equal to at least the sum of the then outstanding debt secured by the Apartment Complex plus the amount of the Investor Members’ Capital Contribution commitment reflected on Exhibit H hereto. All required insurance will be and shall be in effect and will be kept in full force and effect during the Company’s ownership of the Apartment Complex and each policy will include a provision requiring the insurance company to notify the Investor Member in writing 30 days (10 days for cancellation due to nonpayment of premium) prior to the cancellation of any such policy. The Administrative Member shall deliver to the Investor Member copies of the policies for all insurance required to be maintained hereunder and/or under the Mortgage Loan documents. The Administrative Member shall deliver to the Investor Member evidence that all insurance required hereunder has been obtained, continued or replaced with a policy meeting the conditions of this Agreement on or before 15 calendar days prior to any expiration or cancellation of a policy. The Administrative Member shall cause the Company to comply with the insurance provisions of all Project Documents. Subject to the rights of Lenders of Mortgage Loans, the proceeds of property insurance required by this Agreement shall be used to restore or rebuild the Apartment Complex, unless the Members mutually agree otherwise;

6.10(r) The Investor Member may, at its sole option and sole cost, require that the Company obtain types and amounts of insurance in addition to those described in Section 6.10(q). In such event, the Administrative Member shall cooperate with the Investor Member in coordinating the various policies such that each insurer is aware of the other policies and shall ensure that the Company’s policies obtained pursuant to Section 6.10(q) (i) constitute primary coverage, and (ii) do not contain provisions that reduce the obligations under such policies due to the existence of the additional policies required by the Investor Member under this Section 6.10(r):

6.10(s) The Administrative Member shall cause the Company to display such financing signs at the Apartment Complex as reasonably requested by the Investor Member;

6.10(t) Except as otherwise required by applicable governmental agencies or regulations, neither the Administrative Member nor the Managing Member shall discuss or otherwise disclose any of the terms or conditions of the Investor Member’s investment in the Company without the Consent of the Investor Member; provided, however, any of the Members (and each employee, representative, or other agent of any of the Members) may, without limitation of any kind, disclose to any and all Persons the tax treatment and tax structure of the Investor Member’s investment in the Company and all materials of any kind (including, opinions or other tax analyses) that are provided to any of the Members relating to such tax treatment and tax structure. The Administrative Member and/or the Managing Member will notify the Investor Member of any “reportable transaction” under Treasury Regulation Section 1.6011–4 in which the Company or Administrative Member and/or the Managing Member shall engage.

6.10(u) The Administrative Member shall provide to the Investor Member at least thirty (30) days’ advance written notice of any ribbon cutting, groundbreaking, project opening or similar ceremony relating to the Apartment Complex and the Investor Member shall be entitled to attend any such ceremony and be publicly recognized;

6.10(v) The Managing Member and the Administrative Member acknowledge that the Investor Member is required, pursuant to Federal law and the applicable sections of the “Patriot Act,” to obtain, verify, and record certain financial and personal information in the fight to stop the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities in the United States. With respect to the Investor Member’s compliance with such laws, the Managing Member and the Administrative Member agree to assist, cooperate and, to the extent reasonably requested to do so, supply such information to the Investor Member;

6.10(w) The Administrative Member shall cause itself, the Managing Member and the Company to remain in good standing in accordance with the requirements of the State and the State of Texas, to the extent required under applicable laws of the State and the State of Texas, and shall annually provide to the Investor Member a current certificate of good standing for each entity at the same time it submits the Company Tax Returns pursuant to Section 6.10(i).

6.10(x) The Administrative Member shall provide Tenant Services to tenants of the Apartment Complex of the type, number and duration necessary for compliance with the requirements of the application for Credits provided to the Agency.
6.10(y) The Administrative Member shall cause the Company to make the election pursuant to Section 42(f)(1)(B) of the Code prior to the end of the first year of the Credit Period with respect to a Building unless the Administrative Member provides satisfactory evidence to the Investor Member that 100% of the low-income set-aside units in such Building were leased and occupied by Qualified Tenants prior to the end of the first year of the Credit Period.

6.10(z) The Administrative Member represents, warrants and covenants that the Apartment Complex will at all times have the right of direct pedestrian and vehicular ingress to and egress from the Apartment Complex to an open and publicly-dedicated street.

6.10(aa) No portion of the cost of the acquisition, construction or operation of the Apartment Complex has been (or will be) funded with (i) any loan funded in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, with proceeds of obligations the interest on which is exempt from federal income tax under Code Section 103 or (ii) federal grants within the meaning of Code Section 42(d)(5)(A) and not described in Code Section 42(i)(9).

6.10(bb) It is reasonable to expect that the fair market value of the Apartment Complex upon Construction Completion and, throughout the terms of the Mortgage Loans, will exceed, the aggregate principal amounts of, and all outstanding accrued but unpaid interest on, the Mortgage Loans. Each Mortgage Loan has a fixed maturity date which is prior to the anticipated economic life of the Apartment Complex and the Company will be able to repay the Mortgage Loans as they mature.

6.10(cc) Throughout the term of the Section 811 Agreement, the Administrative Member shall: (a) comply with, and shall cause the Company and the Management Agent to comply with, all provisions of the Section 811 Agreement and the applicable statutes, HUD regulations, HUD handbooks, HUD notices and other HUD policy directives (collectively, the "HUD Requirements"); (b) timely submit and update and/or cause the Management Agent to timely submit and update all filings, certifications, financial information, disclosures and other instruments and documentation as required pursuant to the HUD Requirements (and in the form and manner specified in the HUD Requirements) including, without limitation: (i) if required, all previous participation clearance filings (2530) pertaining to the Administrative Member and/or the Management Agent (ii) all audited financial statements pertaining to the Company, (iii) all owner/management certifications and other HUD-required certifications of the Company, the Administrative Member and/or the Management Agent; and (iv) all disclosures of identity-of-interest relationships pertaining to the Company, the Administrative Member and/or the Management Agent; (c) if required, shall not permit any distribution of “surplus cash” (as defined pursuant to the HUD Requirements), except as otherwise expressly permitted pursuant to the HUD Requirements; and (d) comply with, and cause the Management Agent to comply with, all HUD Requirements relating to the maintenance of records relating to the Apartment Complex, the payment and reasonableness of fees and expenses incurred by the Apartment Complex, and the maintenance of accounts relating to the Apartment Complex.
6.10(dd) If HUD-2530's are required or will be required with respect to any current or future financing, from and after the date that HUD issues a public notice requiring electronic submission of such filings, the Administrative Member shall cause the Company and each of its principals and/or Affiliates, (A) to promptly complete their respective registrations and baseline submissions and (B) to submit any future HUD-2530 to HUD. As of the date of this Agreement, the Administrative Member and all other principals (as defined in the HUD-2530 regulations) that are required to obtain HUD-2530 clearance for participation in owning, developing, operating and managing the Apartment Complex have received such clearance from HUD.

6.11 Construction of the Apartment Complex. Prior to Construction Completion, the Administrative Member shall have the following duties and obligations with respect to the Apartment Complex:

6.11(a) The Administrative Member shall provide, at the Company’s expense, all manner of materials, labor, implements and cartage of every description for the proper and complete construction of the Apartment Complex in accordance with the Plans. In addition, the Company shall take all necessary steps to assure that construction and installation of the Apartment Complex improvements shall begin within 30 days following the date of receipt of a notice to proceed, and, in any event, not later than 30 days following the date of this Agreement, shall proceed continuously and diligently, and shall be completed in a timely manner in accordance with the Plans and the applicable construction documents. In addition, the Administrative Member shall provide the Investor Member with the construction development schedule for the Apartment Complex, and any amendments thereto, prior to the commencement of construction of the Apartment Complex.

6.11(b) The Administrative Member agrees that it will correct any work performed and replace any materials that do not comply with the Plans, and correct any latent defects, regardless of when discovered. In the event of any dispute between the Company and Lender or Investor Member with respect to the interpretation and meaning of the Plans, the same shall be determined by an independent architect selected by Lender and Investor Member.

6.11(c) All labor and materials contracted for and in connection with construction of the Apartment Complex shall be used and employed solely on the Apartment Complex and in said construction, and only in accordance with the Plans. The moneys disbursed to or for the account of the Company under this Agreement shall constitute a trust fund in the hands of the Company or other payee and shall be used solely by such payee for the payment of the Cost of Improvements and for no other purpose unless another use is specifically provided for in this Agreement or Consented to by Investor Member and Lender.

6.11(d) The Administrative Member shall on behalf of the Company promptly pay and discharge or cause to be paid and discharged, as and when due, any and all income taxes (federal or otherwise) lawfully assessed and imposed upon the Company, and any and all lawful taxes, rates, levies and assessments whatsoever upon the Company's properties and every part thereof, or upon the income or profits therefrom and all claims for labor, materials or supplies which, if unpaid, might be or become a Lien or charge upon any of the Company's property; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as prohibiting the Company from diligently contesting in good faith by appropriate proceedings the validity of any such taxes, rates, levies or assessments, provided the Company has established adequate reserves therefor in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles consistently applied on the books of the Company.

6.11(e) The Administrative Member shall cause the construction and equipping of the Apartment Complex (including, without limitation, all tenant improvement work) to be performed in a timely and good and workmanlike manner in accordance with the construction schedule approved by Investor Member prior to the Admission Date (the "Construction Schedule"), and to be prosecuted with diligence and continuity and, in all respects, in accordance with the approved Plans and otherwise in accordance with this Agreement, the Project Documents (as applicable) and in compliance with all Laws.

6.11(f) Subject to the requirements of any Mortgage Loan, the Administrative Member agrees to use all commercially reasonable means to cause Lender to apply all insurance proceeds resulting from casualty or damage of the Apartment Complex and all payments or awards resulting from a taking, for any public or quasi-public purpose, by any lawful power or authority by exercise of the power of condemnation or eminent domain, promptly toward the restoration, replacement or rebuilding of the Apartment Complex, or any part thereof, as nearly as possible to its value, condition and operational character immediately prior to any such damage, destruction or taking, free and clear from any and all Liens and claims other than Permitted Liens.

6.11(g) The Administrative Member shall not consent to the sale, assignment or transfer of any loan of any Lender, or any portion thereof, without first obtaining the Consent of the Investor Member.

6.11(h) The Administrative Member shall at all times during the construction of the Apartment Complex maintain or cause to be maintained (i) "builder's all-risk" coverage insurance, which, upon Construction Completion, the Company shall convert to "all risk" coverage insurance against loss or damage as may now or hereafter be covered by the standard "all-risk" form of insurance policy, with claims to be settled on a replacement-cost basis. In addition, the Administrative Member shall promptly deliver to the Investor Member original certificates of insurance satisfactory to the Investor Member evidencing such insurance, together with the amount of the annual premium therefor, the name and address of the insurers and the name and telephone number of the individual insurance representative. Any changes in such insurance or insurers must be approved by the Investor Member and evidenced by replacement certificates of insurance satisfactory to the Investor Member. The Administrative Member shall promptly deliver to Investor Member copies of all insurance policies and other insurance information, as required under the Project Documents or as required in this Agreement.

6.11(i) The Company shall not accept or permit materials to be stored on the real property upon which the Apartment Complex is being constructed if such materials are not intended to be used in connection with the Apartment Complex. No Capital Contributions will be made or funds advanced for materials stored at the Apartment Complex unless the Administrative Member furnishes satisfactory evidence, as determined by the Investor Member in its sole discretion, that such materials are properly stored and secured at the Apartment Complex and subject to such terms and conditions as the Investor Member may determine, which may include proof of sufficient insurance against risk of loss for full replacement cost with a standard loss payee endorsement. The Investor Member may impose limitations on the aggregate cost of materials stored at the Apartment Complex. All stored materials must be incorporated into the Apartment Complex within thirty (30) days of the request for funding regarding such materials, and the Investor Member may impose such additional conditions and requirements as it deems appropriate in its sole discretion. In the event any materials stored at the Apartment Complex are stolen, lost or in any other manner misplaced, destroyed or rendered unusable prior to the making of a Capital Contribution with respect thereto, the Investor Member shall not be obligated to make any Capital Contribution with respect thereto or on account of the cost of replacement thereof. Capital Contributions may be made for deposits placed with suppliers or for materials in fabrication or for costs incurred by the Company with respect to materials stored offsite of the Apartment Complex in the sole discretion of the Investor Member, and if such Capital Contributions are so permitted by the Investor Member, they shall be made subject to such terms and conditions as the Investor Member may require.

6.11(j) The Administrative Member shall disclose to the Investor Member any event that would prevent payment or reduce the amount of the Capital Contribution to be paid when due under this Agreement and, as a condition to the payment of each Installment, the Administrative Member shall furnish evidence satisfactory to Investor Member that the undisbursed proceeds of the Capital Contribution, plus the amount of the Construction Loan and any additional sums deposited by Administrative Member, less any deferred fees due Administrative Member (or its Affiliate) or Contractor, will be sufficient to pay the Costs of Improvements of the Apartment Complex.

6.11(k) The Administrative Member shall furnish to the Investor Member such other approvals, opinions, certificates, documents or agreements as Investor Member may reasonably request, in form and substance reasonably acceptable to Investor Member.

6.11(l) The Administrative Member agrees to provide notice to the Investor Member of any change in the financial condition of the Administrative Member or Guarantor which could have a material adverse effect on the ability of the Administrative Member or Guarantor to satisfy their respective obligations under the Project Documents or this Agreement.

6.11(m) The Administrative Member agrees to provide the Investor Member with copies of all monthly construction draw requests submitted to any Lender along with copies of any exhibits thereto and supporting documentation therefor, including without limitation, any Inspector's reports and AIA forms.

6.11(n) The Administrative Member agrees that all change orders of a material amount that effect a change in the Plans or Budget must be approved in writing by Lenders (as required under their respective loan documents) and Investor Member before the Company becomes committed to the same, provided that no change order shall increase the total Costs of Improvements unless the Company or the Administrative Member contributes sufficient additional equity to cover such increase in the total Costs of Improvements as determined by Investor Member in its sole and absolute discretion (provided, such additional equity shall not be required if funds are otherwise available as described in Section 6.10(a), and provided further, such funding may be subject to the reimbursement provisions set forth in Section 6.10(a)). In addition, any proposed material increase in the Budget, or any material changes in the various categories thereof shall be submitted to and approved by Lenders and Investor Member prior to the time that Company shall become committed to making any such increases or changes. For purposes of this paragraph, a change in the Budget or a change order shall be deemed to be a material amount if the same in any single instance equals or exceeds $50,000, or if the change, together with all prior changes, aggregates a sum exceeding $100,000.

6.11(o) The Administrative Member shall provide to the Investor Member executed copies of all Major Subcontracts within ten (10) days of the execution thereof.

6.11(p) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein or in any Project Document, the Administrative Member shall provide to the Investor Member for its approval, copies of all “construction draws” for Construction Loan proceeds (and all Capital Contribution Installment proceeds (other than the Final Installment) as described herein) with back-up supporting documentation at least five (5) Business Days prior to submission of such draw to the Construction Lender. The Investor Member agrees to use commercially reasonable efforts to review each such draw within three (3) Business Days after receipt of such draw. To the extent any such draw is not approved by the Investor Member, the Administrative Member shall not submit such draw for payment to any Lender.

6.11(q) The Administrative Member shall obtain a foundation survey of the Apartment Complex within thirty (30) days following the completion of the foundation for the last Building in the Apartment Complex to have its foundation completed.

6.12 Operating Deficit Loans. If, at any time prior to the satisfaction of all conditions precedent to the making of the Final Installment (“Period 1”), an Operating Deficit exists, the Administrative Member shall fund the Operating Deficit without limitation as to amount by making Operating Deficit Loans. For a minimum of 36 months following Period 1, the Administrative Member’s obligation to fund Operating Deficits through Operating Deficit Loans shall continue in an additional amount (i.e., not reduced by any Operating Deficit Loans made in Period 1) not to exceed $390,000 in the aggregate. Commencing with the 37th month following Period 1, if the Operating Reserve is fully funded to the amount of $257,910, the Administrative Member shall have no further obligation to fund Operating Deficits through Operating Deficit Loans. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth in this Agreement, after Period 1, funds in the Operating Reserve may be used to pay Operating Deficits before the Administrative Member is required to make Operating Deficit Loans; provided, however, that any release of funds from such reserves is subject to the Investor Member’s approval under Section 6.10(p)(ii) hereof, and further provided that funds in the Operating Reserve used to pay Operating Deficits shall not be credited against Administrative Member’s obligation to fund Operating Deficits.
An Operating Deficit Loan shall not be treated as funded for purposes of determining application of the limits on the Administrative Member’s Operating Deficit Loan obligations set forth in the prior paragraph if and to the extent the principal amount of any Operating Deficit Loan has been repaid to the Administrative Member pursuant to Section 4.02 after Period 1.

All Operating Deficit Loans shall bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum, compounded annually, and shall be repayable from Cash Flow or Net Proceeds as provided in Article 4. No Person who is not a party to this Agreement (including, without limitation, any creditor of the Company) shall be entitled to rely on the Administrative Member’s undertaking to make Operating Deficit Loans as set forth in this Section 6.12.

The parties hereto agree that nothing in this Section 6.12 shall reduce, limit or otherwise affect the obligations of the Administrative Member to make Adjuster Contributions as set forth in Section 3.05 of this Agreement.

The Administrative Member shall have the right, but not the obligation, to make Operating Deficit Loans to cover any Operating Deficit in excess of any limits on the Administrative Member’s Operating Deficit Loan obligations in this Section 6.12. Notwithstanding the prior sentence, the Investor Member shall have grounds to automatically remove the Administrative Member if (i) an Operating Deficit (which is not the subject of a good faith dispute) continues to exist for 60 consecutive days after receipt by the Administrative Member from the Investor Member of written notice of such Operating Deficit (which written notice shall state that failure by the Administrative Member to comply with the requirements of this Section 6.12 shall be grounds for automatic removal and shall request that the Administrative Member provide to the Investor Member a satisfactory work out plan) and the Administrative Member fails to provide in good faith a reasonable work out plan to the Investor Member during such 60 day period; or (ii) the Administrative Member fails to fund an Operating Deficit (which is not the subject of a good faith dispute) within 25 days after its receipt from the Investor Member of written notice that the Investor Member intends to fund such Operating Deficit (which written notice shall state that failure by the Administrative Member to comply with the requirements of this Section 6.12 shall be grounds for automatic removal), the Investor Member then funds such Operating Deficit after the expiration of such 25 day period in an amount greater than $10,000, and the Administrative Member then fails to reimburse the Investor Member in full within 5 days after the Investor Member funds such Operating Deficit. The Members agree that funds in the Operating Reserve shall be used to fund Operating Deficits prior to the application of the prior sentence.

6.13 Obligation to Purchase Interest of Investor Member.

6.13(a) Notwithstanding any other provision contained herein, if (i) building permits have not been obtained and construction of the Apartment Complex has not commenced by November 1, 2016; (ii) each Building is not placed in service on or before December 31, 2017, or, if earlier, the date required by any Lender or governmental agency; (iii) the Company’s basis in the Apartment Complex for federal income tax purposes as finally determined by the Accountants or pursuant to any audit by the Service, as of the date required by the Agency, is less than 10% of the Company’s reasonably expected basis in the Apartment Complex as required by Section 42(h)(1)(E) of the Code or the requirements of the Agency’s allocation of Credits are otherwise not satisfied; (iv) the Company fails to meet the minimum set-aside test, the rent restriction test of Code Section 42(g) within 12 months of the date that the Apartment Complex is placed in service, or any other requirement necessary for the Apartment Complex to qualify for Credits; (v) the Apartment Complex has not achieved occupancy by Qualified Tenants of at least 90% of its low-income set-aside units by October 1, 2019 or the Company fails to qualify for at least 70% of the projected Credits as referenced in Section 6.09(g) in any year after the first year in the Credit Period; provided, however, that if all Credit Adjuster Contributions have been made prior to the expiration of the fifth full tax year of property operations (provided the Investor Member has received final Company Tax Returns for all such years) (the first year in which the Investor Member is allocated Credits in an amount not less than 99.99% of the Credits for which the Company is determined to be eligible based upon the final Cost Certification and Forms 8609 for each building in the Apartment Complex for such year shall constitute the first full year of property operations for purposes hereof), then such event shall not constitute a grounds for repurchase under this Section 6.13(a); (vi) the Company has not achieved Permanent Loan Conversion by September 30, 2019 or, if earlier, the maturity date of the Construction Loan, or if prior thereto a commitment for any Company loan is cancelled, withdrawn or substantially modified without the Consent of the Investor Member; (vii) prior to Construction Completion, any substantial damage to or destruction of the Apartment Complex shall occur and the applicable insurance proceeds shall not be made available by the Lender for the restoration of the Apartment Complex or shall not, in the reasonable opinion of the Investor Member, be sufficient to repair and restore the Apartment Complex in a manner that would qualify for the aggregate projected Credit allocable to the Investor Member or the Apartment Complex is not restored within 24 months following such casualty; (viii) prior to Construction Completion, there shall have occurred an Abandonment; (ix) prior to the making of the Final Installment, a foreclosure action is commenced against the Apartment Complex and not dismissed within 45 days; or (x) the Company fails to receive the approval of the Investor Member’s admission into the Company from any lender or governmental agency (whose approval is required) within 60 days of the Admission Date; then the Administrative Member shall be obligated to repurchase the Interest of the Investor Member (which shall include, for this purpose, the Interest of the Special Member) for an amount specified in Section 6.13(b). For purposes of this Agreement, “Abandonment” means the complete abandonment of the Apartment Complex such that all work by all contractors, subcontractors, materialmen, suppliers and any other tradespersons performing any work and supplying any materials or supplies for the Apartment Complex shall have ceased for at least 45 days.

6.13(b) If the Administrative Member becomes obligated to purchase the Investor Member’s Interest as provided in Section 6.13(a), the Administrative Member shall immediately give written notice to the Investor Member of the occurrence of such event and of the Administrative Member’s obligation to purchase the Investor Member’s Interest. By written notice to the Administrative Member (regardless of receipt of the Administrative Member’s notice), the Investor Member may elect to require the Administrative Member to purchase the Investor Member’s Interest upon the occurrence of an event specified in Section 6.13(a). The amount of the purchase price (the “Buyout Price”) shall equal, as of the actual date of purchase, the sum of (A) the aggregate amount of Capital Contributions and advances made by the Investor Member to the Company plus (B) the legal, accounting and internal costs incurred by the Investor Member in connection with its investment in the Company (subject to an aggregate cap of $80,000 for the various costs included in this clause (B)) plus (C) the amount of any interest, penalties and recapture amounts imposed (or determined by the Accountants to likely be imposed) on the Investor Member as a result of such purchase or its prior claiming of Credits with respect to the Company, plus (D) an amount that, on an After-Tax Basis, equals all transfer taxes or similar assessments incurred by the Investor Member in connection with its investment in the Company or the sale of its Interest pursuant to this Agreement, such amount representing the parties' good faith estimate of damages incurred by the Investor Member, less (E) Credits taken by the Investor Member and not recaptured.

If the Investor Member elects to have its Interest purchased, the Administrative Member shall purchase such Interest for the Buyout Price in cash within 30 days after notice from the Investor Member of its election to have its Interest purchased. Upon receipt of the Buyout Price, the Investor Member shall then transfer (and shall, for no additional consideration, cause the Special Member to transfer) its Company Interest to the Administrative Member or its designee free and clear of any Liens or interests of any third party and shall execute or cause to be executed any documents reasonably required to fully transfer such Company Interest. As of the effective date of such transfer, the Investor Member shall withdraw from the Company and shall have no further interest in or obligation to the Company, and, if required by the Uniform Act, the Administrative Member shall promptly file an amendment to the Certificate in the Filing Office reflecting the withdrawal of the Investor Member (and the Special Member).

The Investor Member may waive in writing its right to require the Administrative Member to purchase its Interest by reason of the application of any of the provisions of Section 6.13(a) at any time. After such waiver the Administrative Member shall have no further obligation to purchase the Interest of the Investor Member by reason of the application of the provision to which such waiver relates.

6.14 Tenant Services. The Administrative Member is obligated to cause the Company to provide Tenant Services for the full Compliance Period of each Building. The Members currently anticipate that a third party social services provider or the Management Agent will provide Tenant Services at no cost to the Company. If, however, the Company must pay for Tenant Services at any time, the Administrative Member shall pay the costs and expenses of providing Tenant Services. Neither the Company nor any other Member shall be obligated to reimburse the Administrative Member for any sums expended by the Administrative Member in paying for Tenant Services.

ARTICLE 7

PAYMENTS TO MEMBERS AND AFFILIATES AND OTHERS

7.01 Property Management Fee. Subject to any restrictions set forth in the Project Documents, the Company shall pay to the Management Agent for its services in managing the Apartment Complex a monthly fee in an amount equal to the greater of (i) 5% of the Effective Gross Income for the preceding month, or (ii) $2,000 per month. In no event shall the property management fee be paid to the Management Agent by the Company prior to the receipt of final approval of the Management Agreement by the Investor Member.

7.02 Developer Fee. For services rendered in connection with the Company’s development and construction of the Apartment Complex, the Company shall pay a Developer
Fee (including overhead) to the Developer in an amount equal to $2,138,345 or such other amount as may be permitted by the Agency. The Developer Fee shall be the sole sum due the Developer for its services under the Development Agreement, and the Developer shall not be reimbursed for internal overhead or internal or third party expenses. If the Developer has expended funds on the Company’s behalf prior to the Closing Date, it may be reimbursed pursuant to the Reimbursement Agreement. The Developer Fee shall be deemed earned in its entirety as of the date of Construction Completion and otherwise in accordance with the terms of the Development Agreement provided, however, that the amount and timing of payments of the Developer Fee shall be governed by this Agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement or in the Development Agreement, the Developer Fee, or any rights thereto, shall not be assigned or transferred to any third party without the Consent of the Investor Member. The Developer shall be paid such portion of its Developer Fee as possible from available debt and equity proceeds of the Company, to the extent such proceeds are not required for other Company purposes (e.g., payment of any Adjuster Distributions required pursuant to Section 3.05 hereunder). The remainder of the Developer Fee shall constitute a loan from the Developer to the Company with interest at the long-term Applicable Federal Rate (the "Developer Loan"), payable to the Developer from Cash Flow and/or Net Proceeds as described in Article 4. In all events, however, a portion of the Developer Loan necessary for the Company to have sufficient eligible basis to allocate the Projected Aggregate Credit Amount to the Investor Member, (as determined by the Accountants and approved by the Investor Member), (the "Required Paydown"), shall be due on the fifteenth (15th) anniversary of Construction Completion. To the extent that Cash Flow and/or Net Proceeds through such date (or, if earlier, the date of liquidation of the Company) are insufficient to repay that portion of the Developer Loan, the Administrative Member shall make a Capital Contribution to the Company in the amount of the Required Paydown and the Company shall pay such amount to the Developer in reduction of the Developer Loan. If an Event of Bankruptcy occurs with respect to the Developer, the Administrative Member or any Guarantor, the Administrative Member shall be required to make a Capital Contribution to the Company in the amount necessary to pay the balance of the Developer Loan, if any. The Company shall use such Capital Contribution to repay the Developer Loan. The Developer shall not be a third party beneficiary of these covenants.

Subject to the provisions of this Agreement and to the extent funds are available as described above, it is anticipated (but not required) that the Developer Fee will be paid as follows: (i) $650,000 upon the Initial Installment (iii) $650,000 upon satisfaction of all conditions of the 95% Construction Completion Installment; (iv) $651,638 upon satisfaction of all conditions of the Final Installment; and (v) the balance from Cash Flow and/or Net Proceeds.

7.03 Incentive Management Fee. In consideration for the efficient management of the Company and the business thereof as described in the Incentive Management Fee Agreement, the Administrative Member and the Managing Member shall be paid a noncumulative Incentive Management Fee from Cash Flow in the priority set forth in Section 4.02(a), in accordance with the Incentive Management Fee Agreement. In no event may the amount of Incentive Management Fee paid in any year exceed the lesser of (i) $40,000 less fees paid to the Management Agent for such year or (ii) a sum equal to 12% of the Company’s Effective Gross Income for such year less fees paid to the Management Agent for such year. The Administrative Member and the Managing Member hereby represent that the Incentive Management Fee payable pursuant to this Section 7.03 constitutes reasonable compensation for its provision of the services described in Section 1 of the Incentive Management Fee Agreement.

7.04 Grant of Security Interest. In order to secure the performance by the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer of their obligations under this Agreement, the Development Agreement and all other agreements or instruments delivered concurrently herewith, the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer hereby assign to the Investor Member, subject only to the security interest of the Construction Lender, all amounts otherwise payable to the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer under this Agreement and the Development Agreement (as fees, distributions or otherwise), which assignment shall be deemed a grant of a security interest. The Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer hereby represent and warrant to the Investor Member that the security interest granted hereunder is and shall remain a security interest in the collateral herein described subject only to the security interest of the Construction Lender. At the request of the Investor Member, the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer shall execute and deliver such documents and take such other actions as may be necessary or appropriate in the discretion of the Investor Member to further evidence and perfect the security interest granted hereby. To the extent permitted by applicable law, the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Developer hereby authorize the Investor Member to file Uniform Commercial Code financing statements in the name of such Persons, as applicable.

Notwithstanding any of the foregoing, unless and until there occurs an event of default of an obligation of the Administrative Member, the Managing Member or the Developer hereunder, which remains uncured after expiration of the applicable cure period, the Investor Member agrees to forebear exercising its right under this Section 7.04 to any Developer Fee payable to Developer or fees or distributions payable to the Managing Member or Administrative Member under this Agreement, and the Developer, the Administrative Member and the Managing Member shall have the right to receive all Developer Fee or fees/distributions payable to them under this Agreement or the Development Agreement.

RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS OF INVESTOR MEMBERS

8.01 Liability of Investor Members. The Investor Member shall be liable only to make Capital Contributions as and when due hereunder. After its Capital Contribution is fully paid, no Investor Member shall be required to make any further Capital Contribution or lend any funds to the Company, and no Investor Member shall be liable for any debts, liabilities, contracts, or obligations of the Company, except as otherwise required by the Uniform Act.

8.02 No Right To Manage, Partition or Dissolve. No Investor Member shall take part in the management, control, conduct or operation of the Company (or the Apartment Complex), or have any right, power or authority to act for or bind the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Administrative Member, the Managing Member and the Company expressly agree that the Investor Member shall have the right, exercisable in its sole discretion, to contact at any time any Lender to ascertain the status of payment and/or performance by the Company under the applicable loan documents and the Accountants with respect to any financial or tax information with respect to the Company. No provision of this Agreement which makes the Consent of the Investor Member a condition for the effectiveness of an action taken by the Administrative Member or Managing Member is intended, and no such provision shall be construed, to give the Investor Member the right to participate in the control of the Company business. No Investor Member shall have the right to bring an action for partition or dissolution against the Company as long as the Company is operated in accordance with Section 1.04, and the Investor Member hereby waives, to the full extent permitted by law, the right to institute an action for partition or dissolution as long as the Company is operated in accordance with Section 1.04.

8.03 Death or Disability of Investor Member. The Company shall not be dissolved by the death, insanity, adjudication of incompetency, bankruptcy, insolvency or Withdrawal of any Investor Member, by the assignment of the Interest of a Investor Member, or by the admission of a Substituted Investor Member.

8.04 Removal of a Member.

8.04(a) The Investor Member shall have all rights and remedies available at law, in equity, and/or under this Agreement and the other Project Documents including, without limitation, the right to remove a Managing Member or Administrative Member and elect or appoint a new Managing Member or Administrative Member, upon the occurrence of any of the following events (a "Removal Event"):

8.04(a)(i) in the event of (A) fraud or any Felony Conviction of such Member, any partner or member of such Member, any Guarantor, or any Affiliates thereof (collectively, the "Principals"), or (B) any Principal’s other violation of laws that, in the case of this clause (B) only, would or could have a material adverse impact on the Company or the Investor Member;

8.04(a)(ii) in the event that HUD or the Agency requires the removal of the Administrative Member as a requirement of maintaining the Rental Subsidy. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that HUD and the Agency agree in writing to an alternative arrangement (the "811 Alternative") that would allow the Company to proceed without the Rental Subsidy and without the removal of the Administrative Member (provided such 811 Alternative shall not cause, or reasonably be expected to cause, a materially adverse impact on the Company or the Investor Member), then the Investor Member will not exercise its removal rights pursuant to this subsection 8.04(a)(ii), provided that the Investor Member has provided its Consent to such alternative prior to its implementation, which Consent shall not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed;

8.04(a)(iii) such Member’s performance constituting bad faith, willful misconduct, gross negligence or breach of fiduciary duty;

8.04(a)(iv) such Member, or any Affiliate thereof, shall have violated any provisions of any Project Document or any document required in connection with any Mortgage and shall not have cured such violation within applicable grace periods, if any (but in no event more than 10 days after its receipt of written notice of the violation);

8.04(a)(v) such Member shall have violated, and not cured within 10 days after written notice from the Investor Member, any provision of this Agreement, including, but not limited to, any of its representations and covenants in Article 6, any obligation to provide funds under Sections 3.05, 6.10 or 6.12, and such violation causes a material adverse effect on the Company or any of its Members (provided that the parties hereto agree that any uncured violation to provide funds under Section 3.05, 6.10 or 6.12 shall be deemed to have a material adverse effect, as will any violation of Section 10.01; similarly, any violation under Section 12.06 that has not been cured within 60 days of receipt by such Member of written notice of such violation shall be deemed to have a material adverse effect);

8.04(a)(vi) any Mortgage shall have gone into default and not been cured within any applicable cure period provided therein;

8.04(a)(vii) an Event of Bankruptcy shall have occurred with respect to the Managing Member, the Administrative Member, the Company, or any Guarantor (or a Guarantor shall fail to comply with all material terms of the Guaranty) or if any Guarantor that is (i) an Entity shall have dissolved, liquidated or otherwise terminated or (ii) an individual shall have died or become otherwise legally incapacitated;

8.04(a)(viii) without the Consent of the Investor Member, an event of Withdrawal shall have occurred with respect to such Member as a result of one or more sales, transfers or other assignments to other than an Affiliate of a controlling interest in a Member which is a corporation or limited liability company or of a general partner interest in a Member which is a limited partnership;

8.04(a)(ix) any event (other than a Change in Law) that causes the Credits available to the Company in any year after the first year in which the Company claims Credits to be less than 85% of the Projected Annual Credit Amount for such year as referenced in Section 6.09(g);

8.04(a)(x) such Member shall have conducted its own affairs or the affairs of the Company in such a manner as would (x) cause the termination of the Company for federal income tax purpose or (y) cause the Company to be treated for federal income tax purposes as an association taxable as a corporation; or 8.04(a)(xi) such Member’s failure to fund any excess Operating Deficits as described in Section 6.12.

8.04(b) Upon the removal of a Member pursuant to this Section 8.04, without any further action by any Member, the Special Member or its designee shall automatically become a Managing Member or Administrative Member, as applicable, and the Company shall acquire the Interest of the removed Member for an amount equal to the greater of (i) $100 or (ii) the Capital Account balance of the removed Member on the date of removal, less any amounts owed by the Member for Adjuster Contributions, operating deficits, or other obligations under this Agreement which have not been paid. Amounts owed to the removed Member pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be payable by the Company, without interest, upon the earlier of fifteen years from the date of removal or the sale of all or substantially all of the Company’s assets. The economic Interest of the Special Member as the Special Member shall continue unaffected by the new status of the Special Member or its designee as a Managing Member or Administrative Member, and the new Member shall automatically be irrevocably delegated all of the powers and duties of the removed Managing Member or Administrative Member, as applicable, pursuant to this Agreement. Nothing in this Section 8.04(b) shall reduce or otherwise limit the rights, remedies or other actions available to the Investor Member against the removed Member. If a Member withdraws or is removed from the Company for any reason whatsoever, then such Member shall be and shall remain liable for all damages to the Company resulting from such Member’s breach of this Agreement and for all its obligations and liabilities under this Agreement, including, without limitation, all its liabilities and obligations under Article 6 (and including, without limitation, its obligation to make the payments required under Section 7.02 herein), and liabilities and obligations based on facts and circumstances that occur prior to its withdrawal or removal except that (i) the former Member shall not be liable for any liabilities and obligations directly arising from the gross negligence, intentional misconduct or breach of this Agreement by any successor Member, and (ii) the former Member shall not have the obligation to continue to act as a Member of the Company. A Member so removed will not be liable for any obligations of the Company incurred or attributable to events or actions occurring after the effective date of its removal (including, without limitation, any obligation to make payments pursuant to Sections 3.05, 6.05, or 6.10 or loans pursuant to Section 6.12 to the extent attributable to events or actions occurring after the effective date of its removal), but shall continue to be liable for all obligations and liabilities incurred or attributable to events occurring prior to the effective date of its removal no matter when discovered. A Member so removed shall fully indemnify and hold harmless the Special Member (or its designee), as a substitute Member, as well as any other remaining Members, against any and all losses, judgments, liabilities, expenses and amounts paid in settlement of any claims sustained in connection with its capacity as a Member to the extent that any such losses, judgments, liabilities, expenses and settlement payments relate to, arise from, or are attributable to claims, actions, omissions or events arising prior to the date of removal. Each Member hereby grants to the Special Member an irrevocable (to the extent permitted by applicable law) power of attorney coupled with an interest to execute and deliver any and all documents and instruments on behalf of such Member and the Company as the Special Member may deem to be necessary or appropriate in order to effect the provisions of this Section 8.04 and to enable the new Administrative Member to manage the business of the Company. Nothing in this Section 8.04(b) shall limit or reduce the rights of the removed Member or any Affiliate thereof to receive any fees for services previously performed or repayment of Operating Deficit Loans, if any, in accordance with the terms thereof; provided, however, the parties hereto agree that any cash distributions, fees, loans or other payments otherwise distributable or owed to the removed Member or its Affiliates (including, without limitation, the amount of any Developer Loan or Operating Deficit Loan) shall, in the sole and absolute discretion of the substitute Member, be satisfied by applying all or any of such amounts to any unpaid obligation of the removed Member pursuant to this Agreement (including, without limitation, any obligations of the removed Member pursuant to Section 3.05, 6.05, 6.10, 6.12 or 7.02). In addition, notwithstanding any longer term of any Management Agreement or other contract, the Investor Member shall have the right in the event the Administrative Member is removed as such Administrative Member pursuant to this Agreement, to terminate without penalty the Management Agreement (if the Management Agent is an Affiliate of the Administrative Member) and every other contract between the Company and the removed Member and/or Affiliates of the removed Member by notice, effective simultaneously with such removal.

8.05 Outside Activities. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to constitute any Investor Member hereof the agent of any other Member hereof or to limit in any manner the Investor Member in the carrying on of its own business or activities. Any Investor Member may engage in and/or possess any interest in other business ventures (including partnerships of whatever kind) of every nature and description, independently or with others, whether existing as of the date hereof or hereafter coming into existence. Neither the Company nor any other Member hereof shall have any rights in or to any such independent ventures or the income or profits derived therefrom and nothing shall be construed to render them partners or members in any such other business ventures.

TRANSFERABILITY OF INVESTOR MEMBER INTERESTS

9.01 Consent of Members Not Required for Assignment. The Investor Member may sell, transfer, assign or otherwise Dispose of all or any part of its Interest without the prior written consent of the Managing Member or the Administrative Member, provided the assignee assumes liability for all unpaid Capital Contribution obligations. Each assignee shall automatically become a Substituted Investor Member. Every assignee of an Investor Member’s Interest who desires to make a further assignment of its Interest shall be subject to all the provisions of this Article 9 to the same extent and in the same manner as an Investor Member.

9.02 Member Cooperation. In conjunction with any sale, transfer, assignment or other Disposition by the Investor Member of all or any part of its Interest in accordance with the provisions of this Article 9, the Investor Member is authorized to obtain updated UCC, judgment and tax lien searches with respect to the Managing Member, the Administrative Member and the Company and to disclose information concerning the Company, the Administrative Member, the Managing Member, the Guarantor and any other Persons involved in the development and operation of the Apartment Complex and to initiate contact (and take any other actions needed to obtain required consents) with any Lender or other third-party whose consent to such Disposition may be required. The Managing Member and the Administrative Member represent and agree that they will take all actions reasonably necessary (or requested by the Investor Member) to cooperate with the Investor Member and facilitate the Investor Member’s Disposition of its Interest and/or the receipt of such consents, including, but not limited to, providing financial statements, information and reports with respect to the Managing Member, the Administrative Member, Guarantor and/or the Company and reaffirming the accuracy of the representations and covenants set forth in Sections 6.09 and 6.10 and the Investor Member shall reimburse the Managing Member and the Administrative Member for all costs reasonably incurred by it pursuant to this Section 9.02.

ARTICLE 10

WITHDRAWAL OF A MEMBER; DISPOSITION OF A MEMBER’S INTEREST

10.01 Transfer and Withdrawal. No Managing Member or Administrative Member may voluntarily Withdraw from the Company or transfer all or any part of its Interest in the Company without the Consent of the Investor Member and all other Members, except that if the Special Member or a designee thereof becomes a Managing Member or Administrative Member pursuant to this Agreement, it shall not require the consent of any other Member to transfer all or any portion of its Interest as a Member, other than as may be required under the Uniform Act. In the event of any Withdrawal by a Managing Member or Administrative Member in violation of this Section 10.01, such Member, in addition to being subject to any and all other legal remedies which may be pursued by the Members, shall forfeit to the Special Member or its designee, such Member’s Interest and all unpaid fees from (and any loans to) the Company and shall remain liable for all of the Withdrawning Member’s obligations under this Agreement. In addition, upon such Withdrawal, the Special Member or its designee shall automatically become a Member without further action by the Withdrawning Member or any other Member, and each Member hereby consents to such transfer and to the admission of the Special Member or its designee as a Member in such a situation. Such transfer shall occur automatically upon such Withdrawal without further action by such Withdrawning Member.

10.02 Obligation To Continue. Upon the Withdrawal of a Member, the Company shall terminate except that any remaining Member shall have the right and obligation to elect to continue the business of the Company and shall, within 30 days, notify the Investor Member of such Withdrawal and such election. If the Investor Member elects and admits a successor Member, the relationship among the then Members shall be governed by this Agreement.

10.03 Intentionally Omitted.

10.04 Interest of Member After Permitted Withdrawal. In the event of the Withdrawal of a Member not in violation of Section 10.01, the Withdrawning Member hereby covenants and agrees to transfer to any remaining Member(s) or to a successor Member selected in accordance with Section 10.02, as the case may be, such portion of the Withdrawning Member’s Interest as such remaining or successor Member(s) may designate. Such transfer shall be made in consideration of the payment by the transferee of the fair value of such Interest, which, in the absence of agreement between such parties, shall be determined by a committee of three appraisers, one selected by the Withdrawning Member, one selected by the transferee and a third selected by the other two appraisers. The proceedings of such committee shall conform to the rules of the American Arbitration Association, as far as appropriate, and its decision shall be final and binding. The portion of the Withdrawning Member’s Interest to be transferred in accordance with the provisions of this Section 10.04 shall be sufficient to ensure the continued treatment of the Company as a partnership under the Code, and, for the purposes of Article 4. shall be deemed to be effective as of the date of Withdrawal, but the Company shall not make any distributions to the designated transferee until the transfer has been made. Any holder of any portion of the interest of a Withdrawing Member which is not designated to be transferred to the remaining or successor Member(s) pursuant to the provisions of this Section 10.04 shall become a Special Member and shall be entitled to the same share of the Profits and Losses, Cash Flow and other distributions to which such Interest was entitled.

10.05 Additional Members. With the Consent of the Investor Member, the Administrative Member shall have the right to designate one or more Persons as additional Members. Notice of any such designation shall be promptly given to all the other Members. The Administrative Member shall assign to such Persons such portion of its Interests as may be agreed upon by the Administrative Member and such Persons, provided such assignment does not cause a loss or recapture of the Credit to the Investor Member and does not jeopardize the classification of the Company as a partnership under the Code.

MANAGEMENT AGENT AND MANAGEMENT FEE

11.01(a) The Administrative Member shall have the responsibility for supervising the management of the Apartment Complex and the Management Agent. The Company shall not enter into any Management Agreement or modify, terminate or extend any Management Agreement unless (i) it shall have obtained the Consent of the Investor Member to the identity of the Management Agent and the terms of the Management Agreement or the modification, termination or extension thereof, (ii) such Management Agreement or modified or extended Management Agreement provides that it is terminable without penalty by the Company on 30 days' notice by the Company and (iii) the Lenders shall have consented, to the extent required under the Project Documents, to the new or modified Management Agreement. The Administrative Member shall cause each Management Agreement entered into by the Company to provide that the Management Agent shall take all actions reasonably necessary (or requested by the Investor Member or Administrative Member) to cooperate with the Investor Member or Administrative Member in monitoring the Management Agent's compliance with the terms of the Management Agreement and this Agreement, including, but not limited to, maintaining tenant files and records in accordance with Section 12.01, verification of fees and expenses incurred by the Management Agent, verification of compliance with the tenant certification and other requirements of Code Section 42 and the Agency, and verification of compliance with the Fair Housing Act and other applicable laws.

11.01(b) The Management Agent shall receive a management fee, which fee shall be paid in accordance with the terms of Section 7.01 and the Management Agreement, which shall be executed by the Company. If (i) the Apartment Complex shall be subject to a substantial building code violation which shall not have been cured within two months after notice from the applicable governmental agency or department, (ii) an Event of Bankruptcy shall occur with respect to the Management Agent, (iii) the Management Agent shall commit misconduct or negligence in its conduct of its duties and obligations under the Management Agreement and/or any Lender-approved management plan for the Apartment Complex, (iv) the Apartment Complex has incurred Operating Deficits for two (2) consecutive months following the making of the Final Installment (provided, however, that if the Administrative Member has made loans or Capital Contributions to the Company sufficient to cover such Operating Deficits, the termination and appointment rights of the Investor Member in this section shall not be exercised as a result of a violation of this subsection (iv)), (v) after the first year of the Credit Period, less than 95% of the low-income set-aside units are qualified “low-income units” under Code Section 42(i)(3), (vi) the Management Agent is cited by any Credit monitoring or compliance agency of the State of Texas or any other governmental agency for (and has not cured within a reasonable period of time the particular violation(s)) a material violation of any applicable rule, regulation or requirement, including, but not limited to, noncompliance with the minimum set-aside test, the rent restriction test or any other Credit-related provision, or (vii) the Management Agent fails to cooperate with the Investor Member or Administrative Member in monitoring the Management Agent’s compliance with the terms of the Management Agreement, then, upon request by the Investor Member and after providing the Management Agent with thirty (30) days notice and opportunity to cure (and the receipt of any required approval of the Lender), the Administrative Member shall cause the Company to promptly terminate the Management Agreement with the Management Agent and appoint a new Management Agent approved by the Investor Member. The Administrative Member hereby grants to the Special Member an irrevocable (to the extent permitted by applicable law) power of attorney coupled with an interest to take any action and to execute and deliver any and all documents and instruments on behalf of the Administrative Member and the Company as the Special Member may deem necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of this Section 11.01(b). The Company shall not enter into any future management arrangement or renew or extend any existing management arrangement unless such arrangement is terminable without penalty upon the occurrence of the events described in this Article 11. During the pendency of any proceeding to remove a Administrative Member from the Company, the Investor Member shall have the right to control all Company decisions as to the Management Agent.

11.01(c) The Administrative Member will have the duty to manage the Apartment Complex during any period when there is no Management Agent (until such time as a replacement Management Agent satisfactory to the Administrative Member and the Investor Member is found, and the parties hereto agree to use their best efforts to agree on an acceptable replacement Management Agent within 30 days) and the Company will pay the Administrative Member for such services a management fee equal to such amount as may be deemed to be reasonable by the Investor Member and no greater than the amount that would be paid to an unrelated party performing substantially similar services. If the Management Agent is not an Affiliate of a Administrative Member, the Administrative Member represents and agrees that it or its Affiliates shall not, directly or indirectly, receive any payment or other form of compensation from the Management Agent or any of its Affiliates.

Re: 811 Units – LaMadrid Apartments

Dear Jason:

Per the 2019 TDHCA Qualified Allocation Plan, I am hereby submitting a request for your consideration to add an additional ten 811 program units at LaMadrid Apartments, in Austin, Texas.

Under the Amended and Restated Operating Agreement for LaMadrid Apartments, the Managing Member’s authority is restricted under section 6.01 and operational authority is vested in the Administrative Member. Further, neither the Managing Member nor the Administrative Member has the authority without consent of the Investor Member to modify the Project Document or create and permit any encumbrances other than the Mortgages and Mortgage Loans. As such, Investor Member consent would be required to add 811 units which require a Use Restriction be recorded for the property. LaMadrid Apartments already has a Use Agreement for 10 existing 811 units and adding 10 additional 811 units would result in more than 21% of the property being 811 tenants.

A written response is required by TDHCA for submission in our 2019 applications. If you have any questions about this request, you may reach me at 830-330-0762.

Sincerely,

Megan D. Lasch

Re: LaMadrid Apartments, LLC

Dear Ms. Lasch:

We have received your request regarding adding ten 811 program units to LaMadrid Apartments, in Austin, TX.

At the time of our investment, Wells Fargo had completed a lengthy underwriting and market analysis process, based upon the information and due diligence on hand at that time. The requested change in unit mix would require additional underwriting and marketing analysis, as well as resubmission through the consent process. As it does not appear that the property is in need of these units, and is continuing to serve the needs of the originally anticipated tenant market, at this time we do not approve the requested additional 811 program units.

If you have any questions and/or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Jason Brow

The total number of units per unit type and totals for "Total # of Units" and "Total Sq Ft. for Unit Type" should match the rent schedule and site plan. If additional building types are needed, they are available by un-hiding columns Q through AA, and rows 51 through 79.

Accessible Mobility Units Calculation

Include this worksheet in the Application (or a signed and certified worksheet provided by your accessibility professional that shows the calculations).

To the maximum extent feasible and subject to reasonable health and safety requirements, accessible units must be:

1. Distributed throughout the Unit types AND the Development; and
2. Made available in a sufficient range of sizes and amenities so that the choice of living arrangements of qualified persons with Disabilities is, as a whole, comparable to that of other persons eligible for housing assistance under the same program.

Multifamily Housing Developments covered by 10 TAC 11.101(b)(8)(A) must have a minimum of 5% of all units in the development set aside for the mobility impaired and an additional 2% must be set aside for the hearing and/or visually impaired.

Accessible Parking Calculation

Submit this worksheet or a comparable document certified by an accessibility professional.

Although Fair Housing Standards may apply in unusual circumstances, ADA Standards typically determine the required number of Accessible Parking Spaces (APSs). This worksheet is intended to handle typical (ADA) cases, where all parking spaces are within a single parking lot. However, it might be possible to determine the APS requirements of multiple lots (or facilities) by completing this same worksheet for each of the lots. The worksheet might also be usable for Developments with less than one parking space to serve each dwelling unit, by filling in the information on page one, bypassing inapplicable spaces in the first section of page two, and completing the second section of page two, "Distribution of APSs Among the Various Types of Parking", referencing ADA Table 208.2. In unique cases where Fair Housing applies, or where this worksheet cannot be applied, create a certification specifying the types and numbers of the parking spaces applicable, including standard and accessible parking for dwelling units and amenities (e.g., office, mail kiosk, laundry, dumpster, pool, playground, etc., collectively, "amenities"), and for each type of parking facility, e.g., surface spaces, carports, garages, etc., for staff review. Links to the applicable accessibility rules are provided below.

Accessible Parking for Facilities and Amenities

Determining the number of APSs that serve the dwelling units requires accounting for APSs that do not serve dwelling units. In the yellow spaces below, identify the individual amenities served by an APS. Groups of amenities in close proximity typically are allowed to share a single APS. If groups of amenities share one APS (or APSs), identify each such group. In the yellow space to the right of each of these identifications, state the number of APSs designated to serve the amenity or group identified. If parking is provided near dumpsters, at least 1 dumpster must have an APS. The total of these APSs will be subtracted from the total of all types of parking spaces to determine the number of parking spaces that serve the dwelling units and the APSs required for the dwelling units.

Total of Accessible Parking Spaces that Do Not Serve Dwelling Units: 4
Accessible Parking for Residential Units

This portion of the worksheet was written for Developments having at least one parking space serving each dwelling unit, having surface parking spaces as the APSs that are not for dwelling units, and having only one parking lot, i.e., none of the parking spaces are physically segregated from the others by gates or by curbs or other barriers that require vehicles to exit the Development to travel between separate parking lots that serve it. The worksheet might, or might not be, useful for other cases.

Enter the information indicated below.

| Total dwelling Units in the Development: | 84 |
| Total surface parking spaces: | 101 |
| Total carports: |  |
| Total garages: |  |
| Total parking spaces of all types: | Calculated from above: 101 |
| Total APSs that serve non-residential purposes (i.e. office, amenities, etc.): | Calculated on prior page: 4 |
| Total of all types of parking spaces that serve dwelling units: | Calculated from above: 97 |
| APSs for mobility accessible units (5% of unit count, if spaces are sufficient): | Calculated from above: 5 |
| Parking spaces that serve dwelling units in excess of one per unit (if applicable): | Calculated from above: 13 |
| APSs required in excess of one per mobility accessible unit: | Calculated from above: 3 |
| Total APSs required (including dwelling units and facilities/amenities): | Calculated from above: 10 |

All Developments, including those having fewer than one parking space serving each dwelling unit, should use this portion of the worksheet. Enter the number of APSs indicated by ADA Table 208.2 for the total of each type of parking space, i.e., surface spaces, carports, etc., including both amenity spaces and dwelling unit spaces.

Distribution of APSs Among the Various Types of Parking

- Minimum number of surface parking spaces (include dwelling unit and amenity spaces) that must be APSs: 10
- Minimum number of carports that must be APSs:  |
- Number of garages that must be APSs:  |

APSs that Must Be Van Spaces

- Total Van APSs required, including all types of spaces: 2
- Minimum number of surface parking spaces that must be van APSs: 2
- Minimum number of carports that must be van APSs: 0
- Minimum number of garages that must be van APSs: 0

By signing below, I (WE) certify that the information above meets the requirements in the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design Title III regulations at 28 CFR part 36, subpart D, and the 2004 ADA Accessibility Guidelines at 36 CFR part 1191, appendices B and D. There will be at least one accessible parking space per accessible unit located on the closest route to the accessible unit. For every 6 or fraction of 6 accessible spaces required, at least one will be van accessible. Accessible spaces will be dispersed amongst the parking types provided. Where parking for amenities or non-residents is provided, a sufficient number of accessible spaces will be provided.

15 Year Rental Housing Operating Pro Forma (All Programs)

A pro forma should be based on the operating income and expense information for the base year (first year of stabilized occupancy using today's best estimates of market rents, restricted rents, rental one and expenses), and principal and interest debt service. The Department uses an annual growth rate of 2% for income and 3% for expenses. Written explanation for any deviations from these growth rates or for assumptions other than straight-line growth made during the pro forma period should be attached to this exhibit.

15 Year Rental Housing Operating Pro Forma (All Programs)

The pro forma should be based on the operating income and expense information for the base year (first year of stabilized occupancy using today's best estimates of market rents, restricted rents, rental income and expenses), and principal and interest debt service. The Department uses an annual growth rate of 2% for income and 3% for expenses. Written explanation for any deviations from these growth rates or for assumptions other than straight-line growth made during the proforma period should be attached to this exhibit.

Offsite Cost Breakdown
VI COLLINA Off-Site Cost Breakdown

This form must be submitted with the Development Cost Schedule if the development has offsite costs, whether those costs are included in the budget as a line item, embedded in the acquisition costs, or referenced in utility provider letters. Therefore, the total costs listed on this worksheet may or may not exactly correspond with those off-site costs indicated on the Development Costs Schedule. However, all costs listed here should be able to be justified in another place in the application.

Column A: The offsite activity reflected here should correspond to the offsite activity reflected in the Development Cost Schedule or other supporting documentation.

Columns B and C: In determining actual construction cost, two different methods may be used:

Column D: To arrive at total construction costs in Column D:

Column E: Any proposed activity involving the acquisition of real property, easements, rights-of-way, etc., must have the projected costs of this acquisition for the activity.

Column F: Engineering/architectural costs must be broken out by the offsite work activity.

Column G: Figures for Column G, Total Activity Cost, are obtained by adding together Columns D, E, and F to get the total costs.

ALL contingency must be included in the Contingency line item on the Development Cost Schedule and NOT on this form

This form must be completed by a professional engineer licensed to practice in the State of Texas. His or her signature and registration seal must be on the form.

Site Work Cost Breakdown
This form must be submitted with the Development Cost Schedule as justification of Site Work costs.

Column A: The Site Work activity reflected here must match the Site Work activity reflected in the Development Cost Schedule.

Columns B and C: In determining actual construction cost, two different methods may be used:
- The construction costs may be broken into labor (Column B) and materials (Column C) for the activity; OR
- The use of unit price (Column B) and the number of units (Column C) data for the activity.

Column D: To arrive at total construction costs in Column D:
- If based on labor and materials, add Column B and Column C together to arrive at total construction costs.
- If based on unit price measures, Column B is multiplied by Column C to arrive at total construction costs.

Column E: Any proposed activity involving the acquisition of real property, easements, rights-of-way, etc., must have the projected costs of this acquisition for the activity.

Column G: Figures for Column G, Total Activity Cost, are obtained by adding together Columns D, E, and F to get the total costs.

This form must be completed by a Third-Party engineer licensed to practice in the State of Texas. His or her signature and registration seal must be on the form.

For Site Work costs that exceed $15,000 per Unit and are included in Eligible Basis, a CPA letter allocating which portions of those site costs should be included in Eligible Basis and which ones may be ineligible must be submitted behind this tab.

- Annual audited financial statements of Borrower
- Annual financial statements of Guarantors
- Annual evidence of tax credit compliance

Summary of Conditions

This proposal is subject to all the following conditions being met prior to construction closing:

Tax Credit Allocation: Receipt of an annual allocation of Low-Income Housing Tax Credits from the Texas Department of Housing & Community Affairs (TDHCA) in a minimum amount of $1,500,000.

Other Funds: The Bank acknowledges other anticipated project financing to include the following:
- City of Austin Loan - $2,800,000

Tax Credit Equity: Tax credit investor and equity terms (including price and pay-in schedule) subject to Bank approval. Current model has Redstone purchasing the tax credits at $0.90/credit, providing total equity of $13,496,650.

Developer Fee: Timing of payment of developer profit to be mutually agreed upon between Bank and Borrower. It is expected that the developer fee payment will mirror the developer fee payment schedule negotiated in the equity agreement. Current model has estimated deferred developer fee of $914,978.

Project Budget: The Bank’s current understanding of the project budget is based on initial verbal discussions and files provided by the Borrower on February 25, 2019. The Bank acknowledges that this project budget is subject to change.

However, significant changes to the budget that materially affect the project may result in changes to the terms and conditions proposed herein.

Underwriting Considerations: Property Pro forma utilizes $15,000 annual expense for Supportive Services

Other Conditions: Receipt and approval of those items listed in the Due Diligence Checklist.

The attached 15-year pro forma was prepared by Vi Collina, LLC (Applicant) for Vi Collina Apartments to be located in Austin, Texas. The pro forma is consistent with the unit rental rate assumptions, total operating expenses, net operating income, and debt service coverage based on Community Bank of Texas’s current underwriting parameters and consistent with the loan terms indicated in the term sheet and is preliminarily considered feasible, pending further diligence review. The debt service for each year maintains no less than a 1.15 debt coverage ratio.

Additionally, we have performed a preliminary review of the credit worthiness of Vi Collina, LLC and its Principals. At this time, Community Bank of Texas has no reservations with the Development Owner or any of the Principals. We anticipate no additional guarantors or financial strength will be needed to facilitate a loan to this borrower, other than those requirements disclosed herein.
This discussion letter does not represent a commitment by the Bank for the proposed financing, nor does it define all the terms and conditions of loan documents, but is a framework upon which a loan request may be submitted and considered. Issuance of a commitment by the Bank is subject to the approval of the loan request under the Bank's internal approval process, which includes, but is not limited to, a review of the Borrower's then current financial condition and review and approval of all third-party reports, in addition to completion of loan documents in form and substance acceptable to the Bank.

If you should have any questions concerning these terms and conditions, please feel free to call me at (713) 308-5754. Megan, thank you for giving us the opportunity to consider financing for this project.

Sincerely,

CommunityBank of Texas, N.A.

15 Year Rental Housing Operating Pro Forma (All Programs)

The pro forma should be based on the operating income and expense information for the base year (first year of stabilized occupancy using today's best estimates of market rents, restricted rents, rental income and expenses), and principal and interest debt service. The Department uses an annual growth rate of 2% for income and 3% for expenses. Written explanation for any deviations from these growth rates or for assumptions other than straight-line growth made during the proforma period should be attached to this exhibit.

¹ The Guarantors will guarantee certain of the Managing Member’s obligations set forth in Paragraph 7 herein, will do so on a joint and several basis, and will be subject to the review and approval of Red Stone.
3. Tax Credits. The Project expects to receive an allocation of 9% Housing Credits from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (the “Agency”) for the year 2019 in an annual amount of $1,500,000. The total Housing Credits anticipated to be delivered to the Company is $15,000,000 (the “Projected Federal LIHTC”).

Any decision to delay the commencement date of the Housing Credit period beyond 2021 is subject to Red Stone’s consent. In addition, any decision to commence the Housing Credit period prior to January, 2021, is subject to Red Stone’s consent.

4. Capital Contribution. Red Stone will acquire its Investor Member Interest in the Company for a total capital contribution of $13,498,650, subject to adjustment in Paragraph 5 below. This capital contribution is based on the following pricing:

<tr>

</tr>

The above pricing assumes 100% of residential depreciation being taken over 30 years; 100% of depreciation on site improvements being taken over 1 year; and 100% of depreciation on personal property being taken over 1 year. The allocation of the depreciable line items is subject to Red Stone’s review and approval.

Red Stone will fund its capital contribution pursuant to the following schedule:

A. 20% ($2,699,730) shall be paid upon the later of (a) the execution of the Company Agreement, (b) receipt and approval of all due diligence items on Red Stone’s due diligence checklist, (c) receipt by the Company of commitment for a non-recourse permanent loan acceptable to Red Stone, (d) receipt of commitments of the additional financing sources described in Paragraph 11, and (e) closing and initial funding of the construction loan.

B. 60% ($8,099,190) upon the later of (a) satisfaction of the funding conditions described in (A) above, (b) receipt of temporary certificates of occupancy, (c) AIA form G704, receipt of an architect’s certificate of lien-free substantial completion, and (d) January 1, 2021.

C. 15% ($2,024,798) upon the later of (a) satisfaction of the funding conditions described in (B) above, (b) receipt of permanent certificates of occupancy, (c) receipt of the final cost certification from an independent certified public accountant, (d) repayment of the construction loan and funding of the Project’s permanent mortgage (or such condition will be met concurrently with the payment of this installment), (e) satisfaction of all funding conditions required for the permanent mortgage, including without limitation, three consecutive months of a 1.15 to 1.00 Debt Service Coverage ratio (“DSC”) and 90 days of 90% occupancy, (f) achievement of 100% qualified occupancy, (g) calculations of the preliminary adjusters have been prepared, and (h) October 1, 2021.

D. 5% ($675,932) upon the later of (a) satisfaction of the funding conditions described in (C) above, (b) achievement of Stabilized Operations, (c) receipt of IRS Form 8609s and a recorded extended use agreement, (d) receipt and review of an acceptable initial tenant file audit, and (e) calculations of final adjusters have been prepared.

5. Adjusters.

   A. Increase or Decrease in Housing Credits. In the event that actual Housing Credits as determined by the cost certification and 8609s exceeds Projected Federal LIHTC, Red Stone will pay an additional capital contribution equal to the product of (i) $0.90 multiplied by (ii) the difference between the actual Federal LIHTC and the Projected Federal LIHTC. In the event that actual Housing Credits as determined by the cost certification and 8609s are less than Projected Federal LIHTC, Red Stone’s capital contribution will be reduced by an amount equal to the product of (i) $0.90 multiplied by (ii) the difference between the Projected Federal LIHTC and the actual Federal LIHTC ("Adjustment Amount"). If the Adjustment Amount exceeds the total of all unfunded capital contributions, then the Managing Member will make a payment (which payment shall be guaranteed by the Guarantors) to the Company equal to the amount of such excess, and the Company will immediately distribute such amount to Red Stone as a return of its capital contribution.

   B. Timing of Housing Credit Delivery. In addition to the Adjustment Amount, Red Stone’s capital contribution will be similarly reduced in the event that the actual delivery of Housing Credits is slower than the anticipated schedule set forth in Paragraph 3. The amount (the “Late Delivery Adjustment”) of this reduction will equal the product of (i) $0.55 multiplied by (ii) the difference in the Projected Federal LIHTC and actual Housing Credits for such years are less than the amounts shown in Paragraph 3. Conversely, in the event that the actual delivery of Housing Credits exceeds the anticipated schedule set forth in Paragraph 3, Red Stone will pay an additional capital contribution (the “Early Delivery Adjustment”) equal to the product of (i) $0.55 multiplied by (ii) the difference between actual Housing Credits and the Projected Federal LIHTC. Red Stone will pay such additional capital contribution at the funding of its final capital contribution installment.

Notwithstanding the above, in no event will the net additional Capital Contribution to be paid by Red Stone exceed 5% of the total original Capital Contribution amount, and Red Stone will pay such additional Capital Contribution at the funding of its final capital contribution. Such additional Capital Contribution will be used to pay any outstanding fees owed to Red Stone and then will be distributed in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph 10(B), below.
6. Reserves. The Company will fund the following reserves:

A. Operating Reserve. The Company will fund and maintain an Operating Reserve to be funded from the Third Capital Contribution in an amount of $427,311. Any release of funds from the Operating Reserve will be subject to Red Stone’s consent. Pursuant to Paragraph 10(B), the Operating Reserve will be replenished up to $427,311 (the “Minimum Balance”) from cash flow to the extent withdrawals are made. The Managing Member may draw up to 50% of the initial operating reserve balance prior to funding any obligation under the ODG. No further withdrawals may be made from the Operating Reserve until the Maximum ODG Amount (as defined in Paragraph 7(B) below) is funded by the Managing Member, as required pursuant to Paragraph 7(B)(ii) below. To the extent the balance of the Operating Reserve is less than the Minimum Balance at the expiration of the ODG Period as described in Paragraph 7(B)(ii) below, the Managing Member shall cause the Operating Reserve to be replenished back to the Minimum Balance and the ODG Period shall be extended until such Operating Reserve has been replenished. The Operating Reserve shall remain an asset of the Company and shall be subject to distribution in accordance with Paragraph 10(C) below, subject to the approval of any project lenders.

B. Replacement Reserve. The Project operating expenses will include the funding of a Replacement Reserve in the amount of $250 per unit or such other amount specified by the project lenders increasing by 3% per annum. Any release of funds from the Replacement Reserve will be subject to Red Stone’s consent.

C. Lease Up Reserve. The Company will fund a lease up reserve in the amount of $87,015 to be used for leasing and marketing expenses prior to stabilization.

7. Guarantees. The Guarantors will guarantee the following obligations of the Managing Member:

A. Construction Completion Guarantee. The Guarantors shall guarantee the Managing Member’s obligation of lien-free completion of the Project in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by Red Stone for the amount set forth in the approved project development budget. The Construction Completion Guarantee will provide that the Guarantors shall pay any amount in excess of the approved project development budget as well as any Project deficiency arising prior to Stabilized Operations (as defined in Paragraph 7(B) below). Payments made under this guaranty will not constitute loans to the Company or capital contributions and no Guarantors will have any right to receive any repayment on account of such payments.

B. Operating Deficit Guarantee. The Guarantors will agree to advance to the Company any amounts required to fund operating deficits arising after the expiration of the Construction Completion Guarantee, if needed, as follows:

1. The guarantee shall be unlimited until the Project achieves “Stabilized Operations”. Stabilized Operations is to be defined as the later to occur of (i) construction loan payoff and conversion to approved non-recourse permanent financing; and (ii) rental income generated from the Project is sufficient to pay all operating expenses of the Project, including, without limitation, all actual or anticipated mandatory debt service; real estate taxes; insurance premiums; management fees; and replacement and operating reserve deposits and maintain a debt service coverage ratio of not less than 1.15 to 1.00 for 3 consecutive months after funding and commencement of amortization of the Project’s permanent loan. To the extent applicable, if Project income is insufficient to enable the Project to attain the required debt service coverage necessary for the closing or conversion of all permanent loans, the Guarantors will agree to pay down the construction loan in an amount necessary to allow the Project to cause the closing or conversion of all permanent loans by the conversion date required by the lender(s). Payments made under this guarantee will not constitute loans to the Company or capital contributions and no Guarantors will have any right to receive any repayment on account of such payments.

(ii) Following (i) above, for a period of 60 months following the achievement of Stabilized Operations (the “ODG Period”), the amount shall be limited to $427,311 (the “Maximum ODG Amount”), and will be released provided the Project maintains a minimum of 1.15 to 1.0 debt service coverage ratio over each of the last consecutive 12 months of the ODG Period. Any amounts so advanced will constitute interest-free loans (“Operating Deficit Loan”) repayable out of future available cash flow or out of available proceeds of a sale or refinancing described in Paragraph 10.

C. Repurchase Guarantee. The Guarantors will repurchase Red Stone’s interest upon the occurrence of certain events described in the Company Agreement.

D. Housing Credit Shortfall and Recapture Guarantee. In addition to the Housing Credit and Timing Adjusters set forth in Paragraph 5, if the actual amount of Housing Credits for any year is less than Projected Federal LIHTC set forth in Paragraph 3, as adjusted by Paragraph 5, the Guarantors will guarantee payment to the Investor Member of an amount equal to the shortfall, or recapture amount, plus all applicable fees, penalties or other costs incurred by the Company and/or Red Stone as a result of such shortfall or recapture. The Guarantors will pay, on an after-tax basis, the Investor Member $1.00 for each dollar of Housing Credits lost, plus any related interest or penalties. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Guarantors shall not be responsible for loss or recapture of Housing Credits attributable to changes to the Code after the achievement of Stabilized Operations or that may be directly attributable to the transfer of the LP interest.

F. Environmental Indemnification. The Company and the Guarantors, jointly and severally, shall indemnify and hold harmless the Investor Member from and against all claims, actions, causes of action, damages, costs, liability and expense incurred or suffered based upon a violation of environmental laws, or respecting the presence of environmental hazards.

G. Guarantors. The Guarantors will guarantee all of the Managing Member’s obligations including those set forth above. The Guarantors will maintain an aggregate minimum liquidity of $1,000,000 and a minimum net worth of $5,000,000. The Guarantors will provide Red Stone with annual financial statements evidencing compliance with the liquidity and net worth covenants above.

8. Construction. The Managing Member will arrange for a fixed or guaranteed maximum price construction contract in the anticipated amount of $10,894,240. The Managing Member shall cause lien-free completion to occur and shall provide either a payment and performance bond or letter of credit to secure the contractor’s obligations. Red Stone may, in its sole discretion, engage a construction consultant to review plans and specifications and evaluate the construction progress by providing monthly reports to the Company. The cost of the construction consultant shall be borne by the Company.

9. Fees. The following fees will be paid by the Company for services rendered in organizing, developing and managing the Company and the Project.

   A. Developer Fee. The Developer will earn a developer fee of $2,021,860. The portion of the developer fee that will not be paid out of the Capital Contributions will be deferred and payable by the Company to the Developer as a distribution of net cash flow in accordance with Paragraph 10(B). The deferred amount is projected to be $914,978 and will accrue interest at the rate of 5% per annum, or such other interest rate acceptable to tax counsel, in effect as of the placed-in-service date of the project. The balance of the developer fee that is not projected to be permanently deferred is projected to be $1,106,882 (“Cash Development Fee”) will be paid out of the Capital Contributions in amounts to be determined.

   The deferred amount will be payable out of available cash flow and will mature on the 15th anniversary of the placed-in-service date (“Maturity Date”). If the deferred portion of the developer fee has not been repaid upon the Maturity Date, the Managing Member will be required to advance the Company the amount equal to the unpaid balance of the deferred amount.

   B. Property Management Fee. The property management fee will be the greater of $2,000/month or 5% of gross collected rents. The appointment of, and terms of the property management agreement, are subject to the prior approval of Red Stone.

   C. Asset Management Fee. The Company will pay Red Stone an annual asset management fee in an amount equal to $5,000 per annum. The asset management fee will be paid annually and such fee shall accrue beginning on January 1, 2020, with the first payment due and payable on or before March 1, 2021, and each anniversary thereafter. The asset management fee will increase annually by 3%.

A. Tax Benefits. Tax profits, tax losses, and tax credits arising prior to the sale or other disposition of the Project will be allocated 99.98% to the Investor Member, .001% to the Special Investor Member and .01% to the Managing Member. The Investor Member will have the right in its sole discretion to undertake a limited deficit restoration obligation at any time during the term of the Company.

B. Net Cash Flow Distributions. Distributions of net cash flow, as defined in the Company Agreement, but generally all cash receipts less cash expenditures (e.g., payment of debt service and property management fee), will be made as follows:

13. Company Closing. Final Company closing will be contingent upon Red Stone’s receipt, review and approval in its sole discretion of all due diligence including the items set forth on its due diligence checklist to be delivered to the Managing Member. Final Company closing also is contingent upon (i) a satisfactory site visit conducted by Red Stone to determine overall market feasibility, including an analysis of proforma rents and expenses, (ii) Red Stone’s review and approval of all third party reports, and (iii) final approval of Red Stone’s investor. Red Stone’s agreement to acquire the LP Interest on the pricing, terms and conditions contained in this letter are further based on the assumption that the Company closing will occur on or before the Closing Date set forth in Paragraph 1. # 15 Year Rental Housing Operating Pro Forma (All Programs)

The pro forma should be based on the operating income and expense information for the base year (first year of stabilized occupancy using today's best estimates of market rents, restricted rents, rental income and expenses), and principal and interest debt service. The Department uses an annual growth rate of 2% for income and 3% for expenses. Written explanation for any deviations from these growth rates or for assumptions other than straight-line growth made during the proforma period should be attached to this exhibit.

INSTRUCTIONS: Describe the sources of funds that will finance Development. The description must include construction, permanent, and bridge loans, and all other types of funds to be used for development. The information must be consistent with all other documentation in this section. Provide sufficient detail to identify the source and explain the use (in terms of the timing and any specific uses) of each type of funds to be contributed. In addition, describe/explain replacement reserves. Finally, describe/explain operating items. The narrative must include rents, operating subsidies, project based assistance, and all other sources of funds for operations. In the foregoing discussion of both development and operating funds, specify the status (dates and deadlines) for applications, approvals and closings, etc., associated with the commitments.

Describe the sources and uses of funds (specify the status (dates and deadlines) for applications, approvals and closings, etc., associated with the commitments). For Direct Loan or Tax-Exempt Bond Applications that contemplate an FHA-insured loan, this includes the anticipated date that FHA application will be submitted to HUD (if not already submitted).

The first mortgage lender will provide construction financing in the form of a construction loan. The amount of the construction loan will be $13,900,000 and will be interest-only at an interest rate of 6.50%. The first mortgage lender will also provide the permanent financing in the form of a conventional loan. The conventional perm loan will be in the amount of $4,600,000 at an interest rate of 6.50%. The conventional loan will be amortized over 35 years and carry a 15 year term. Redstone will provide the equity for the project at a syndication rate of 0.90. The total equity contribution will be $13,498,650 with 20% of the equity coming in during construction, or $13,498,650. It is currently estimated that $914,978 in developer fee will be deferred. An application has been made to the City of Austin for a soft loan in the amount of $2,800,000 which will be subject to surplus cash flow.

Describe the replacement reserves. Are there any existing reserve accounts that will transfer with the property? If so, describe what will be done with these funds.

Annual replacement reserves are estimated to be $250/unit. Operating reserves are being required in the amount of $427,311 and rent-up reserves are being required in the amount of $87,015.

Describe the operating items (rents, operating subsidies, project based assistance, etc., and specify the status (dates and deadlines) for applications, approvals and closings, etc., associated with the commitments.)
Per the City of Austin RFP requirements, the development will need to provide supportive services currently estimated to cost $15,000 annually.

By signing below I acknowledge that the amounts and terms of all anticipated sources of funds as stated above are consistent with the assumptions of my institution as one of the providers of funds.

RE: TDHCA Application No. 19288 - Vi Collina

Dear Ms. Holloway:

I am writing to confirm the de minimis contribution of development funding by the City of Austin (the "City") for the Vi Collina.

This project is eligible to have certain development fees waived through the City's S.M.A.R.T. Housing Ordinance. The ordinance allows full or partial fee waivers in developments in which a portion of the units are affordable for households who earn no more than 80% of the median family income.

Contingent upon the developments compliance with the City's S.M.A.R.T. Housing Ordinance, the fee waivers the City will provide are for a direct benefit of the project by reducing development costs approximately $327,738.98.

Please contact Sandra Harkins by phone 512.974.3128 or by email at Sandra.harkins@austin.tx.us if you need additional information.

Sincerely,

Pursuant to §11.204(13)(A) of the QAP, submit three separate charts. One showing the complete organizational structure of each of the following entities: Development Owner, Developer, and Guarantor.

The organization charts must include:

- The names and ownership percentages of all Persons having an ownership interest in the Development Owner, Developer, and/or Guarantor.
- Nonprofit entities, public housing authorities, publicly traded corporations, individual board members and executive directors must be included in Organization charts.
- Any and all trusts must list all beneficiaries that have the legal ability to control or direct activities of the trust and are not just financial beneficiaries.

In the case of:

(A) Partnerships - Principals include all general Partners and Special LPs (any LP that is not the Syndicator is a "Special LP");

(B) Corporations - Principals include the executive director and all members of the board (shown with "0%" ownership as applicable). For to-be formed instrumentalities of PHAs, where the executive director and board remain to be determined, include the PHA, itself, and its members;

(C) Limited liability companies - Principals include all the managing members and all other members.

Architect Certification
The form for the certification will be posted to the Department's website at http://www.tdhca.state.tx.us/multifamily/apply-for-funds.htm.

NOTE: The certification requires a separate statement be submitted that describes how the accessibility requirements for the physically accessible /hearing and visual impaired Units will be met, along with related parking requirements. Be sure this statement is attached to this certification. Forms signed by the architect in Tabs 23(a), (b), and (c) may meet this requirement.
Architect Certification

I (We) certify that the Development will be designed and built to meet the accessibility requirements of the Federal Fair Housing Act as implemented by HUD at 24 C.F.R. Part 100 and the Fair Housing Act Design Manual, Titles II and III of the Americans with Disabilities Act (42 U.S.C. Sections 12131-12189) as implemented by the Department of Justice regulations at 28 C.F.R. Parts 35 and 36, and the Department’s Accessibility rules in 10 TAC Chapter 1, Subchapter B, in effect at the time of certification.

I (we) certify that all materials submitted to the Department by the Architect or Applicant constitute records of the Department subject to Chapter 552, Tex. Gov’t Code, and the Texas Public Information Act.

I (We) certify that in accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and implemented at 24 C.F.R. Part 8, if the Development includes the New Construction or substantial rehabilitation of multifamily units (4 or more units per building), at least five percent (5%) of all dwelling units will be designed and built to be accessible for persons with mobility impairments. A unit that is on an accessible route and is adaptable and otherwise compliant with the 2010 ADA Standards with the exceptions listed in “Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Disability in Federally Assisted Programs and Activities” (Federal Register 79 FR 29671) meets this requirement. In addition, at least two percent (2%) of all dwelling units will be designed and built to be accessible for persons with hearing or vision impairments.

I (We) have attached a statement describing how the requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and implemented at 24 C.F.R. Part 8 will be met as described in 10 TAC Chapter 1, Subchapter B. At a minimum, the statement will include (1) The total number of Units (2) Number and description of Unit types, the number of Units of each Type, (3) Number of Units of each Type that will meet the accessibility requirements, and (4) a description of how the accessibility requirements relating to Unit distribution will be met.

I (We) certify that I (We) have reviewed and understand the Department's fair housing educational materials posted on the Department's website as of the beginning of the Application Acceptance Period.

I (We) certify that all persons who have a property interest in the Development plan hereby acknowledge that the Department may publish the full Development plan on the Department’s website, release the Development plan in response to a request for public information, and make other use of the Development plan as authorized by law.
I (We) certify that if the Development includes the New Construction or Rehabilitation of single family units (1 to 3 units per building), every unit will be designed and built to meet the accessibility requirements of Tex. Gov't Code §2306.514, as it may be amended from time to time.

I (We) have attached a statement describing how, regardless of building type, all Units accessed by the ground floor or by elevator ("affected units") meet the requirements at 10 TAC §11.101(b)(8)(B).

I(We) certify that all accessible Units under 10 TAC Chapter 1, Subchapter B, and all affected Units meeting the requirements under 10 TAC 11.101(b)(8)(B) will be dispersed throughout the Development.

If the Applicant is applying for HOME funds and the Development consists of New Construction, I (We) further certify that the Development meets the Construction Site Standards in 24 C.F.R §983.57(e)(1).

This certification meets the requirement that the Applicant provide a certification from the Development engineer or an accredited architect. A similar certification will also be required after the Development is completed from an inspector, architect, or accessibility specialist.

Additional Architect Statement

As referenced in the 2019 Architect Certification, this Additional Architect Statement includes the following:

1. The requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and implemented at 24 C.F.R. Part 8 will be met as shown in the following calculation forms and in the Architectural Plans contained in this Application. # Accessible Mobility Units Calculation

Include this worksheet in the Application (or a signed and certified worksheet provided by your accessibility professional that shows the calculations).

To the maximum extent feasible and subject to reasonable health and safety requirements, accessible units must be:
(1) Distributed throughout the Unit types AND the Development; and
(2) Made available in a sufficient range of sizes and amenities so that the choice of living arrangements of qualified persons with Disabilities is, as a whole, comparable to that of other persons eligible for housing assistance under the same program.

Multifamily Housing Developments covered by 10 TAC 11.101(b)(8)(A) must have a minimum of 5% of all units in the development set aside for the mobility impaired and an additional 2% must be set aside for the hearing and/or visually impaired.

Accessible Parking Calculation

Submit this worksheet or a comparable document certified by an accessibility professional.

Although Fair Housing Standards may apply in unusual circumstances, ADA Standards typically determine the required number of Accessible Parking Spaces (APSs). This worksheet is intended to handle typical (ADA) cases, where all parking spaces are within a single parking lot. However, it might be possible to determine the APS requirements of multiple lots (or facilities) by completing this same worksheet for each of the lots. The worksheet might also be usable for Developments with less than one parking space to serve each dwelling unit, by filling in the information on page one, bypassing inapplicable spaces in the first section of page two, and completing the second section of page two, "Distribution of APSs Among the Various Types of Parking", referencing ADA Table 208.2. In unique cases where Fair Housing applies, or where this worksheet cannot be applied, create a certification specifying the types and numbers of the parking spaces applicable, including standard and accessible parking for dwelling units and amenities (e.g., office, mail kiosk, laundry, dumpster, pool, playground, etc., collectively, "amenities"), and for each type of parking facility, e.g., surface spaces, carports, garages, etc., for staff review. Links to the applicable accessibility rules are provided below.

Accessible Parking for Facilities and Amenities

Determining the number of APSs that serve the dwelling units requires accounting for APSs that do not serve dwelling units. In the yellow spaces below, identify the individual amenities served by an APS. Groups of amenities in close proximity typically are allowed to share a single APS. If groups of amenities share one APS (or APSs), identify each such group. In the yellow space to the right of each of these identifications, state the number of APSs designated to serve the amenity or group identified. If parking is provided near dumpsters, at least 1 dumpster must have an APS. The total of these APSs will be subtracted from the total of all types of parking spaces to determine the number of parking spaces that serve the dwelling units and the APSs required for the dwelling units.

Accessible Parking for Residential Units

This portion of the worksheet was written for Developments having at least one parking space serving each dwelling unit, having surface parking spaces as the APSs that are not for dwelling units, and having only one parking lot, i.e., none of the parking spaces are physically segregated from the others by gates or by curbs or other barriers that require vehicles to exit the Development to travel between separate parking lots that serve it. The worksheet might, or might not be, useful for other cases.

All Developments, including those having fewer than one parking space serving each dwelling unit, should use this portion of the worksheet. Enter the number of APSs indicated by ADA Table 208.2 for the total of each type of parking space, i.e., surface spaces, carports, etc., including both amenity spaces and dwelling unit spaces.

Distribution of APSs Among the Various Types of Parking

Minimum number of surface parking spaces (include dwelling unit and amenity spaces) that must be APSs: 10

Minimum number of carports that must be APSs: 0

Number of garages that must be APSs: 0

APSs that Must Be Van Spaces

Total Van APSs required, including all types of spaces: 2

Minimum number of surface parking spaces that must be van APSs: 2

Minimum number of carports that must be van APSs: 0

Minimum number of garages that must be van APSs: 0

By signing below, I (WE) certify that the information above meets the requirements in the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design Title III regulations at 28 CFR part 36, subpart D, and the 2004 ADA Accessibility Guidelines at 36 CFR part 1191, appendices B and D. There will be at least one accessible parking space per accessible unit located on the closest route to the accessible unit. For every 6 or fraction of 6 accessible spaces required, at least one will be van accessible. Accessible spaces will be dispersed amongst the parking types provided. Where parking for amenities or non-residents is provided, a sufficient number of accessible spaces will be provided.

Evidence of Experience
Evidence of Experience Must be Provided Behind this Tab

Pursuant to §11.204(6) of the QAP, a Principal of the Developer, Development Owner, or General Partner must establish that they have experience in the development of 150 units or more.

Evidence of experience behind this tab includes:

- An Experience certificate issued by the Department under the 2014-2018 Uniform Multifamily Rules.
- An Experience certificate issued by the Department under the 2019 QAP.
- An Application for experience and supporting documentation in accordance with §11.204(6)(A)(i)-(ix).
- Evidence from the Department that the application for experience was received and is being processed by the Department.

Alternatively, pursuant to §13.5(d)(1) of the Multifamily Direct Loan Rule, Applicants requesting MFDL as the only source of Department funds may meet the Experience Requirement by providing evidence of the successful development and operation for at least 5 years of at least twice as many affordability restricted units as requested in the Application.

Documentation provided behind this tab meets the alternative Experience Requirement in §13.5(d)(1).

DUNS Number and System for Award Management (SAM.gov) registration (Direct Loan Applications Only)

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) requires grant applicants to provide a Dunn and Bradstreet (D&B) Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number when applying for Federal grants, including Direct Loan funds, on or after October 1, 2003. The DUNS number will supplement other identifiers required by statute or regulation, such as tax identification numbers. To apply for a DUNS number applicants can go to the Dunn & Bradstreet website:

http://fedgov.dnb.com/webform

Once applicants have obtained a DUNS number, they must register with the SAM database:
https://sam.gov/portal/public/SAM

Applicants may provide this information with the Application or upon award.

Evidence of SAM.gov registration for the applicant entity is attached behind this tab.
Evidence of SAM.gov registration for the applicant entity will be provided upon award.

Davis Bacon Labor Standards (Direct Loan Applications Only)

Experience Certificate
Mrs. Megan Lasch
c/o Alyssa Carpenter
1305 East 6th Street, Suite 12
Austin, Texas 78702

RE: REQUEST FOR EXPERIENCE CERTIFICATE UNDER 2016 UNIFORM MULTIFAMILY RULES

Dear Mrs. Lasch:

We have reviewed your request for an experience certificate, which is provided to individuals that meet the requirements of §10.204(6) of the Uniform Multifamily Rules. In order to meet the experience requirements an individual must establish that they have experience in the development and placement in service of at least 150 residential units. We find that the documentation you have provided is sufficient to establish this required experience. Additionally, you have certified to compliance with the requirements of §10.204(6)(B), including the following requirements:

(ii) Experience may not be established for a Person who at any time within the preceding three years has been involved with affordable housing in another state, in which the Person or Affiliate has been the subject of issued IRS Form 8823 citing non-compliance that has not been or is not being corrected with reasonable due diligence. …

(iv) Notwithstanding the foregoing, no person may be used to establish such required experience if that Person or an Affiliate of that Person would not be eligible to be an Applicant themselves.

Should you choose to participate as a member of the Development Team or an individual providing experience for any Application submitted for funding, a Previous Participation Review (10 TAC §1.5) may be conducted prior to any award of funds. Additionally, should it be determined at any point in time that the information provided in your request for experience is fraudulent, knowingly falsified, intentionally or negligibly materially misrepresented, or omits relevant information, this certificate of experience is null and void and you may be subject to other sanctions under the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs’ rules and requirements.

Re: Resolution of Support for Vi Collina

Dear Ms. Lasch,

At the Austin City Council meeting on February 7, 2019, staff presented the requests from multiple entities for resolutions of support for applications to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs Competitive Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program. Generally, staff presents these resolutions en masse, having reviewed and vetted each request, and Council approves the resolutions on consent. This year, the City of Austin received eighteen requests for resolutions of support, with ten proposals ultimately going before Council. As staff worked to prepare all of the documentation and resolutions for Council to approve, we unfortunately made a minor error in the drafting of the resolution of support for Vi Collina. This resolution was advertised and listed in the agenda as being in support of the Vi Collina application. The language in the agenda clearly stated that this resolution was to be in support of Vi Collina. The supporting documentation for this agenda item included the original request from you, the applicant, for a resolution of support for Vi Collina, as well as multiple documents showing staff’s analysis of the location proposed in your application. Further, the resolution lists Vi Collina, LLC as the “applicant” and identifies the proposed development to be located at 2401 East Oltorf Street. Unfortunately, the resolution then states that the applicant intends to apply for the tax credits for “the Development to be known as Tierra Skyline.” This was an error. The resolution is in support of the application submitted by Vi Collina, LLC for the development to be located at 2401 East Oltorf Street, to be known as Vi Collina, or whatever name the developer ultimately chooses. Please accept this as an explanation of events and an apology for the confusion.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Holloway,

I am writing this letter to voice my support for TDHCA Tax Credit Applications for the proposed affordable housing developments:

- Vi Collina, TDHCA App#19288 to be located at 2431 E Oltorf, Austin 78741
- The Abali, TDHCA App#19295 to be located at 4503 N IH 35, Austin 78722

Capital IDEA is a taxexempt civic organization that serves the community, including the neighborhoods in which these development sites are located. In fact, we have enabled residents of other affordable housing developments in Austin earn their two-year degrees at Austin Community College and become new professionals in technology and healthcare. Our bread and butter is helping single mothers become Registered Nurses. When that occurs, we all benefit. The previous resident of affordable housing becomes a homeowner and taxpayer. Their children experience a model of success in education and go on themselves to higher education at a roughly 70 percent direct-to-college rate – 25 points above the expected rate. There is a need for housing that is affordable to citizens of modest means as they work their way up a ladder of education and opportunity. These developments will help meet that need.

Please feel free to call on me for further information.

Sincerely,

Our Mission & Vision for Our Communities

Capital IDEA’s mission is to lift working adults out of poverty and into living wage careers through education and career advancement.

We envision a thriving Central Texas where non-traditional students have the opportunity to get an education and reach their full potential. We also aim to help leading employers access a diverse pool of skilled workers that are trained for the best careers of today and the future. Achieving this means increasing our number of graduates and reducing the time it takes for our students to complete their education and get into the workplace.
History of Capital IDEA

Capital IDEA is a nonprofit, community-based organization that launched in 1998. Capital IDEA emerged from the shared goals of the local business community and Austin Interfaith (AI). AI is a multi-issue, multi-ethnic, nonpartisan social justice organization made up of congregations, schools, unions, associations, and nonprofits that work together to develop the leadership to address issues that affect the well-being of families in the community.

One such issue was the rising cost of living in Central Texas — pushing low-income families further away from the urban core, and further into debt and other desperate situations. At the same time, regional employers were having a hard time filling their workforce needs. Capital IDEA was formed to bridge this gap by using postsecondary education for non-traditional students as a pathway to career advancement and success.

In our almost two decades of service, Capital IDEA has grown with funding from the City of Austin and Travis County, as well as a growing number of corporate and philanthropic partners. The US Department of Labor, the US Department of Health and Human Services, and the Texas Legislature have funded programming. A 2015 Workforce Excellence Award from the Texas Economic Development Council acknowledged the success of the workforce initiatives partnership between Capital IDEA and the City of Austin Economic Development Department.

The Happy Kitchen/La Cocina Alegre (/http://sustainablefoodcenter.org/programs/the-happy-kitchen) is a nationally recognized cooking and nutrition education program that nurtures skills in food selection and preparation. We offer free 6-week community cooking and nutrition education classes (/programs/the-happy-kitchen/community-cooking-class-series) taught by peer facilitators in communities facing health disparities.
We also offer affordable cooking classes (http://food.convio.net/site/Ecommerce?store_id=1501) available to the general public that teach fundamental skills as well as specialty cuisine, and private classes and team building (/get-involved/private-classes-rentals) experiences for groups.

FOOD ACCESS AND DOUBLE DOLLARS (/PROGRAMS/DUOLES-DOLLARS)

Strives to make healthy, local food affordable for all.

Our Feed Access department supports all three SFC programs by coordinating community engagement efforts across all teams and advancing projects that make healthy food more equitable and accessible to all Austin-area residents.

SFC Double Dollars (/programs/double-dollars) doubles the dollar amount of Lone Star (SNAP), WIC and FMNP Vouchers. This way, families can get more fruits and vegetables at SFC Farmers' Markets and partner sites.

Through our School and Community Farm Stands (/programs/farm-direct/school-and-community-farm-stands), hosted in partnership with the City of Austin, Farmshare Austin, and Go Austin!/Vamos Austin! (GAVA), through the Fresh for Less program, we offer fresh, affordable, convenient, and nutritious food from local Austin farms at reduced prices, making it more affordable than a traditional farmers' market.

Dear Taxpayer:

This is in response to your Nov. 18, 2010, request for information regarding your tax-exempt status.

Our records indicate that you were recognized as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code in a determination letter issued in August 2008.

Our records also indicate that you are not a private foundation within the meaning of section 509(a) of the Code because you are described in section(s) 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi).

Donors may deduct contributions to you as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, or gifts to you or for your use are deductible for Federal estate and gift tax purposes if they meet the applicable provisions of sections 2055, 2106, and 2522 of the Code.

Please refer to our website www.irs.gov/eo for information regarding filing requirements. Specifically, section 6033(j) of the Code provides that failure to file an annual information return for three consecutive years results in revocation of tax-exempt status as of the filing due date of the third return for organizations required to file. We will publish a list of organizations whose tax-exempt status was revoked under section 6033(j) of the Code on our website beginning in early 2011.
If you have any questions, please call us at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter.

Sincerely yours,

   East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan (EROCNP)

☑ The document(s) is included in its entirety.

NOTE: Per the requirements of 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(ii), a plan may consist of one or multiple, but complementary, local planning documents that together create a cohesive agenda for the plan's specific area. No more than two (2) local plans may be submitted for each proposed Development. A Consolidated Plan, One-year Action Plan or any other plan prepared to meet HUD requirements will not meet the requirements, unless evidence is presented that additional efforts have been undertaken to meet the requirements in the QAP. The concerted revitalization plan may be a Tax Increment Reinvestment Zone ("TIRZ") or Tax Increment Finance ("TIF) or similar plan. A city- or county-wide comprehensive plan, by itself, does not equate to a concerted revitalization plan.
The URBAN CRP meets the following criteria as required by 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iii)(I-IV):

1. The concerted revitalization plan, or each of the local planning documents that compose the plan, must have been adopted by the municipality or county in which the Development Site is located.
   - This packet includes the resolution(s) adopting the plan or local planning documents that compose the plan; or
   - This packet includes the resolution(s) of delegation and other evidence in the form of certifications by authorized persons confirming the adoption of the plan(s) and budget(s).

2. The problems in the revitalization area must be identified through a process in which affected local residents had an opportunity to express their views on problems facing the area, and how those problems should be addressed and prioritized. A description of eligible problems for a CRP are found at 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iii)(II)(a) through (c).
   - A description of the process for public input on the problems in the plan can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) EROCPN pp. 2-9.
   - A description of the problems identified by the process can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) EROCPN pp. 27-45.
   - A description of how the process determined how the problems should be addressed and prioritized can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) EROCPN pp. 27-45.

3. The goals of the adopted plan must have a history of sufficient, documented and committed funding to accomplish its purposes on its established timetable. This funding must be flowing in accordance with the plan, such that the problems identified within the plan are currently being or have been sufficiently addressed.
   - A description of the goals of the plan can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) EROCPN pp. 27-45.
   - A description of the plan’s timetable can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) Letter from the City with implementation chart.
   - A description of sufficient, documented and committed funding for the plan can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) Letter from the City with implementation chart, which documents at least $8M in funding for the plan.
   - Evidence that the funding has been flowing to address the problems identified in the plan, or that the problems have been sufficiently addressed, can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) Letter from the City with implementation chart.

4. The plan must either be current at the time of Application and must officially continue for a minimum of three years thereafter OR the work to address the items in need of mitigation or rehabilitation has begun and, additionally, the Applicant must include confirmation from a public official who oversees the plan that accomplishment of those objectives is on schedule and there are no budgetary or other obstacles to accomplishing the purposes of the plan.
   - The plan is current at the time of Application, and the effective period for the plan is and can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) ; or
   - Evidence that the work to address problems in the plan has begun can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) Letter from the City with implementation chart; AND.
   - Confirmation from a public official that accomplishment of those objectives is on schedule and there are no budgetary or other obstacles can be found at (document name, page number(s), etc) Letter from the City.

Provide any comments or additional information in the box below, if applicable.

The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan was Adopted November 16, 2006 as an amendment to the City of Austin’s Comprehensive Plan. The Plan is considered current and in progress, as confirmed in a letter by the City of Austin Community Development Manager. The letter also provided a report on past, present, and future funding for projects within the Plan’s boundaries.
URBAN CRP Requested Scoring. Points may be selected under 1, 2, and 3 below for no more than a total of 7 points.

1. Applications will receive four (4) points for a letter from the appropriate local official providing documentation of measurable improvements within the revitalization area based on the targeted efforts outlined in the plan and in reference to the requirements of 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iii)(I-IV). The letter must also discuss how the improvements will lead to an appropriate area for the placement of housing.
   - A letter from a public official is included in this packet (an adopted resolution may be submitted in place of a letter).

2. Applications may receive (2) points in addition to those above if the Development is explicitly identified in a resolution by the municipality or county as contributing more than any other to the concerted revitalization efforts of the municipality or county (as applicable).
   - An adopted resolution from the city of __________ is included in this packet (a letter MAY NOT be submitted in place of a resolution).
   - An adopted resolution from ______ county is included in this packet (a letter MAY NOT be submitted in place of a resolution).

   NOTE: A municipality or county may only identify one Development per CRP area during each Application Round for the additional points under this subclause, unless the concerted revitalization plan includes more than one distinct area within the city or county, in which case a resolution may be provided for each Development in its respective area. The resolution from the Governing Body of the municipality or county that approved the plan is required to be submitted in the Application. If multiple Applications submit resolutions under this subclause from the same Governing Body for the same CRP area, none of the Applications shall be eligible for the additional points, unless the resolutions address the respective and distinct areas described in the plan.

3. Applications will receive (1) point in addition to those under 1. and 2. above if the development is in a location that would score at least 4 points under Opportunity Index, §11.9(c)(4)(B), except for the criteria found in §11.9(c)(4)(A) and subparagraphs §11.9(c)(4)(A)(i) and §11.9(c)(4)(A)(ii).
   - Development Site is within the required radius of the eligible amenities and/or services listed below, pursuant to §11.9(c)(4)(B)(i) of the QAP.
   - A map showing the Development Site, location of and distance to the amenities, and evidence that the amenity meets all requirements of the rule, as applicable, is included.

1. Introduction

Neighborhood Plan Geography

The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is comprised of three planning areas: Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley. These three areas were selected by the Austin City Council to undergo neighborhood planning during the 2003-04 fiscal year; the neighborhood plan created for these three areas is an update of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan adopted in 1980. Neighborhood planning staff held the first stakeholder meeting in October 2003 for this planning effort, which was later named the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. The boundaries of the combined planning area are: IH-35 to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Grove Blvd. and Montopolis Drive to the east, and Ben White Blvd./Hwy 71 to the south. The Riverside Planning Area is bounded by IH-35 to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Pleasant Valley Road to the east and Oltorf Street to the south. The Parker Lane Planning Area is bounded IH-35 to the west, Oltorf Street to the north, Montopolis Road to the east and Ben White Blvd./Highway 71 to the south. The Pleasant Valley Planning Area is bounded by Pleasant Valley Road to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Grove Blvd. to the east and Oltorf Street to the south.

Dear Ms. Gamble:

I am writing this letter per the requirements of the 2019 QAP with respect to a concerted revitalization plan within the City of Austin. The Vi Collina development, located in the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning area is within a revitalization area that was identified, studied, discussed, and addressed in the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan.

Attached is a report that gives an overview of the measurable improvements achieved by the City in the revitalization area based on the target efforts outlined in these plans. The report outlines items that have been completed, are ongoing/currently in progress, or anticipated to be undertaken in the future. The accomplishments of the objectives outlined in the plan are on schedule and there are no budgetary or other obstacles to accomplishing the purposes of the plan.

We believe that these improvements have increased the livability of the area by 1) Improving neighborhood stability by creating a neighborhood comprised of high-quality, well maintained, mixed income housing that accommodates families and individuals; 2) Preserving the Neighborhood character and enhance livability; and 3) Improving the infrastructure. We believe that all of these projects have led to a safer, more attractive, amenity filled area appropriate for housing.

The Plan and the efforts towards the Plan are still current and will continue at a minimum for the next three years.

We are excited at the prospect of affordable housing being available in this part of town and believe that it fits in well with the revitalization efforts we have already undertaken.

Sincerely,

Further improvements in the Riverside corridor are being planned under 2012 bond project 5386.004. 6/2013 (PDRD): The Country Club Creek Trail underpass at Riverside Drive has been completed. <td>9/2011: Riverside's #8 priority FY 2012-13. 5/2011 (Contact Team): Safe crosswalks for our dense area are still a high priority. Our NPA is not walkable. 10/2008 (POR): Riverside's #1 priority for FY 2009-10. 8/2008 (Contact Team): Safe crosswalks for our dense area is our highest priority. Need re-striping, safe protection within the median, better signage and signals, and crosswalks at bus stops. Pedestrians cross anywhere so documentation at any one location is difficult. Issue has surfaced repeatedly in corridor study meetings. Providing a safe way for citizens to cross Riverside at multiple locations as well as Pleasant Valley at Lakeshore is positively a priority. Locations along Riverside include: at Summit, at Lakeshore, at Parker, at Royal Crest, at Tinnin Ford, at Willow Creek, at Pleasant Valley, some point between Pleasant Valley and Willow Creek and Lakeshore at Pleasant Valley. The Country Club Creek Trailhead needs sage crossings across Pleasant Valley to both the south side of Lakeshore Blvd. and the north side.</td>

| Provide a safe pedestrian crossing across Pleasant Valley Road at Lakeshore Boulevard to connect the existing Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail to the proposed Country Club Creek hike and bike trail. | # Not Ranked | Complete | 2/2011 (Public Works): Signalized crosswalk on the south side are being added Fiscal Year 2011. 5/2009 (Public Works): Signalized crosswalks are provided on the west and south sides. 10/2008 (PDR): Riverside's #2 priority for FY 2009-10. 8/2008 (NPCT): Safe crosswalks for our dense area are our highest priority. Not only does re-striping need to happen, but need safe protection within the median, better signage and signals. Because of a lack of safe, clearly marked, signalized crosswalks, pedestrians cross anywhere and everywhere, so documentation at any one location is difficult. Issue has surfaced repeatedly in corridor study meetings. Providing a safe way for citizens to cross Riverside at multiple locations as well as Pleasant Valley at Lakeshore is positively a priority. Locations along Riverside include: at Summit, at Lakeshore, at Parker, at Royal Crest, at Tinnin Ford, at Willow Creek, at Pleasant Valley, some point between Pleasant Valley and Willow Creek and Lakeshore at Pleasant Valley. The Country Club Creek Trailhead, plainly visible now on the east side of this intersection, needs sage crossings across Pleasant Valley to both the south side of Lakeshore Blvd. and the north side. Additional crosswalks are also needed at bus stops. | | Public Works | Austin Transportation Department |

Regional Mobility - Project Risks
The two biggest risks identified at this time are:
1) R2 – Spicewood Springs Road: Community input has not been collected to date. This risk will be mitigated by up-front early public engagement as part of the PER process.
2) Partnership Project Delivery for R1, R4, R5 & R6 is contingent upon environmental review/approval process and partner delivery schedule. This risk will be mitigated with constant communication with partners and timely execution of Advanced Funding Agreements.

2016 Mobility Bond
Corridor Improvement Projects ($482 million)

Introduction
The 2016 Mobility Bond dedicates $482 million to Corridor Improvement Projects. Per Council Resolution 20160818-074 (Council’s “Contract with Voters”), the funding is to be invested in implementation of Corridor Plans for:

- North Lamar Boulevard
- Burnet Road
- Airport Boulevard
- East Martin Luther King Jr Boulevard/FM 969
- South Lamar Boulevard
- East Riverside Drive
- Guadalupe Street
- William Cannon Drive and/or Slaughter Lane

New Corridor Preliminary Engineering Reports (PERs) and Additional Critical Arterials/Corridors
The 2016 Mobility Bond includes funding for preliminary engineering and design of improvements for additional critical arterials and corridors. Aside from William Cannon Drive and/or Slaughter Lane, the projects in this category are not eligible for construction through the 2016 Mobility Bond Program. The critical arterials and corridors for preliminary engineering and design are:

- William Cannon Drive
- Slaughter Lane
- North Lamar/Guadalupe Street (additional segment)
- Rundberg West
- Rundberg East
- Colony Loop Road
- East Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard/FM 969 (additional segment)
- South Congress Avenue
- Manchaca
- South Pleasant Valley
Early-Out Projects

Per Resolution 20160818-074, William Cannon Drive and Slaughter Lane are the two corridors that could receive project implementation funding in the 2016 Mobility Bond but do not already have a completed preliminary engineering study. As such, Staff has expedited preliminary engineering for these two corridors using an existing, Council-authorized engineering rotation list for individual corridor consultant assignments. The City provided a Notice to Proceed to the engineering firms in February 2017 and we anticipate launching the first round of public input in April 2017.

Project Delivery
On Feb. 9, 2016, City Council approved a contract award for HDR Engineering to serve as the Corridor Improvements Consultant. The Consultant will provide the following services:

- Assist in the development of the Corridor Construction Program as directed by Council’s contract with the voters, Resolution 20160818-074.
- Capture best practices and lessons learned for enhancing, improving and accelerating capital project delivery processes to assist Staff in meeting the goal of an eight-year delivery timeframe.
- Develop a Communications and Community Outreach Plan for the Corridor Program and assist in its implementation.
- Develop and assist in the implementation of a MBE/WBE Outreach Plan for the Corridor Program.
- Provide other services as needed for the Corridor Program such as Staff augmentation, inter-agency coordination and program management assistance during implementation.

In December 2016, Interim City Manager Elaine Hart established the Corridor Program Implementation Office. The mission of the Corridor Program Implementation Office is to design and construct corridors that support mobility, livability, and other outcomes as outlined by City Council for the 2016 Mobility Bond Program. The Corridor Program Implementation Office will work with the Corridor Consultant to develop the Corridor Construction Program for Council’s consideration.

Following Council consideration and approval of the Corridor Consultant contract award, staff has been working with the selected team to negotiate and finalize a contract so that the consultant can begin work as soon as possible. We anticipate that a final contract will be in place by March 2017. Staff will be returning to Council to provide an update on the prioritization criteria that will be used for Corridor Construction Program project selection. In early 2018, Staff and the consultant will again return to Council to provide recommendations for the Corridor Construction Program as outlined in the Contract with the Voters.

Once Council approves the Corridor Construction Program, we will advance the recommended projects into design and construction phases and seek opportunities for accelerated delivery in order to meet the goal of an eight-year implementation timeframe.

Project Selection

Council’s Contract with Voters is the guiding document for implementation of the Corridor Improvement Projects. The contract articulates a desired eight-year implementation timeframe and describes criteria to be used for project selection. The contract directs the City Manager, upon voter approval, to “begin coordination, design, and engineering activities as soon as possible” for North Lamar Boulevard, Burnet Road, Airport Boulevard, East Martin Luther King Jr Boulevard/FM 969, South Lamar Boulevard, East Riverside Drive, Guadalupe Street, William Cannon Drive, and/or Slaughter Lane. The Resolution directs that “these activities are to “develop recommendations for a construction program for City Council consideration.”

When we have gathered sufficient data to develop potential construction elements for the Corridor Improvement Projects, and before any construction funding is appropriated or construction initiated for these projects, the City Manager is directed to bring forth recommendations supported by identifiable metrics for implementation of a ‘Corridor Construction Program’ in ways that prioritize: a) reduction in congestion; b) improved level of service and reduced delay at intersections for all modes of travel; c) connectivity, and improved effectiveness of transit operations within these corridors and throughout the system; and subject to the foregoing, also makes allowances for: i) preservation of existing affordable housing and local businesses on the corridors, and opportunities for development of new affordable housing along the corridors, including, but not limited to, the use of community land trusts, tax increment finance zones along corridors, homestead preservation zone tools, revisions to the S.M.A.R.T. Housing Program, and targeted investments on the corridors utilizing affordable housing bonds and the Housing Trust Fund; ii) geographic dispersion of funding; and iii) opportunities to facilitate increased supply of mixed-income housing.
Subject to the above, the contract says that Corridor Construction Program “shall recommend implementation timelines in accordance with need, as established by the Imagine Austin Comprehensive Plan, the Critical Arterials List, Top Crash Location Intersection Priorities List, and other policy plans” identified in the Contract with Voters.

Also subject to the above, “in implementing the ‘Corridor Construction Program,’ the City Manager shall further emphasize making corridors livable, walkable, safe, and transit-supportive, and aligned with the principles and metrics in the Imagine Austin Comprehensive Plan, with the goals of reducing vehicle miles travels, increasing transit ridership and non-vehicular trips, and promoting healthy, equitable, and complete communities as growth occurs on these corridors.”

The Contract with Voters directs the City Manager to “revisit and update existing corridor plans as needed to ensure final design and implementation conforms to the region’s most recently adopted transportation plans and recently adopted policies and standards for transportation infrastructure design, including, but not limited to”:

- Capital Metro Connections 2025
- Capital Metro Service Guidelines and Standards
- Project Connect Regional High Capacity Transit Plan
- City of Austin Strategic Housing Plan
- City of Austin Transit Priority Policy
- City of Austin Strategic Mobility Plan
- City of Austin Sidewalk Master Plan
- City of Austin Urban Trails Master Plan
- Vision Zero Plan
- Applicable National Association of City Transportation Officials standards
- Imagine Austin Comprehensive Plan

Corridor Improvement Project Risks

The delivery of wide-scale transportation projects, such as improvements that will be undertaken as part of the Corridor Construction Program, require a high-level of planning, analysis, coordination, and public input. Project risks can be divided into four primary categories and are described below:

- Accelerated delivery: The scale of the program and accelerated delivery schedule outlined in the Contract with Voters will require additional resources. City Staff is conducting an analysis on existing available resources as well as resource needs, and will be returning to City Council in April with this information. In addition, we are looking at strategies to mitigate risks associated with project delivery components that can take longer to resolve, such as utilities coordination/relocation and real estate acquisition that might be associated with project implementation.

- Multiple phases of work required: Moving from project planning to construction is a process, and projects that comprise the Corridor Construction Program require preliminary and design phases of work as well as feasibility and constructability assessments. These activities must take place before construction may begin.

- Coordination is key: Planning and delivery of corridor improvements requires internal and external coordination. Coordination will be needed with the public and private utilities as well as RESOLUTION NO. 20190207-014

WHEREAS, Vi Collina, LLC ("Applicant"), its successors, assigns, or affiliates, proposes to construct an affordable housing multi-family housing development of approximately 84 units to be located at or near 2401 E. Re: Resolution of Support for Vi Collina

Dear Ms. Lasch,

At the Austin City Council meeting on February 7, 2019, staff presented the requests from multiple entities for resolutions of support for applications to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs Competitive Low Income Housing Tax Credit Program. Generally, staff presents these resolutions en masse, having reviewed and vetted each request, and Council approves the resolutions on consent. This year, the City of Austin received eighteen requests for resolutions of support, with ten proposals ultimately going before Council. As staff worked to prepare all of the documentation and resolutions for Council to approve, we unfortunately made a minor error in the drafting of the resolution of support for Vi Collina. This resolution was advertised and listed in the agenda as being in support of the Vi Collina application. The language in the agenda clearly stated that this resolution was to be in support of Vi Collina. The supporting documentation for this agenda item included the original request from you, the applicant, for a resolution of support for Vi Collina, as well as multiple documents showing staff’s analysis of the location proposed in your application. Further, the resolution lists Vi Collina, LLC as the “applicant” and identifies the proposed development to be located at 2401 East Oltorf Street. Unfortunately, the resolution then states that the applicant intends to apply for the tax credits for “the Development to be known as Tierra Skyline.” This was an error. The resolution is in support of the application submitted by Vi Collina, LLC for the development to be located at 2401 East Oltorf Street, to be known as Vi Collina, or whatever name the developer ultimately chooses. Please accept this as an explanation of events and an apology for the confusion.

Sincerely,

Three Year Inspection Summary

- Inspectors routinely monitor compliance with Licensing standards, rules and law. At a minimum, licensed and certified operations are inspected at least once a year; Registered Child Care Homes are inspected at least once every two years, Listed Family Homes are inspected only if there is a report of abuse/neglect or if we receive a report that the home is caring for too many children.

- When operations have serious deficiencies or a significant number of deficiencies, repeat deficiencies, or fail to make corrections timely, they are inspected more frequently by licensing staff, to ensure the health and safety of children in care.

- In the last three years, Licensing conducted the following:

  16 - Inspections
  0 - Assessments
  8 - Self Reported Incidents
  1 - Reports

Click on the inspection type to see additional details related to each inspection.

- There are many standards that an operation must comply with; the total number varies for each type of operation. An operation or home is generally given an opportunity to correct deficiencies and has the right to request a review of a deficiency. Deficiencies pending review are not included in the two year history.

Three Year Compliance Summary

- During the last three years, 2072 standards were evaluated for compliance at this operation.

  - Of the standards evaluated 9 deficiencies were cited.

Click on the number of deficiencies to see additional details.

- Each standard is assigned a weight. The weight ensures all inspectors consider standard violations in the same way, and represents the potential impact a deficiency might have on children. Review the inspection reports to learn more about each citation. It's important to remember; weights are not assigned to an individual operation, inspection, or circumstance and are not intended to result in a ranking of operations or score.

- The weights of the standard deficiencies cited in the past three years are as follows:

  4 were weighted as High
  5 were weighted as Medium - High
  0 were weighted as Medium
  0 were weighted as Medium - Low
  0 were weighted as Low

Click on the weight to see additional details about each deficiency.

Disclaimer: The online compliance history includes only information after January 1, 2002. In addition, the online compliance history does not include minimum standard violations or corrective or adverse actions until after the child-care operation has had due process or waived its rights. For compliance history prior to January 1, 2002 or history with pending due process, please contact your local licensing office. Child-Care Licensing disclaims liability for any errors or omissions from the compliance history information.

SKATE PARKS

The Austin Parks and Recreation Department currently operates two skate parks - one in Mabel Davis District Park and the Heath Eiland and Morgan Moss BMX Skate Park at 1213 Shoal Creek Boulevard next to Austin Recreation Center.

Mabel Davis District Park - Skate Park

Austin's first skate park is located in Mabel Davis District Park at 3427 Parker Lane. The skate park includes a skate bowl, streetscape elements and a grass seating area for interested onlookers. It opened in late-2005 and is a 12,000-square-feet concrete skate park.

Heath Eiland and Morgan Moss BMX Skate Park

Heath Eiland and Morgan Moss BMX Skate Park opened at 1213 Shoal Creek Boulevard on June 16, 2011. This 30,000-square-feet facility features a skate bowl, large plaza with streetscape elements, shade structures, unisex restroom and skateable public art piece. This project was funded by the 2006 bond election and designed by New Line Skateparks out of British Columbia, Canada.
The Faith Food Pantry helps over 200 persons in 70 families per month, with an all-volunteer staff filling requests for food that we receive from other churches and social service agencies, who call the pantry's unlisted telephone number to request groceries for their members or clients. The history of our church's food pantry includes starting four other Austin pantries, and in founding the Central Texas Food Bank.

ORDINANCE NO. 20061116-055

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE AUSTIN TOMORROW COMPREHENSIVE PLAN BY ADOPTING THE EAST RIVERSIDE/OLTORF COMBINED NEIGHBORHOOD PLAN.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF AUSTIN:

PART 1. FINDINGS.

(A) In 1979, the City Council adopted the “Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan”

(B) Article X, Section 5 of the City Charter authorizes the City Council to adopt by ordinance additional elements of a comprehensive plan that are necessary or desirable to establish and implement policies for growth, development, and beautification, including neighborhood, community, or area-wide plans

(C) In October, 2003, an initial survey was distributed to residents in the neighborhood planning area, and subsequent meetings were held with the City of Austin Neighborhood planning staff and homeowners, renters, business owners, non-profit organizations and non-resident property owners to prepare a neighborhood plan. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan followed a process first outlined by the Citizens’ Planning Committee in 1995, and refined by the Ad Hoc Neighborhood Planning Committee in 1996. The City Council endorsed this approach for neighborhood planning in a 1997 resolution. This process mandated representation of all of the stakeholders in the neighborhood and required active public outreach. The City Council directed the Planning Commission to consider the plan in a 2003 resolution. During the planning process, the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan planning team gathered information and solicited public input through the following means:

1. neighborhood planning team meetings,
2. collection of existing data,
3. neighborhood inventory,
4. neighborhood survey,
5. neighborhood workshops, and
(6) community-wide meetings

(D) The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan recommends action by the neighborhood planning team, the City, and by other agencies to preserve and improve the neighborhood. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan has thirteen major goals:

(1) Preserve and enhance the character of existing residential neighborhoods

(2) Increase home ownership opportunities that are compatible with surrounding properties

(3) Improve the appearance, vitality and safety of existing commercial corridors and community amenities and encourage quality urban design and form that ensures adequate transition between commercial properties and adjacent residential neighborhoods

(4) Encourage a balanced mix of residential, civic, commercial, office and other land uses without adversely affecting adjacent residential neighborhoods

(5) Enhance the transportation network to allow residents and visitors to get around safely and efficiently by foot, bicycle, automobile, and public transit

(6) Protect and enhance the Town Lake Waterfront as well as creek areas and other natural amenities

(7) Preserve and enhance existing parks, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course and other open spaces and create opportunities for additional public open space

(8) Provide affordable housing opportunities through redevelopment of existing multifamily developments

(9) Create interesting, lively, inviting, attractive, safe and comfortable non-residential environments that will encourage walking, biking and transit use and be appealing to passing motorists

(10) Create convenient and accessible parking areas that do not dominate the environment and provide safe interaction between vehicles and pedestrians

(11) Encourage urban design strategies for single-family neighborhoods that preserve, complement and enhance existing character
(12) Promote multifamily structures that relate well to the surrounding environment, utilize a variety of building forms, have a thoughtful parking scheme, provide public open space and include a variety of appropriate landscape options.

(13) Minimize the visual impact of industrial properties from other districts and public spaces in the neighborhood planning area.

(E) The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan goals are further described in the Land Use, Urban Design, Transportation, and Parks, Trails, Open Space and the Natural Environment sections of the Plan.

(F) On June 13, 2006, the Planning Commission held a public hearing on the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan, and recommended adoption of the plan by the City Council.

(G) The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is appropriate for adoption as an element of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan furthers the City Council’s goal of achieving appropriate, compatible development within the area. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is necessary and desirable to establish and implement policies for growth, development, and beautification in the area.

PART 2. ADOPTION AND DIRECTION.

(A) Chapter 5 of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan is amended to add the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan as Section 5-21 of the Comprehensive Plan as set forth in Exhibit A, and the Future Land Use Map as set forth in Exhibit B, and which are incorporated as part of this ordinance, save and except the following properties:

Neighborhood Plan Geography

The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is comprised of three planning areas: Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley. These three areas were selected by the Austin City Council to undergo neighborhood planning during the 2003-04 fiscal year; the neighborhood plan created for these three areas is an update of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan adopted in 1980. Neighborhood planning staff held the first stakeholder meeting in October 2003 for this planning effort, which was later named the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. The boundaries of the combined planning area are: IH-35 to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Grove Blvd. and Montopolis Drive to the east, and Ben White Blvd./Hwy 71 to the south. The Riverside Planning Area is bounded by IH-35 to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Pleasant Valley Road to the east and Oltorf Street to the south. The Parker Lane Planning Area is bounded IH-35 to the west, Oltorf Street to the north, Montopolis Road to the east and Ben White Blvd./Highway 71 to the south. The Pleasant Valley Planning Area is bounded by Pleasant Valley Road to the west, the Colorado River to the north, Grove Blvd. to the east and Oltorf Street to the south.
The purpose of the neighborhood plan is to create a long-range vision for the entire area that will guide future development and improve the quality of life by making recommendations that treat themes such as land use, zoning, transportation and urban design. Zoning discussions were also a major component of the neighborhood planning process as zoning is the tool used to implement the vision established in the future land use map. Adopted rezonings are reflected in the zoning ordinances that accompany this neighborhood plan. The voluntary urban design guidelines have been included to encourage quality development projects that reflect the desires of the people in this community. Throughout the three year planning process there were many steps and numerous meetings were held. The following provides a description of the process to which many stakeholders within these planning areas dedicated their time and energy.

The Neighborhood Planning Process

Initial Stakeholders Meeting
The first public meeting of the planning process, which took place in October, 2003, was targeted to neighborhood association leaders and other key stakeholders in the area. City staff made a presentation about the neighborhood planning process and asked for suggestions from attendees about how to enhance participation in the process.

Initial Survey
In October, 2003, all residents, property owners, and business owners in the combined Neighborhood Planning Area (NPA) were invited by mail to participate in the online Initial Survey. Surveys were also made available at several neighborhood pick-up locations and through neighborhood association presidents.

The Initial Survey asked respondents to identify the assets and challenges in the area, specify where they think new businesses or residential uses should be located, and indicate their preferences regarding Special Use Options and the placement of new sidewalks. The results of the survey are included in Appendix B. The Vision Survey asked respondents to choose the statements that most reflect their vision for the future of the community. Priority responses were incorporated into the vision and goal statements of this Plan on pages 10-11.
A total of 18,276 survey letters were mailed. Approximately 10% of these letters were returned or were duplicates. The response rate for the remaining survey letters was about 2%.

Community Workshop
In December 2003, a Community Workshop was held at Advanced Micro Devices. All residents, property owners, and business owners were invited, and 41 people attended. The purpose of this workshop was to identify the assets and strengths of the neighborhood and those aspects of the neighborhood that need improvement. Participants took part in a map-based exercise called Strengths, Opportunities, and Challenges. The results of this exercise are included in Appendix E.

Services Forum
There are many concerns that come up during the neighborhood planning process that are considered to be daily operational issues, which city departments respond to on a regular basis. As a result, a forum was held at the beginning of the process so that stakeholders could voice their concerns related to such problems as overgrown weeds on vacant lots, potholes, street light malfunctions, etc. Representatives from several city departments attended the forum and received commentary regarding such issues. The services forum was also an opportunity for stakeholders in the planning process to select their preferred name for the combined planning area, which was the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan.

Student Outreach – UT Focus Group
With the assistance of University of Texas at Austin student Sarah Price, city staff conducted a focus group with UT students in March, 2004, to identify issues of particular interest to students living in the planning area. The meeting attendees participated in an activity similar to the Strengths, Opportunities, and Challenges exercise.

Land Use Meetings
From February through April of 2004, planning area stakeholders attended three land use focus groups and a land use wrap-up meeting. At these meetings, participants brainstormed alternative land uses. for the tracts identified as opportunities or challenges at the Community Workshop. Staff then presented three scenarios based on the brainstorming activity; the scenarios varied in the amount of change proposed. After further discussion by participants, staff developed a single draft future land use map to use as the basis for zoning discussions. This future land use map was modified somewhat during the zoning meetings as communications continued and/or new information was discovered.

Riverside Drive Property Owner Meeting
In response to the tremendous interest in the future redevelopment of Riverside Drive, staff invited property owners along Riverside Drive between IH-35 and Pleasant Valley Road to a targeted meeting in June 2004. Meeting attendees were asked to describe their vision for the future of Riverside Drive and ways that the City could encourage quality redevelopment along the corridor. Many spoke about their desire to expand their own businesses or encourage redevelopment in the area that is safer, more attractive, and more accessible to various modes of transportation. Increased code enforcement, financial incentives, and improved transportation facilities were cited as ways to encourage quality redevelopment.

Initial Zoning Meetings
Planning area stakeholders began discussing possible rezoning recommendations beginning in August through September 2004. One meeting was held for each of the three planning areas within the combined planning area. At each meeting, staff presented a set of proposed zoning changes based on the draft future land use map and NPZD zoning principles. Meeting attendees separated into smaller groups to discuss the recommendations in a round-robin format. Staff recorded input on the proposed zoning changes and made note of new recommendations made by the small groups.

Zoning Survey
During the month of October, in order to get feedback on the zoning proposals that came out of the initial zoning meetings for each of the three planning areas and to ensure that owners of properties proposed for rezoning were aware of the planning process, city staff distributed a survey about the zoning recommendations. All owners of properties proposed for rezoning and all of the participants in the planning process to date were mailed a survey asking for their preferred zoning for the identified tracts.
Mixed Use Meeting
Land use discussions resulted in the designation of certain properties as possibly appropriate for a mixture of uses on the future land use map. As such, at the beginning of October a meeting was held to discuss how mixed-use could be incorporated into the zoning element of the neighborhood plan for this area. An explanation of the mixed-use combining district and the different mixed-use special options was provided and discussion centered on how mixed-use could be tailored so that it was appropriate for this particular area of the city.

Special Use Infill Options Meeting
Prior to the next round of zoning discussions, a meeting was held in mid-November 2004 to present and get feedback on special development tools that are available for selection through the neighborhood planning process. An education session was first held so that participants were aware of the background and purpose of the Infill Options as well as the use and design details that are specific to each Option. The appropriateness of the area-wide Options (Secondary Apartment, Small Lot Amnesty and Corner Store) was discussed in detail for the three planning areas at this meeting. The desirability of site-specific Options (Urban Home, Cottage Lot, Neighborhood Urban Center, Residential Infill and Mixed Use Building) was addressed at subsequent meetings when specific properties were under discussion.

Post-Survey Zoning Meetings
After the zoning survey responses were tabulated, area stakeholders met to discuss the survey results in six meetings, two for each planning area. Staff presented its rezoning recommendations and the results from the zoning survey and assisted the meeting stakeholders in identifying tracts where a majority of stakeholders supported an alternative recommendation to the staff recommendation.
Parks, Trails, Open Space and Environment Meeting
In late March a meeting was held at the Daniel Ruiz Library to discuss parks and open space issues within the planning area. Sarah Campbell from the Parks and Recreation Department attended the meeting along with neighborhood planning staff to assist with the presentation and answer questions. The main topics covered included:

- Sharing the recent site plan for the Colorado River Park.
- Discussing the ongoing remediation efforts at Mabel Davis Park, brainstorming possible infrastructure improvements and prioritizing future park improvements/enhancements.
- Discussing the possibility of putting small neighborhood greens within the planning area.
- Presenting the work that has been done by the Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance, a group formed out of this neighborhood planning process, to plan a trail network along Country Club Creek that would connect with the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail.
- Reviewing the goals, objectives and recommendations that had been generated at that point from survey information and comments at previous meetings; feedback was solicited and recorded.

Transportation Meeting
A meeting to talk about transportation concerns was held in early April 2005 at the AMD Campus. The purpose of this meeting was to identify transportation issues within the three neighborhood planning areas so that specific recommendations could be drafted for the Plan. Discussion and brainstorming among the groups focused on the topics of roads, public transit, bicycle and pedestrian issues. Representatives from each small group shared their group’s discussion with the larger audience to maintain a comprehensive view of transportation needs in the entire area. At the conclusion of the meeting, each participant had the opportunity to specify their sidewalk priorities, determined by planning area, utilizing a dot voting procedure so that the Public Works Department will have clear information regarding neighborhood stakeholder sidewalk preferences.

Voluntary Urban Design Guidelines and Design Tools Meeting
In mid-April 2005 neighborhood planning stakeholders attended a meeting to discuss the design tools that are available for selection through the neighborhood planning process in addition to the elements that should be included in the urban design section of the plan. First the details of the three design tools were presented. Afterwards, participants discussed the pros and cons of each Tool and then dot voted to determine which of them should apply to each NPA. Staff then presented a draft of voluntary guidelines for residential and industrial development based on issues and ideas from the initial survey and previous meetings. Meeting time focused on selecting elements to include in the guidelines that pertain to commercial, office and mixed-use corridors, since the redevelopment of such streets as Riverside Drive is highly desired by both residents and business owners.

Departmental Review Process

After all of the focus group meetings were conducted, draft recommendations were created in response to stakeholder feedback. These recommendations were forwarded to and reviewed by implementing departments. Those items that are supported by the relevant department are included in the body of the plan since those are most likely to be implemented in the future and have the support, but perhaps not immediate funding, of responsible departments. Those that are not supported by the implementing department are documented in Appendix A along with the departmental comments.

Neighborhood Plan Contact Team Meetings

Prior to the presentation of this Neighborhood Plan to the Planning Commission and City Council, an interim Neighborhood Planning Contact Team was created in June 2005 comprised of individuals who will uphold the vision and goals of the plan. This group will be the steward of the plan’s recommendations and tasked with monitoring their implementation. An initial meeting was held by planning staff in mid-May to introduce the role and responsibilities of a neighborhood plan contact team and explain the criteria involved in its formation. A second meeting was held at the end of June to define more clearly the structure of the Team and its organization.

Open House and Final Survey

The purpose of the open house was to present the draft East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan and receive feedback on the elements of the Plan prior to its presentation to the Planning Commission. For stakeholders unable to attend the open house, a survey was made available online and at the local library, or mailed out upon request, asking for their input on the key issues in the Plan. The survey also asked questions about the level of satisfaction with the neighborhood planning process and ways to improve it. The same survey was distributed at the open house for those individuals who were able to attend. Final Survey results can be found in Appendix F.
STANDING COMMITTEES

Advisory Committee
Throughout the planning process, a self-selected Advisory Committee met regularly with city staff to reflect on the successes and challenges of previous neighborhood planning meetings and to plan for upcoming meetings. The Advisory Committee provided important feedback to city staff on how and when to organize meetings in order to maximize interest and participation. At the end of the planning process the members of the Advisory Committee, who are also members of the interim Neighborhood Planning Contact Team, were called upon to decide upon new development proposals that were presented prior to the ratification of the plan by City Council.

Southeast Austin Trails & Greenways Alliance
Approximately six months into the planning process, a group of stakeholders concerned about creeks in the area and interested in developing trails formed a working group. The group’s primary mission was to create a trail along Country Club Creek that would connect to the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail. The group met periodically to strategize, conduct site assessments, organize clean-up events and promote the trail concept among neighborhood property owners and residents.
Neighborhood Plan Contact Team (NPCT)

Purpose, Roles and Responsibilities of the Contact Team

A Neighborhood Planning Contact Team (NPCT) is a group of individuals that upholds the vision and goals of their neighborhood plan and is the steward of the plan; this group will work towards the implementation of the plan’s recommendations. The NPCT is a group that will officially respond to plan amendment requests by stating its position on the proposals. The Team may initiate amendments to their neighborhood plan at any time and also has some authority to determine when plan amendment applications by others may be filed. Refer to Appendix D on for more information about the Neighborhood Plan Contact Team.

The NPCT shall include at least one representative from each of the following groups:

- Property owners
- Non-property owner residents (i.e. renters)
- Business owners
- Neighborhood associations

Vision and Goals

Vision

We who live, work and own property in the East Riverside/Oltorf Area wish to preserve and improve the quality of life in our residential neighborhoods, honor the cultural diversity of our residents, be good stewards of the natural environment, support the success of our locally owned businesses and major employers, and build and maintain a strong sense of community.

Goals

1. Preserve and enhance the character of existing residential neighborhoods.

2. Increase home ownership opportunities that are compatible with surrounding properties.

3. Improve the appearance, vitality and safety of existing commercial corridors and community amenities and encourage quality urban design and form that ensures adequate transition between commercial properties and adjacent residential neighborhoods.

5. Enhance the transportation network to allow residents and visitors to get around safely and efficiently by foot, bicycle, automobile and public transit.

6. Protect and enhance the Town Lake Waterfront as well as creek areas and other natural amenities.

7. Preserve and enhance existing parks, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course and other open spaces and create opportunities for additional public open space.

8. Provide affordable housing opportunities through redevelopment of existing multifamily developments.
9. Create interesting, lively, inviting, attractive, safe and comfortable non-residential environments that will encourage walking, biking and transit use and be appealing to passing motorists.

10. Create convenient and accessible parking areas that do not dominate the environment and provide safe interaction between vehicles and pedestrians.

11. Encourage urban design strategies for single-family neighborhoods that preserve, complement and enhance existing character.

12. Promote multifamily structures that relate well to the surrounding environment, utilize a variety of building forms, have a thoughtful parking scheme, provide public open space and include a variety of appropriate landscape options.

13. Minimize the visual impact of industrial properties from other districts and public spaces in the neighborhood planning area.
The top priority issues for the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan were determined by the results of the Final Survey.

1. Preserve the natural character of and access to the Town Lake Waterfront.
2. Encourage pedestrian and bike friendly neighborhoods.
3. Improve the appearance of retail corridors and preserve downtown views.

2. Statistical Profile

The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Planning Area consists of three individual Neighborhood Planning Areas: Parker Lane, Pleasant Valley and Riverside. The following statistical profile includes population, housing, density, land use, and employment data. These data were analyzed to show significant trends among the individual planning areas and illustrate comparisons between the Combined Neighborhood Planning Area and the Urban Core (refer to Map 1 on page xi). As the following tables and figures illustrate, the East Riverside/Oltorf NPA is an ethnically diverse part of the City that is comprised of a wide variety of land uses.

Please note, although Austin Community College (ACC) is exempt from municipal zoning regulations and will be excluded from a neighborhood planning rezoning and future land use designation, the following statistical profile does include all of the property owned by the college. ACC currently owns approximately 183 acres within the Pleasant Valley Neighborhood Planning Area including the Riverside Campus, and the land occupied by the Riverside Golf Course.

The combined neighborhood planning area (NPA) experienced a positive growth rate from 1990 to 2000 (70.5%), notably higher than that of the urban core (22.2%). In particular, Pleasant Valley had a 110% increase in population from 4,218 in 1990 to 8,858 in 2000. Within the NPA, Riverside comprised the highest population of 16,259, gaining almost 6,500 people within the 10-year time span.
Additionally, in 2000 the East Riverside/Oltorf NPA had a total population of 33,396, making up 9.4% of the Urban Core.

Demographics for the combined NPA point towards three main drivers for the increase in population:
1) Increase in total housing units constructed (Table 4)
2) Absorption of vacant housing units (Table 4 and Figure 3)
3) Increase in household size (Figure 6)

Pleasant Valley doubled in children age seventeen and under while Parker Lane, Riverside, and the Urban Core decreased in the same age category in terms of share of total population. Furthermore, over half of the population in Pleasant Valley was of college age (18-24), which is consistent with the abundance of multi-family units located within the area, particularly units geared toward students.

As indicated in Table 3, the combined NPA experienced an increase in ethnic diversity from 1990 to 2000. Most significantly, the largest ethnicity share of total population for the combined NPA shifted from the white population in 1990 to the Hispanic population by 2000. In particular, the Hispanic population within Pleasant Valley more than tripled resulting in almost an 11-point share jump. Furthermore, the black and Asian populations fluctuated from area to area, although Pleasant Valley had a markedly strong Asian share of total population.

Together, the increase in total housing units and the absorption of vacant housing significantly contributed to the population growth for the combined NPA and urban core (Table 4). By 2000, the combined NPA experienced a positive shift in occupied housing units with an 18 point drop in the vacancy rate which can be attributed to the increase of in-migration into the urban core in the early to mid-90s. Particularly, Pleasant Valley had an increase in housing units by one-third and a dramatic drop of 28 points in the vacancy rate resulting in a 110% increase in population.

As depicted in Figure 4, two of the three individual neighborhood planning areas experienced decreases in owner occupancy over the decade, the opposite trend that occurred within the entire Urban Core (which saw a 1.1 percentage point increase in owner occupancy). The Pleasant Valley and Riverside NPAs both saw an average decline in owner occupancy of 2 percentage points; the Pleasant Valley NPA experienced the largest decrease by 2.4 points. The Parker Lane NPA, however, experienced a 2.9 percentage point increase in owner-occupied housing units. This NPA has the largest percentage of single family development. and the lowest percentage of multifamily development when compared to the other two NPAs.

Figure 5 illustrates that the predominant type of housing in all three planning areas is multifamily. The Riverside NPA has the largest percentage of multifamily and the smallest percentage of single family housing. In contrast, the Parker Lane NPA has the highest percentage of single family development and the smallest percentage of multifamily. In addition, the Parker Lane NPA has a significant percentage of duplex development relative to both the Pleasant Valley and Riverside NPAs.

Note: A household includes all people who occupy a housing unit as their usual place of residence. Households may be family or non family households. (US Census Bureau)

Both the combined NPA and the Urban Core showed an increase in the number of persons per household over the 1990 to 2000 period (Figure 6), which correlates with the increase in total population experienced in both of these areas. In particular, Pleasant Valley had a significant boost in the number of persons per household from 1.7 persons in 1990 to 2.3 persons in 2000.

All three NPAs experienced increases in gross density from 1990 to 2000 as did the Urban Core (refer to figure on following page). The Riverside NPA (745 acres) had three times as many people per acre as the Parker Lane NPA, the Pleasant Valley NPA or the Urban Core. This high number (21.82) is due in part to the fact that over one-third of the land use in the Riverside NPA is comprised of multifamily residential. In contrast, Pleasant Valley (which has double the acreage of the Riverside NPA), had the lowest gross density per acre (6.0) in 2000. Contributing factors to this low gross density include the presence of the Colorado River, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course, the ACC Riverside Campus, and a sizable industrial park district.

Notes: The total may not match the sum of each row due to rounding. Multifamily includes rental and owner occupied housing units (i.e. condominiums).

Multifamily residential is the predominant land use for the combined area, most notably, the Riverside NPA whose land use is over one-third multifamily. The prevailing land use in the Parker Lane NPA is single-family residential, while the Pleasant Valley NPA has more open space (35%) than multifamily and single family residential combined (refer to graphs on the following page for a visual illustration of the above statistics).

Management & Professional occupations accounted for almost a third of the employment within the combined NPA. Specifically, over 40% of the workforce within Parker Lane had Management & Professional occupations followed by Sales with 27%. The prevailing occupation within Riverside was relatively evenly spread among the Sales, Management & Professional, and Service employment sectors. The occupational data reflects the overall diversity of the combined NPA demographics.
3. Goals, Objectives and Recommendations

Planning Principles developed by the Advisory Committee

The Advisory Committee has prepared a set of planning principles and guidelines to be used by the Committee when evaluating development proposals. During their decision-making process, these principles and guidelines will be considered first, followed by the other recommendations listed in the plan.

Note: It is the goal of the Advisory Committee that the Neighborhood Planning Contact Team adopt these principles and guidelines once the plan has been adopted.

In this planning area:

1. Of the existing developed property in the combined planning area, 42% is multifamily (2000 US Census).
2. Of the existing housing units by structure type in the combined planning area, 78.6% are multifamily (2000 US Census).
3. Two of the three planning areas (Pleasant Valley and Riverside) experienced a decrease in owner occupancy rates from 1990-2000, a trend opposite that of the Urban Core (US Census).
4. Between 2000 and 2004, 1855 multifamily units were added and only 211 single family units were added (City of Austin Demographer).
5. Crime rate in the 78741 zip code is the highest in the city, with over 14,000 crimes committed in 2005 (combination of indexed and non-indexed, Austin Police Department).

Because of these facts, the Advisory Committee believes that the following planning principles and guidelines be applied to all proposed development and redevelopment within the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Planning Area.

- “First, do no harm”, i.e. no rezoning for rezoning’s sake. A zoning change affects the property owner, adjacent properties and property owners, and the City. Any change in zoning should be able to demonstrate the benefits of the change to the community.
Preserve single-family homes and the character and assets of our traditional neighborhoods. Protect them from further encroachment from non-compatible and/or higher intensity uses by always providing a buffer equal to or greater than the existing buffer.

Address the problems of current density before creating opportunities for additional growth and increased density.

Encourage redevelopment in the following areas as a means of managing growth and protecting those properties which still have sufficient usefulness:

- South side of E. Riverside Drive from Parker Lane to Burton Drive
- The group of tracts bounded by Burton Drive, E. Riverside Drive, Willow Creek and Woodland Drive
- North side of E. Riverside Drive from Lakeshore Blvd. to Willow Creek
- South side of Elmont between Tinnin Ford and Pleasant Valley Road
- North and south sides of Mission Hill Drive

Devote time, money and resources to professional, comprehensive planning efforts for the E. Riverside Drive, Lakeshore Blvd., and Oltorf Street corridors with attention to traffic congestion, design standard parameters, compatibility with adjacent residential areas, pedestrian and bicycle access and public transit.

Preserve and protect the Town Lake shoreline and prohibit the “walling off” of this resource by limiting height, density and massing of buildings along the shore and requiring easements along the shoreline to complete the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail.

Preserve and protect our creeks, springs and environmental features by sufficient setbacks, decreased impervious cover and the establishment of the Country Club Creek Preserve.

Preserve and protect the Riverside 18-hole Golf Course.

Goals, Objectives and Recommendations

Below are the recommendations for the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan under their overarching goal (Obj. = Objective and R = Recommendation). Refer to the corresponding chapters in the plan for further information regarding the history and background, existing conditions and future land use scenarios for the combined planning area.

Land Use

Goal 1

Preserve and enhance the character of existing residential neighborhoods.

R1 Retain single family uses in established single family neighborhoods (NPZD; Neighborhood).

R2 Consider existing residential densities and current housing stock in future land use and zoning decisions to promote compatibility (NPZD; Neighborhood).

R3 Promote and support compatibility between single family residences by (NPZD; Neighborhood):

- retention of scale between structures regarding height, mass and impervious cover in both remodeling and new home construction.
- encouraging City Council to incorporate the following recommendation developed by neighborhood stakeholders into their proposed Single Family Development Regulations:
  - Retain the existing scale and massing in new single family structures and remodels adjacent to residences and limit height to 35 feet, measured from existing grade of the adjacent residences.

R4 The significant canopy created by the mature trees is a highlight of our planning area and especially of our traditional single-family neighborhoods. Therefore, whenever possible, mature trees should be preserved (Neighborhood).

Obj 1.1 Minimize the negative effects between differing intensities of uses by:

- R5 Requiring strict adherence to Compatibility Standards (NPZD).
- R6 Encouraging City Council to modify the Land Development Code to require compatibility standards between residential uses (including multifamily) and all office and commercial uses, and require vegetative buffers of 25 feet within the setback (Neighborhood).

R7 Retaining office uses as a transition between other commercial and residential uses (NPZD).

R8 Increasing limits on density and height when necessary (NPZD; Neighborhood).

R9 Increasing the amount of mature vegetative buffer when necessary to screen lights, noise, and unsightly features such as mechanical equipment, trash disposal, parking lots, loading docks, cluster mailboxes, etc. (NPZD; Neighborhood).

R10 Discouraging waivers and variances to Austin’s Land Development Code unless the owner can demonstrate a true hardship (COA).

R11 Studying the feasibility of requiring additional setbacks and landscaped buffers for new commercial uses adjacent to multifamily uses (NPZD).

Obj. 1.2 Discourage additional through-streets within established residential neighborhoods. If through-streets are not constructed, bicycle and pedestrian connectivity should be encouraged.

R12 Ensure that there is no connection between the 2300 block of Douglas Street (which currently terminates in a cul-de-sac) and the 2400 block of Douglas Street which has not yet been constructed (PW).

R13 Ensure that there is no future extension of Benjamin Street further east of Ware Road (PW).

R14 Ensure that Riverside Farms Road does not connect to Oltorf Street and maintains its rural character (PW).

R15 Ensure that Sunridge Drive does not connect to Highway 71 (PW).

R16 Ensure that there is no future extension of Mariposa west to the northbound IH-35 frontage road or to the property west of its termination (PW).

R17 Ensure that there is no future extension of Windoak Drive west to the northbound IH-35 frontage road or to property west of its termination (PW).

Obj. 1.3 Identify strategies to address code enforcement and maintenance issues for residential and commercial properties.
R18 Form a neighborhood task force that will identify zoning and housing code violations and communicate such issues to the Code Compliance Division of Solid Waste Services (Neighborhood).

R19 Conduct a study to determine the adequacy of the City’s current building code, as it relates to requirements of building foundation engineering and construction, and if necessary, amend relevant sections of the building code to minimize foundation failures in poor soil conditions (WPDR).

R20 Support the augmentation of city staff dealing with code enforcement issues and to provide information that would allow citizens to identify basic code violations in their neighborhoods (SWS).

R21 Research funding opportunities or assistance programs for the improvement and maintenance of residential and commercial properties (Neighborhood).

Obj. 1.4 Improve legal notification procedures and access to restrictive covenant information in order to assist residents with development proposals occurring in and around their neighborhoods.

R22 Work with the City to establish list serves by neighborhood planning area on which would be posted legal notification of variance and zoning cases in addition to building permits (WPDR).

R23 Require that applicants disclose any deed restriction details at the time of zoning application (NPZD; WPDR).

Goal 2

Increase home ownership opportunities that are compatible with surrounding properties.

Obj 2.1 Apply zoning tools or options in specified areas that promote housing types which are traditionally owner-occupied.

R24 Allow condominium, townhouse, and single-family residential uses and prohibit multifamily residential uses on properties designated as mixed use along Riverside Drive, Pleasant Valley Road north of Riverside Drive and on the west side of Grove Blvd. north of Riverside Dr. (NPZD).

R25 Permit the Urban Home Special Use in the following locations where the current use is duplex residential or four-plex: Mission Hill Drive, Mission Hill Circle and the east side of Parker Lane between Wickshire Lane and Carlson Drive (NPZD).

Goal 3

Improve the appearance, vitality and safety of existing commercial corridors and community amenities and encourage quality urban design and form that ensures adequate transition between commercial properties and adjacent residential neighborhoods.

Obj. 3.1 Promote the redevelopment of underutilized properties.

R26 Support the development of buildings with both a commercial and residential component along the south side of Riverside Drive west of Pleasant Valley Road and along the west side of Pleasant Valley Road north of Riverside Drive (NPZD; Neighborhood).

Obj. 3.2 Improve the streetscape and preserve downtown views.

R27 Conduct a focused corridor study that would address landscaping, pedestrian and bicycle facilities, creative parking designs (e.g. around the back and sides of a building), design features such as plazas and public art and any others that would make Riverside Drive an attractive destination; examine the possibility of adding a “gateway to downtown” sign at some point along Riverside Drive (NPZD).

R28 Create a Gateway Overlay that applies to the westbound frontage road of State Highway 71/Ben White Boulevard and the northbound frontage road of IH-35 from State Highway 71/Ben White Boulevard to Town Lake. Specific requirements of this Overlay developed by neighborhood stakeholders include (NPZD; Neighborhood):

- A vegetative buffer equal in width to the existing setback or 15 feet, whichever is less, shall be provided and maintained on Tracts along and adjacent to IH-35 and State Highway 71/Ben White Boulevard. Improvements permitted within the buffer zone are limited to drainage, underground utility improvements, or those improvements that may be otherwise required by the City of Austin or specifically authorized in this ordinance.
R29 Strongly encourage City Council to expeditiously adopt the draft citywide Commercial Design Standards that would apply to special roadways such as East Riverside Drive. These standards should include the following limits and requirements (Neighborhood):

- Work now to create a minimum 20’ buffer along the north and south sides of East Riverside Drive which includes a meandering sidewalk among grass, shrubs, flowering perennials and shade trees using existing city-owned ROW. Any new development should include this same buffer. All city-owned ROW adjacent to the roadway sold to private parties should be landscaped with shade trees and mature vegetation and maintained as such.

- Limit height of buildings along East Riverside Drive to 3 stories or 40’ within 100’ of the roadway to avoid a “canyon effect”.

- Divide required parking lots for commercial and office buildings evenly on all sides of such buildings or place under or on top of the building. All parking areas visible from East Riverside Drive from any roadway crossing East Riverside Drive or adjacent to any residential property must be screened from view with a 4’ wall, berm or mature vegetative buffer.

- Limit curb cuts along East Riverside Drive to improve traffic flow and to minimize the interruption of pedestrian activity.

- Enact a strict sign ordinance which prohibits pole signs, building signs above the roofline and flashing lights and limits the size of signs on buildings and berms, in height, width and overall square footage.

- Encourage pedestrian and bike traffic with better and safer walkways and crosswalks.

Staff note: Neighborhood stakeholders are to advocate for the adoption of this Overlay by the Planning Commission and City Council. The proposed Corridor Study of East Riverside Drive may proceed regardless of whether or not the standards are adopted, and would likely provide for a more comprehensive look at the roadway as both a means of travel and as a destination.
Obj. 3.3 Maintain the current campus-style development on properties zoned LI and IP.

Goal 4
Encourage a balanced mix of residential, civic, commercial, office and other land uses without adversely affecting adjacent residential neighborhoods.

Obj. 4.1 Apply land use and zoning tools or options in specified areas to promote a mixture of uses.

R30 Allow the Mixed Use Building (MUB) and Neighborhood Urban Center (NUC) Special Uses along the south side of Riverside Drive and on the west side of Pleasant Valley Road north of Riverside Drive (NPZD).

R31 Support a mixed use development concept on the north side of Riverside Drive and Lakeshore Blvd. between I-35 and Town Lake parkland which encourages a true mix of uses, allows replacement only of existing multifamily units, prohibits a net increase in multifamily units and addresses affordability in both single family and multifamily residential options. Ensure that at the zoning stage, city staff and neighborhood stakeholders work together on an appropriate mixed use vision for this stretch of land (Neighborhood; NPZD).

Obj. 4.2 Offer diverse commercial and office types to serve the retail and professional service needs in the community.

R32 Maintain opportunities for office uses on major corridors (NPZD; Neighborhood).

R33 Preserve locations with viable commercial uses such as Oltorf Street and the north side of Riverside Drive between Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Road (NPZD; Neighborhood).

Transportation

Goal 5
Enhance the transportation network to allow residents and visitors to travel around safely and efficiently by foot, bicycle, automobile and public transit.

Obj. 5.1 Consider such recommendations as the vacation of roadways, restricting truck traffic, road closures and amending the AMATP and CAMPO Plans to improve the roadway network by making it “friendlier” to nearby neighborhoods.

R34 Examine the feasibility of vacating Rosalie Place within the Riverside Farms Subdivision, a platted right-of-way that was never constructed (PW).

R35 Remove the extension of Grove Blvd. to Highway 183 as described in the AMATP and CAMPO plans (NPZD).

R36 Remove Burleson Road, depicted as a minor arterial, from the CAMPO and AMATP Plans (NPZD).

R37 Petition CAMPO and the City of Austin to reclassify Lakeshore Blvd. to a neighborhood collector to prohibit through traffic by large commercial trucks between East Riverside Drive and Pleasant Valley Road (Neighborhood).

R38 Petition CAMPO and the City of Austin to remove the extension of Pleasant Valley Road to Burleson Road (which would ultimately connect to Ben White Blvd.) (Neighborhood).

Obj. 5.2 Investigate speeding concerns that create dangerous and obtrusive traffic situations in neighborhoods.

R39 Conduct a traffic calming study at the corner of Summit Drive and Elmhurst Drive and apply an appropriate traffic mitigation strategy to reduce speeding and cut through traffic (Speed cushions are not the preferred method of traffic calming by neighborhood stakeholders) (PW).

R40 Conduct a traffic calming study along the length of Summit Drive from Woodland Avenue to Riverside Drive and apply an appropriate traffic mitigation strategy to reduce speeding vehicles (Speed cushions are not the preferred method of traffic calming by neighborhood stakeholders) (PW).

Obj. 5.3 Investigate the traffic situation at specific locations within the planning area to address safety and efficiency concerns.

R41 Conduct a traffic study at the intersection of Grove Blvd. and Riverside Drive to facilitate traffic flow and reduce hazards (PW).

R42 Conduct a traffic study at the intersection of Riverside Drive and Pleasant Valley Road examining the turn-a-rounds to improve vehicular and pedestrian safety (PW).
R43 Conduct a traffic study to determine a way to alleviate backup traffic heading east on Riverside Drive due to cars turning left onto Crossing Place (PW).

R44 Conduct a traffic study of the IH-35/Riverside Dr. intersection to facilitate traffic flow and reduce hazards. Vehicles heading south on the IH-35 access road, then crossing over IH-35 and heading east on Riverside Drive, have difficulty moving to the right to access Summit Drive (PW).

R45 Conduct a traffic study on the northbound IH-35 access road at Woodland Avenue to investigate the feasibility of reducing the speed limit to 45 mph before the intersection with Riverside Drive to improve safety and accessibility (PW).

R46 Conduct a traffic study at Summit Drive and Riverside Drive and make improvements to the intersection so that dangerously speeding vehicles and cut through traffic are minimized (PW).

R47 Conduct a traffic study at Parker Lane and Woodland Avenue and make improvements to the intersection to make right turns onto Parker Lane for eastbound vehicular traffic more efficient and safe (PW).

R48 Conduct a traffic study along Burleson Road between Oltorf Street and Ben White Blvd. and investigate adding stop signs and/or traffic lights at high-traffic intersections to slow vehicular traffic and make conditions safer for all types of travelers (especially at Ware Road to slow traffic at the school crossing) (PW).

R49 Conduct a traffic study along Oltorf Street between IH-35 and Montopolis Drive to identify ways to relieve traffic congestion (PW).

Obj. 5.4 Investigate traffic signage needs at specific locations.

R50 On the northbound IH-35 access road at Woodland Avenue, place a traffic sign indicating reduced speeds ahead to warn drivers of the impending intersection (PW).

R51 Add signage along Woodland Avenue so that westbound drivers are made aware that vehicles may be turning from Summit Drive onto Woodland Avenue (PW).

R52 Post “Not a Through Street” signs at Princeton Drive and Burleson Road and at Ware Road and Burleson to eliminate vehicular traffic trying to connect to Oltorf Street or Pleasant Valley Road (PW).
Obj. 5.5  Encourage pedestrian and bike friendly neighborhoods by constructing and maintaining sidewalks and bikeways.

R53  Put a striped bike lane along Lakeshore Blvd. (PW).
R54  Extend the bike lane on Pleasant Valley Road from Lakeshore Drive to Cesar Chavez (PW).
R55  Conduct a study to investigate the feasibility of putting bike lanes in the following locations: (PW)
  • Riverside Drive (Grove Blvd. to I-35)
  • Oltorf Street (Willow Creek Drive to I-35)

Note: As of 8/05, bike lanes have been constructed along both sides of Oltorf Street from approximately ½ block east of Willow Creek to Montopolis Drive
  • Grove Blvd. (Hogan Avenue to Oltorf Street)

R56  Build sidewalks within the Riverside Planning Area in this order of priority: (PW)
  • Woodland Avenue between Summit Drive and Parker Lane (either side)
  • Summit Drive between Woodland Avenue and Riverside Drive (either side)
  • Parker Lane between Riverside Drive and Woodland Avenue (either side)

R57  Build and/or make improvements to sidewalks within the Parker Lane Planning Area in this order of priority: (PW)
  • Burleson Road, west side, from Catalina area southward, as needed, to Ben White Blvd. (improvements)
  • The south side of Oltorf Street between Wickersham Lane and Sunridge Street, where gaps exist

Note: As of 8/05, sidewalks have been completed on the south side of Oltorf Street from Huntwick Drive to Montopolis Drive
  • The south side of Metcalfe Road from Linder Elementary (where it intersects with Wickshire Lane) to Burleson Road
  • Near the intersection of Oltorf Street and Pleasant Valley Road, the south side of Oltorf Street and the west side of Pleasant Valley Road., where gaps exist
  • The south side of Oltorf Street between Sunridge Drive and Alvin Devane, where gaps exist
Note: As of 8/05, sidewalks have been completed on the south side of Oltorf Street from Huntwick Drive to Montopolis Drive
• The north side of Benjamin Street between Douglas Street and Princeton Drive

R58 Build sidewalks within the Pleasant Valley Planning Area in this order of priority: (PW)
• The east side of Pleasant Valley Road (north of Lakeshore Blvd. to the Colorado River Park)
• The west side of Pleasant Valley Road (north of Elmont to Lakeshore)

Obj. 5.6 Improve connectivity across high-traffic roadways to facilitate pedestrian and bicycle transportation.

R59 Identify and provide safe pedestrian and bicyclist crossings all along Riverside Drive from IH-35 to Grove Blvd., with special attention paid to intersections at or near a bus stop (PW).

R60 At the intersection of Riverside Drive and Lakeshore Blvd., identify and provide improvements such as an elevated crosswalk or overhead pedestrian bridge to minimize the danger of crossing for pedestrians and cyclists (PW).

R61 Along Lakeshore Boulevard from East Riverside Drive to Pleasant Valley Road, identify and provide safe pedestrian and bicyclist crossings, with special attention paid to the intersections of Lakeshore Boulevard with Town Creek and Tinnin Ford (PW).

R62 At the intersection of Pleasant Valley Road and Riverside Drive, identify and provide improvements to ease crossing Pleasant Valley Road and minimize safety hazards for pedestrians and cyclists (PW).

R63 At the IH-35/Riverside Drive intersection, identify and provide improvements to minimize the danger of crossing in all directions for pedestrians and cyclists (PW).

R64 Investigate the possibility of making the section of IH-35 frontage road at Woodland Avenue level with the interstate while maintaining the east-west underpass connection to Travis Heights to facilitate and make safer inter-neighborhood travel (PW).
Obj. 5.7 Support and enhance public transportation in the area.

R65 Support a Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) line along Riverside Drive (CapMetro; Neighborhood).
R66 Provide a Dillo circulator route that would enable residents and employees within the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Planning Areas to move around easily and take advantage of the area’s services without the need of a car (CapMetro).
R67 Provide a Dillo route to connect the EROC planning area with the rest of Austin (Cap Metro).

Obj. 5.8 Identify areas prone to flooding that impede travel.

R68 Improve storm water drainage along Pleasant Valley Road between Riverside Drive and Lakeshore Blvd., especially at Elmont and Lakeshore (may be appropriate when the Holly Power Plant is closed and the gas pipeline along Pleasant Valley Road is disconnected) (WPDR).

Parks, Trails, Open Space and the Natural Environment

Goal 6
Protect and enhance the Town Lake Waterfront as well as creek areas and other natural amenities.

Obj. 6.1 Investigate ways to amend the City of Austin’s Land Development Code and support initiatives that propose to protect waterways and their surrounding environment.

R69 Create and adopt a neighborhood plan design tool or similar mechanism (i.e. Headwaters Protection Initiative) for requiring greater development setbacks along creeks and in the vicinity of creek headwaters and in other environmentally sensitive areas (WPDR; Neighborhood).

R70 Advocate to PARD and/or WPDR the acquisition of properties containing the headwaters of Country Club Creek and preserve them in a natural state as the Country Club Creek Preserve. The headwaters are located just north of Ben White Boulevard and are indicated by seeps and springs and marked on the “Environmental Features and Watershed Boundaries” map. (Neighborhood).

Obj. 6.2 Identify undocumented creeks and Critical Environmental Features (CEFs) in the area and protect them from development.

R71 Work with the Watershed Department to do the following (Neighborhood; WPDR):

• To document the exact location of creeks, seeps, springs and wetlands so that they are added to the City’s inventory of Critical Environmental Features;
• To name any unnamed creeks;
• To determine if additional creeks should be added to the current list of “urban” or “suburban watersheds”.

Obj. 6.3 Identify opportunities for monitoring and maintaining the appearance and water quality of creeks.

R72 Conduct clean-up activities around creek areas (Neighborhood, Keep Austin Beautiful).
R73 Explore volunteer opportunities such as the Texas Watch State Volunteer Water Quality Monitoring program, www.texaswatch.geo.txstate.edu (Neighborhood).

R74 Increase awareness of water quality issues through neighborhood association newsletters, list serves and websites (Neighborhood).

Obj. 6.4 New development along Town Lake and Lakeshore Blvd. should strive to provide maximum visual and physical access to the waterfront, preserve the natural and riparian qualities of the lake and the existing park system, extend the sense of greenery and open space, establish a continuous system of public access and result in a pedestrian-friendly & public-spirited environment.

Staff note: Some of these recommendations developed by neighborhood stakeholders involve revisions to the City’s current code. Neighborhood stakeholders should encourage Planning Commission and City Council to adopt these code amendments.

R75 Prohibit overnight parking on Lakeshore Blvd by large commercial trucks. (APD).

R76 Extend Waterfront Overlay setbacks to provide increased open space and public access (NPZD).

R77 Modify the South Lakeshore Subdistrict regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District to extend the primary setback to 100 feet from its current 65 feet and preserve and support the existing regulation which mandates a primary setback of 50 feet south of Lakeshore Blvd. (Neighborhood; NPZD).

R78 Preserve and protect the provisions of the East Riverside Subdistrict regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District maintaining the primary setback of 100 feet from the Town Lake shoreline and maximum impervious cover of 50 percent for an area not included in a primary or secondary setback, as well as extend to this subdistrict the creek setbacks and other restrictions included in the Travis Heights Subdistrict regulations (Neighborhood; NPZD).

R79 Increase the number of prohibited uses in the Waterfront Overlay subdistricts within this planning area (NPZD).

R80 Include appropriate building scale requirements within the Waterfront Overlay subdistricts so that buildings step up gradually as they move away from the waterfront (NPZD).

R81 Modify both the East Riverside and South Lakeshore Subdistrict Regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District to limit building heights. Language similar to the following is proposed to be added to the regulations (Neighborhood; NPZD):

- Building heights on properties adjacent to Lakeshore Boulevard are limited to 3 stories or 40 feet.

R82 Property owners along the lakefront should aim to contribute waterfront access and open space necessary to complete the Hike & Bike Trail (Neighborhood).

R83 In pursuance of the goal of protecting the quality of the lakeshore environment, form a neighborhood committee to study the existing Waterfront Overlay regulations and determine where additional protections are needed (Neighborhood).

R84 Modify the East Riverside Subdistrict regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District to include a primary setback of 50 feet south of Lakeshore Blvd. to mirror the provisions of the South Lakeshore Subdistrict regulations. (Neighborhood; NPZD).

R85 Modify the South Lakeshore Subdistrict Regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District to require a vegetative buffer within the existing setback (as determined by base zoning district). Language similar to the following is proposed to be added to the Regulations (Neighborhood; NPZD):

- Require a vegetative buffer equal in width to the existing setback or 15 feet, whichever is less, on Tracts along and adjacent to Lakeshore Boulevard. Improvements permitted within the buffer zone are limited to drainage, underground utility improvements, or those improvements that may be otherwise required by the City of Austin or specifically authorized in the ordinance.

R86 Require the strict application of the parking regulations of the East Riverside and South Lakeshore Subdistrict Regulations of the Waterfront Overlay District to all projects within the Overlays. (Requirements for surface parking currently mandate its placement along roadways, if practical, and that it be screened from views from Town Lake, the Colorado River, parkland, and the creeks. An above-grade parking structure must be on a pedestrian scale and either architecturally integrated with the associated building or screened from views from Town Lake, the Colorado River, park land, and creeks named in this part; and must incorporate pedestrian oriented uses at ground level if it is adjacent to Town Lake, the Colorado River, park land, or a creek. These do not apply if the parking structure is completely below grade) (WPDR).

R87 Modify the Waterfront Overlay Subdistrict Uses for the South Lakeshore Subdistrict and the East Riverside Subdistrict as follows (Neighborhood; NPZD):

- Structures that front and are adjacent to Town Lake should be used for pedestrian-oriented uses (i.e., any use which serves the public by providing goods or services that are waterfront dependent or waterfront related. Permitted uses include all uses permitted in MF-6 and below and any uses permitted in GO except communications services and communication service facilities, local utility services, hospital service (general & limited), off-site accessory parking (conditional on use of pervious materials.)

R88 Any redevelopment or new development along Town Lake between IH-35 and parkland along S. Lakeshore Blvd. (which includes 1818 S. Lakeshore Blvd.) is strongly encouraged during project approval to dedicate trail land or an easement along the lake and to build the trail (PARD).

R89 Preserve and protect the avenue of mature trees along the north and south sides of Lakeshore Blvd. These trees were given to the City of Austin Parks Department in 1990 by LCRA and now provide total street canopy for Lakeshore Boulevard between Town Creek Drive and the creek adjacent to the western property line of 1701 S. Lakeshore Blvd (WPDR).

Goal 7

Preserve and enhance existing parks, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course, the Country Club Creek Trail and other open spaces and wetlands to create opportunities for additional public open space and natural areas.

Obj. 7.1 Identify strategies that work towards the preservation, maintenance and improvement of existing parks in addition to the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course.

R90 Preserve and maintain all City-owned and acquired park space and conservation easements as such (PARD).
R91 Preserve and support the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course and investigate a possible historic designation (Neighborhood).

R92 Encourage the Parks Department to acquire the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course property and maintain it as a golf course (Neighborhood; PARD).

R93 Conduct clean-up activities at parks (Neighborhood; Keep Austin Beautiful).

R94 Provide the following public amenities at Mabel Davis Park in this order of priority (PARD):
   - R94.1 Connection to proposed Country Club Creek trail
   - R94.2 Enhancement of the remaining natural wooded areas and removal of invasive plants and replacement with native species
   - R94.3 Paved hike/bike/skate loop with neighborhood connections
   - R94.4 Picnic, pavilion and restroom facilities
   - R94.5 Benches and seating areas
   - R94.6 Open field for unstructured use like ultimate Frisbee, softball or kickball
   - R94.7 Access to the privately owned pond north of the park
   - R94.8 Skate park with stadium style seating
   - R94.9 Disc golf course
   - R94.10 Fenced dog park
   - R94.11 Spray park in addition to the swimming pool
   - R94.12 Documentation of the history of the property and remediation in the form of public artwork on the park site.

Obj 7.2 Create opportunities for Neighborhood Greens in the area.

R95 Identify under-utilized City-owned parcels that could potentially be developed as a neighborhood green such as (Neighborhood):
   - Two undeveloped City-owned parcels on Mission Hill that have overhead utility easements
   - The undeveloped piece of City-owned land at the end of Pleasant Valley Road next to the Pleasant Valley Bikeway.

R96 Research opportunities to utilize utility easements on private property as public green space (Neighborhood).
R97 Work with PARD to develop user agreements for small neighborhood-maintained neighborhood greens in the planning area (Neighborhood; PARD).
R98 Request that the city acquire the single-family lots in the floodplain at the end of Princeton and Douglas Streets (there are approximately 20 undeveloped lots) so that the area is protected from development and maintained as open space (WPDR).

Obj. 7.3 Improve access to and awareness of existing parks, trails and open space.
R99 Encourage the City of Austin and Austin Community College to create a landmark at the northwest corner of Riverside Drive and Grove Blvd. that would serve as a guide to the Colorado River Park (ACC, the Riverside Golf Course and the Daniel Ruiz Library are other public and private entities on Grove Blvd. that could be incorporated) (Neighborhood; PW).
R100 Work with any and all other organizations to complete the Hike & Bike Trail and provide and encourage pedestrian use (PARD).
R101 Encourage PARD to design and construct an over-the-water connection for the Lakeshore portion of the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail (Neighborhood; PARD).
R102 Provide an under IH-35 connection of the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail (This is existing CIP and needs to be funded.) (PARD).

Obj. 7.4 Establish a hike and bike trail along Country Club Creek that connects to trails within the Colorado River Park and the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail.
R103 Construct a trail system along Country Club Creek that is sustainable and not subject to erosion due to flooding (PARD).
R104 Provide a safe pedestrian crossing across Pleasant Valley Road at Lakeshore Boulevard to connect the existing Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail to the proposed Country Club Creek hike and bike trail (PW).
R105 Provide a safe pedestrian crossing across Burleson Road near Country Club Creek (PW).
R106 Work with private property owners and the Parks and Recreation Department to acquire land or recreational use easements for trail access along the Country Club Creek corridor. Possible locations include the undeveloped land in the floodplain between Burleson Road and Pleasant Valley Road (Neighborhood).

Affordable Housing

Goal 8
Provide affordable rental housing opportunities through the redevelopment of existing multifamily developments.

Obj. 8.1 Apply redevelopment tools that encourage provisions for affordable home rental. These redevelopment recommendations apply only to the following specific existing developments:

The Arbor—1500 Royal Crest; Barcelona I & II—2101 Elmont; Brookstone Apartments—2315 Town Lake Circle*; Garden Oaks—2425 Elmont*; Las Palmas—2409 Town Lake Circle*; London Square—2400 Town Lake Circle*; and Vista Lago—2215 Town Lake Circle*

*Note: *Indicates properties located within the Community Preservation & Revitalization Zone

R107 Allow existing multi-family developments listed above not located in the 100 year flood plain to be rebuilt at the same height in stories, number of units, and building footprint provided that they meet S.M.A.R.T. Housing technical standards for accessibility, Green Building and Transit-oriented design; and meet the sprinkler requirements of the 2003 International Building Code if at least 10% of the units are “reasonably priced” (i.e. rent to households at or below 80% Median Family Income who spend no more than 30% of their gross income on rent and utilities). In addition, the following development standards are recommended:

- Height may be no greater than existing height on June 1, 2006.
- Balconies, entrances, patios, open walkways and open stairways are not permitted within 20’ of any single-family use.
• All trash receptacles must have a permanent location in the rear of the property or if no alley is available they must be on the property in an enclosure.
• Fencing is required between any parking facility and any single-family residence.
• Lighting may be no higher than 15 feet and should be screened from adjacent residences.

Note: Applicants who meet these conditions in the redevelopment of the properties listed above would not be required to meet compatibility standards or increase parking or site detention.
4. LandUse

Introduction

As Section Two illustrates, the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning Areas are comprised of apartment complexes, established single-family neighborhoods, parks, natural areas, and accessible open spaces (including an eighteen-hole golf course once patronized regularly by golfer Harvey Penick). Defined single-family neighborhoods around Summit Street, Parker Lane, Burleson Road, Riverside Farms Road, Penick Place, Sunridge Drive and Faro Boulevard house a significant number of the residents in this area. An abundance of non-single-family housing, both in the form of apartments and condominiums, is found throughout each of the three individual neighborhood planning areas; they house student, immigrant and young professional populations (refer to the Statistical Profile Section for current land use details). In addition to this established residential base, there has been a significant amount of development in the form of large industrial park complexes and expansive commercial districts.

Although the East Riverside/Oltorf Area has not traditionally been thought of as "inner city," in part because it was developed much later than other south Austin (meaning south of the Colorado River) neighborhoods like Travis Heights, it is within very close proximity to downtown and the Capitol Building. Land values in the area are relatively inexpensive and properties are located either adjacent or in relative close proximity to Town Lake and the hike-and-bike trail. In addition to a large number of undeveloped parcels, many buildings are reaching their natural lifespan and are ripe for redevelopment. As such, there has been much recent interest in this area from a (re)development perspective and the potential for change in the near future is eminent. For this reason it is extremely important that this neighborhood plan capture the desired vision of its stakeholders in order to provide guidance and to improve the quality of future (re)development.

Neighborhood plan goals that relate to this section of the plan include:

- Preserve and enhance the character of existing residential neighborhoods.
- Increase home ownership opportunities that are compatible with surrounding properties.
➢ Improve the appearance, vitality and safety of existing commercial corridors and community amenities and encourage quality urban design and form while being sensitive and respectful to adjacent residential neighborhoods.

➢ Encourage a balanced mix of residential, civic, commercial, office and other land uses without adversely affecting adjacent residential neighborhoods.

The first part of this section provides a general historical timeline of development and documents information related to significant land uses within the combined NPA. The next part delineates the key elements reflected on the future land use maps for the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Neighborhood Planning Areas with explanatory text. Following that is a section devoted to Riverside Drive since the current and desired state of this corridor was the topic of much discussion at neighborhood planning meetings.

Lastly, specific recommendations made towards realizing each of the land use goals can be found in Section 3. Any land use recommendation not supported by the City can be found in Appendix A.

History/Background/Significant Land Uses

LAND DEVELOPMENT HISTORY & ANNEXATION BACKGROUND

The combined neighborhood planning area has been called East Riverside/Oltorf because these are two of the major streets within the area. Even though these are well known and traveled roadways, it has not always been the case. In fact, although Riverside Drive is one of the oldest roadways in Austin, Oltorf Street is relatively new and did not even extend past its intersection with Parker Lane and Burleson Road until the 1980s. Furthermore, it wasn’t until 1976 that the entire planning area was contained within the full-purpose, or corporate limits of the City.

In the early 1940s, this area was almost entirely undeveloped. Riverside Drive, Parker Lane, Burleson Road, and Metcalf Road existed, but Oltorf Street did not extend past Burleson Road, and neither IH-35 nor the current Ben White/Highway 71 were yet built. Save for the mobile home park along the river west of US 183 at the northeast corner of the NPA, there was no significant development along US 183. Most of the land was comprised of large tracts of what appeared to be crop land, as seen in aerial photographs from this period.

By the early 1950s Wickshire Lane had been built and extended west of Metcalf Road; Ben White Blvd. had been improved eastward from Burleson Road and Woodland Avenue extended west of Parker Lane, although there was no development along the roadway. There was some development along southern Burleson Road, and a handful of homes on Summit Street and Upland Drive. Although the majority of the area was still composed of large-acreage tracts with minimal urban development, Riverside Farms Road was in place, and there was also additional development along the northwest corner of the Riverside /Montopolis intersection and along Montopolis Drive towards US 183.

By 1958 IH 35 had been constructed. East of this new roadway and north of Woodward Street was largely built out. Although there was still minimal development along Riverside Drive, Penick Place subdivision had been platted and the road Penick Place was in place. Additional development was concentrated along southern Burleson Road and both the northwest and southeast corners of the Riverside /Montopolis intersection. The mobile home park had expanded along the Colorado River, and there is evidence of Pleasant Valley Road, but only on the north side of Riverside Drive.

The Sixties and Seventies saw additional development, filling in the areas between the built out northwest and east side. Still, large tracts of property, especially along eastern Ben White Blvd., were intact and owned either by individuals or corporate owners. Some plans or projects of the day came to fruition, such as the extension of Oltorf Street to Pleasant Valley Road, while others did not, such as the extension of Pleasant Valley Road to Ben White Boulevard or the connection of Grove to Country Club Drive. Public institutions, such as school and parks were limited to the Linder elementary tract and Mabel Davis Park; the future homes of Baty Elementary and the Colorado River Park were both contained within large privately held tracts.

The Seventies were the most active period of annexation by the City of Austin in the planning area. Not only did the 1970’s mark the transition of the planning area from mostly outside to mostly inside the city limits, but two large annexations, including 623 acres north of Riverside Drive and east of Pleasant Valley Road, and 1,547 acres for an industrial park in the southeast quadrant of the area were major contributors to the amount of property now within the City.

By the early Eighties, Krieg softball complex had been completed. Significant development had occurred west of Pleasant Valley Road north of Riverside Drive, but nothing significant existed between Pleasant Valley Road and the golf course. Oltorf Street was in the process of being extended to Montopolis Drive, and there was evidence of the future Montopolis/Grove split. There was also additional development along IH 35, and along Ben White Blvd., which was now a four-lane roadway. While Burleson Road, Catalina Drive, Parker Lane, and other western areas were now completely built out, there appeared to have been only a single residence between the few homes in the Riverside Farms area and the Ben White/Montopolis intersection. Furthermore, development in the late 80s and 90s was predominately industrial and multifamily.
SIGNIFICANT LAND USES

Daniel E. Ruiz Library

Groundbreaking for a new library occurred on March 2, 2002. In honor of one of Austin’s most influential community leaders, the library was dedicated to the memory of Daniel E. Ruiz.¹ When the Library opened in 2004, at 16,000 square feet, it was the largest branch in the City of Austin’s library system.

Daniel E. Ruiz Library

In addition to the books and periodicals typically found in a public library, this library is one of Austin’s ten “Wired for Youth” libraries. Equipped with Internet-wired multimedia computer workstations, each center is staffed with "wired" librarians who can teach multimedia, web design, and other computer skills. Children aged 8-18 have the opportunity to use computers for schoolwork research, or for personal interests such as email and chatting on-line. Centers are also equipped with digital cameras, video cameras, scanners, and other equipment, along with software for web design, graphics and media, word processing, and other tasks. These centers were established by The Michael and

¹ Daniel E. (Danny) Ruiz was a good friend of the Austin Community – a native Austinite. Danny proved to be a dedicated public servant, community advocate, and organizer who fought to address inequities and civil rights issues. He forged a 20-year career in state government, working in key positions under some of the state’s most prominent officials. What impressed people the most about Danny was his gentleness, generosity, and outstanding commitment to his family, friends, and community. (Excerpt from then-Mayor Gus Garcia). At the time of his death in 2000, Mr. Ruiz was executive director of the Greater Austin Hispanic Chamber of Commerce. (Source: Program from Groundbreaking Ceremony, March 2002; Austin History Center)

Dorothy Linder Elementary School
This Austin Independent School District facility, located at 2800 Metcalfe Road, was dedicated in 1972. Named for Dorothy A. Linder, a teacher and administrator with a 38-year career in education, the school consists of sixteen classrooms serving 300 students in grades one through six.\(^2\) The building was progressive for its time; it was designed to fit into the hillside and appear to have grown out of the sloping terrain. In addition to the topography of the site, the proposed activities and teaching functions were influential in the design and shape of the building. Retractable walls were incorporated to permit traditional style classrooms to be converted into a team teaching environment to supplement the versatility of those teaching areas. There were also smaller instructional areas for accelerated students and students with special or individual needs.

\(^2\) Dorothy A. Linder taught at Pease, University Junior High, and Fulmore Junior High. She earned her Master's degree while teaching and was appointed assistant principal at Fulmore. In 1965 she was appointed principal, being the only female secondary school principal in the Austin school system. She also co-authored a history textbook that was published in 1955 that was used in many schools throughout Texas. (Source: Program from Open House Dedication, November 12, 1972; Austin History Center)
Baty Elementary
The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Planning Area lies within both the Austin and the Del Valle Independent School Districts. Baty Elementary is a Del Valle school and currently offers instruction to seven hundred students. As with Linder Elementary, this primary school is named after an educator, in this case Ms. Willie Baty, a retired Del Valle teacher. In addition to elementary grade level education, early childhood, pre-kindergarten and kindergarten education is offered in both English and bilingual formats. The original Baty Elementary was constructed and dedicated in the mid 1980s and operated across from the former Bergstrom Air Force Base. Home to the Baty Bobcats, the elementary school was relocated in 1999 to its current location as part of the efforts to convert Bergstrom from a military installation into an international airport.

ACC - Austin Community College – Riverside Campus
The Austin Community College (ACC) is a two-year institution of higher education that was established in Austin in 1972 as part of the Austin Independent School District. The first classes were offered in September 1973 with 2,200 students and by the fall of 1974, student enrollment had more than tripled to 7,061. Enrollment, the number of campuses, the service area, and the number of off-campus learning centers has continued to grow. At present day, the College’s service area includes all of Bastrop, Caldwell, Blanco, Gillespie, Hays, and Travis Counties, along with portions of Gonzales and Williamson. Through its six campuses and more than forty off-campus centers, more than 65,000 for-credit and continuing education students are enrolled in ACC programs annually.

3 Information in this section provided by Austin Community College and the Handbook of Texas Online.
Currently, the U.S. Department of Education ranks ACC as the eighth largest community college in the nation. Moreover, a recent educational magazine ranked ACC at Number 11 on its annual list of the Top 50 Community Colleges by Hispanic Enrollment (based on US Department of Education statistics). The magazine also included ACC at Number 42 on their list of Top 50 Colleges awarding the most associate degrees to Hispanics.

The Riverside Campus is located at 1020 Grove Boulevard in the Pleasant Valley Neighborhood Planning Area. This campus was developed in the late 1980’s and consists of nine buildings and associated parking on an approximately forty-two (41.698) acre site.

Today ACC has six campuses (Cypress Creek, Eastview, Northridge, Pinnacle, Rio Grande, and Riverside), the Highland Business Center and the Downtown Center. There are thirty-five Academic Departments offering more than seventy-five majors and two-hundred different degree plans. ACC offers freshman and sophomore courses, occupational programs, and adult education, and confers associate degrees (Associate of Arts, Associate of Science, and Associate of Applied Science) and certificates of completion. More local high school graduates begin their college education at ACC than at any other higher education institution in Austin. ACC is also the primary trainer and re-trainer of the Austin area workforce through their continuing education, weekend college, and workforce programs.

In addition to the main campuses, ACC offers evening for-credit courses to the public at seven local high schools sites, known as ACC Centers within their service area; additionally, they offer college credit classes during the day at several Centers for more than 1,000 high school students taking college classes early. Nontraditional instruction is offered through various telecommunications outlets; over one-hundred and fifty web-based courses are offered.
In Texas, more than fifty percent of all entering college students begin their higher education at a community college. As population increases within their service area, additional student numbers will increase demand. Furthermore, in 2000 the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board adopted Closing the Gaps: The Texas Higher Education Plan. Among the Plan’s goals are increased participation rates statewide in higher education. Specifically, the plan calls for an increase in the participation rate from 5.0% to 5.7% by 2015. Texas will have to enroll approximately 500,000 additional students by 2015 in order to raise its participation rate to meet the goal. An estimated sixty (60) percent of those new students are expected to begin their higher education at community and technical colleges in the state. ACC, one of only fifty community colleges in the state, has determined they will need to grow by 10,000 students over the next decade to meet its goals under the initiative.

Expansion of campus facilities, at Riverside or elsewhere, is certainly possible. All six campuses are at or exceed national standards for room utilization. ACC has recently undertaken a district-wide analysis and master-planning effort.

Based on the results of that analysis and their recently enlarged service area, plans will be made with regard to expansion and/or relocation. In the interim, there are two planned capital improvement projects for the Riverside campus: replacement of Building D (with later renovation in Buildings A, B, and C), and the construction of a 400-space parking structure.

Similar to AMD, SEMATECH, and Tokyo Electron, ACC has extensive community outreach and development programs. ACC’s Center for Community-Based & Nonprofit Organizations helps these types of organizations to be more effective by helping them strengthen their organizational capacity. The Center provides professional and volunteer leadership training through workshops, publications, resource libraries, partnerships and other services. The ACC Office of Student Life also publishes a guide to promote awareness and encourage volunteer opportunities for ACC students.

Industrial Technology Sector

AMD

In November 1979, semiconductor company Advanced Micro Devices (AMD), of Sunnyvale, California, officially opened its first plant outside of California; that facility was located just off East Ben White Boulevard and west of Montopolis Drive in the Parker Lane Neighborhood Planning Area. This new facility in Austin was the first expansion for ten-year old AMD outside of its Sunnyvale campus. Austin was selected, according to then-president W. J. Sanders, III, because of the “quality of its labor supply, its excellent lifestyle, and the technological resources of its education institutions.” (Chamber News Release; July 25, 1978).

Today’s campus which is comprised of 1.5 million square feet of space on 138 acres is the largest global facility for the company. Primarily dedicated to the Computational Product Group of the corporation, design and process engineers work to develop the next generation of microprocessors that serve as the power behind millions of desktop and mobile PCs, servers and workstations. At nearly 1 million square feet, the facility – along with 123,000 square feet of Class 1 clean room space – produces Spansion™ advanced Flash memory devices for Spansion LLC, a company formed by the integration of AMD’s and Fujitsu’s Flash memory operations. In addition, employees of the Personal Connectivity Solutions Group (a division within AMD) work on products for the non-PC Internet appliance market.

The number of AMD employees at this campus is currently listed at 3,200 (although it may fluctuate in response to market conditions). The number of AMD employees is impressive, ranking as the 9th (2000) and 14th (2002) largest employer in Austin according to the Chamber of Commerce. Furthermore, it remains one of the largest private employers for the City of Austin, ranking as high as 6th (2003) according to AMD.

Owing to its size, AMD obviously has had a significant impact on the economy and quality of life for the immediate area and the larger Austin area. In addition to the thousands of people employed over the past twenty-six years, AMD’s presence has positively impacted local retail sales and the tax base. What is perhaps not as well known, but equally significant, is the company’s commitment to being a leading corporate citizen and a good neighbor.

In addition to local monetary and in-kind contributions, volunteer hours and donations, AMD has actively championed such local causes as affordable housing, safer work practices, developing family- and mother-friendly worksites, the use of green energy, decreased energy and water consumption, and decreased production of hazardous waste. AMD also has a long-standing and ongoing tradition of giving back to the community, both as an individual corporation and in partnership with social service providers, non-profit organizations, or other corporate entities. AMD’s commitment to community is expressed in four major categories of charitable contributions and participation; they are: basic needs, community development, education, and workforce development.

Earlier this year, AMD announced plans for a big, new office campus to house the 2,000 employees who work for its core microprocessor business, workers who are now spread out among twelve buildings. The result would be Spansion as the remaining enterprise at the Oltorf location. In April, AMD announced plans to consolidate its Austin operations on a sixty-acre parcel in the Oak Hill area. About the same time, Spansion (the 1993 joint venture of AMD and Fujitsu in which AMD currently has a sixty percent stake and control over product planning and worldwide marketing) announced that it will launch its own initial public offering of stock. As an independent corporation, which currently employs about 1,000 people in the Parker Lane area, Spansion will likely continue its operations at Fab 25, at least for some time.5

SEMATECH6

SEMATECH, which is short for SEMiconductor MANufacturing TECHnology, is a consortium formed in the late Eighties by US-based semiconductor manufacturers, with support from the United States government and academia. During the early 1980’s, US-based manufacturers lost market share to European and Japanese firms. To help reverse this trend and return US-based firms to a position of world leadership in semiconductor manufacturing, the Semiconductor Industry Association, or SIA (a San Jose, California-based trade association representing the US microchip manufacturing industry and the Semiconductor Research Corporation), issued a call in 1986 for cooperation among the industry’s manufacturers and the federal government. Seen also as an appropriate if not necessary US response to the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and the Industry and the Joint European Submicron Silicon Initiative (both of which assisted their local manufacturers), the consortium was to solve common manufacturing problems by leveraging resources and sharing risks in a noncompetitive environment. At the time, the semiconductor industry was the nation’s largest, with approximately 2.7 million American employees.

5 Fab 25 is a ten-year old facility. The lifespan of such a facility is approximately twenty years, dependent on upgrades, new standards, and chip industry developments. AMD considered modernizing the factory last year, including the installation of advanced equipment to process larger silicon wafers; those plans stalled when the flash memory market weakened. In addition, construction for Fab 36, a new facility for the production of larger (300nm) wafers, has been announced in Germany. (Source: Austin Business Journal)

6 Information in this section provided by SEMATECH, Handbook of Texas Online, the Austin Business Journal and The Business Review (Albany, NY).
The following year, the SIA approved the formation of SEMATECH and established operations in Santa Clara, California with thirteen charter members. SEMI/SEMATCH was formed as a corporation to help SEMATECH communicate with equipment and material suppliers. At the end of 1987, the US Congress approved the first funds for the consortium and site proposals were invited.

SEMATECH located in Austin (Pleasant Valley NPA) because of a multi-million dollar incentive package prepared by The University of Texas at Austin, the City of Austin, and the State of Texas. The University of Texas System Board of Regents purchased the ninety-four acre former Data General Corporation site and subsequently leased it to SEMATECH at the cost of one dollar a year. SEMATECH became a common testing ground for silicon integrated circuits, advanced tools, processes, and equipment. The program was and remains one of "precompetitive" generic research and development.

Initially, SEMATECH was scheduled to become privately-funded after six years. It began, however, with government startup funds amounting to up to $100 million a year, mostly through the Department of Defense.

SEMATECH is also a founding partner of the Advanced Materials Research Center, an industry-driven virtual R&D center focused on the commercialization of advanced technologies. The center is a collaboration between the State of Texas, SEMATECH, and the state’s research universities, combining the scientific strengths of state universities with the high-tech capabilities of major manufacturers, in order to produce future oriented technology for the people of Texas.
The State of Texas and International SEMATECH announced in 2004 that they had formed the Advanced Materials Research Center (AMRC) with the University of Texas System and other state universities to investigate promising new semiconductor technologies and help ensure the state’s high-tech future. Additionally, International SEMATECH launched its latest subsidiary, the Advanced Technology Development Facility (ATDF) as a for-profit research facility. In September, the parent company, International SEMATECH, once again became SEMATECH.

Like AMD, SEMATECH has been committed to being a good neighbor and active participant in the community. SEMATECH’s community involvement efforts focus on educational and community development programs, which take the form of corporate grants, corporate and individual contributions, donations of volunteer hours, and sometimes computers, printers and semiconductor equipment. As a non-profit organization, SEMATECH’s cash contributions are limited; nonetheless generous amounts of volunteer hours have benefited educational and community development programs.
Tokyo Electron

Tokyo Electron Limited (TEL) is a global supplier of semiconductor and flat panel display production equipment, as well as computer networks and electronic components. Established in 1963 as an affiliate of the Tokyo Broadcasting System and known as Tokyo Electron Laboratories, it was the first company to introduce American semiconductor production equipment and integrated circuit testers to Japan; it has played an important role in the development of the Japanese semiconductor industry ever since.

Though World Headquarters are located in Tokyo, Japan, the US Group Headquarters are located at 2400 Grove Boulevard, within the Pleasant Valley Neighborhood Planning Area. In addition to the headquarters for the U.S. Holdings group, the facility on Grove Boulevard is also the Tokyo Electron America, Inc (TEA) sales and service headquarters, which in turn oversees twelve branch offices located throughout the United States.

TEL U.S. Holdings Headquarters

The entity that would become TEL U.S. Holdings, Inc. was established in 1972, but a presence in Austin did not occur until 1994. When TEL first located Tokyo Electron America in Austin in 1994, the company employed ninety people, and it was exclusively a sales and service operation. Nonetheless, TEL’s investment in the US headquarters complex had reached $50 million on the sixty-acre site.

7 Information in this section provided by Tokyo Electron America, Austin Business Journal, and The Business Review (Albany, NY)
Shortly after arriving, they announced that it had chosen Austin over Portland, Oregon, for a new $20 to $30 million, 100,000-plus square foot assembly facility. In addition to the fact that they already had a site here, other factors favoring Austin included the site's proximity to key customers like Motorola, AMD and Samsung. The new facility, which would house the Tokyo Electron Texas subsidiary, would be used to manufacture chip-making devices responsible for pattern definition on a semiconductor wafer, and would add 150-200 people to the existing payroll of 200.

Like AMD and SEMATECH, the Austin presence of TEL has grown, and fluctuated, over time. Between 1994 and 2004, the local employment roll grew to 400 employees, becoming the second largest equipment supplier (based on sales dollars) to the semiconductor industry (Applied Materials, based in California but employing approximately 2,600 people in Austin, is the largest). Similar to the industry as a whole, TEL was affected by tough years in 2001 and especially 2002. At one point in 2001, the company had more than 10,000 employees worldwide and well over 500 in Austin. In April of 2003, it announced plans to cut 1,000 employees worldwide within the next twelve months, citing the recession in the semiconductor industry as the reason for the cuts. Even after layoffs, they still had about 520 employees at the Grove Boulevard campus.

Similar to its colleagues and neighbors AMD and SEMATECH, Tokyo Electron’s corporate citizenship attempts to address the mutual interests and needs of the community and the company. At the global level, TEL efforts are found in education, workforce development and civic initiatives. TEL’s support of community programs at the Austin Chamber of Commerce, Texas Asian Chamber of Commerce and Keep Austin Beautiful are a few examples of local civic and community outreach.
FUTURE LAND USE

The intention of the adopted Future Land Use Map (FLUM) is to incorporate the plan’s main land use goals and principles and display them in a graphic format. It is designed to serve as a guide when making future decisions regarding land use and zoning changes.

The FLUM sets the stage for appropriate development by looking at the needs of the community in and around the Planning Area; it is a general illustration of the type of development that is desired and appropriate for this part of Austin. Future rezoning proposals need to correspond with what has been adopted on the FLUM for each Neighborhood Planning Area (NPA). If a requested zoning change does not correspond with the adopted land use for a particular property, an amendment to the Neighborhood Plan will be required, which will involve interaction and communication with the Neighborhood Plan Contact Team (NPCT).

When thinking about future (re)development, Neighborhood Planning participants strongly recommend the preservation and/or protection of the natural environment. Development plans must respect and protect the creeks, the lakeshore environment and critical and sensitive environmental features like springs, woodlands, and wetlands. Look at the section of this Plan entitled “Parks, Trails, Open Space and the Natural Environment” for more information on some of the environmental features and amenities within this area.

Note 1: Multi-Family includes rental and owner occupied housing units (i.e. condominiums)

Note 2: This data includes approximately 183 acres of land owned by Austin Community College (ACC is excluded from the neighborhood planning process.)

The Riverside NPA is the most developed of the three NPAs and has the least amount of open space. The Riverside NPA has the largest proportion of multifamily residential of the three NPAs. Opportunities for future mixed-use redevelopment are available as MUB and NUC options, reflected on the FLUM by asterisks, and on the properties regulated by the Waterfront Overlay, reflected on the FLUM by diagonal lines. The FLUM also indicates that industrial development is not desired and/or appropriate within this particular NPA. It is critical to the Riverside NPA that commercial and office uses are maintained with future redevelopment; the application of true mixed use can achieve this goal.

The Parker Lane NPA continues to have the greatest share of single-family residential land use of the three NPAs. The future land use scenario offers abundant opportunities for commercial and office development, mainly due to the presence of Oltorf Street, IH-35 and Ben White Blvd., which are primarily retail/commercial corridors. The Parker Lane NPA continues to have the least amount of multifamily housing of the three NPAs and has the most opportunity for industrial development.
The Pleasant Valley NPA continues to have the least amount of land available for single-family housing and commercial development, but by far contains the most open space, largely due to the Roy C. Guerrero Colorado River Park, ACC and the campus-style development of most of the industrial properties. According to the FLUM, multifamily housing still comprises a significant share of its total land use and more is not desired.

The following provides some explanatory detail with respect to how the land use goals and stakeholder priorities have contributed to the formation of the future land use maps in this plan. The primary future land use categories within the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley NPAs include: Single-Family, Multifamily, Mixed Use, Commercial and Office, and Industrial.

Single-Family

The preservation of single-family neighborhoods is an important priority in this neighborhood plan. The combined FLUM demonstrates the neighborhoods’ desires that established single-family neighborhoods within the three planning areas be protected from encroachment and cushioned from higher intensity uses.

Key elements reflected on the FLUM include:

- Single-family uses and undeveloped lots with single-family zoning are predominantly designated as single-family on the FLUM.
- Intrusion by uses higher than SF-3 is prevented by a “hard edge” surrounding the single-family properties shown in yellow.
- Opportunities for single-family development and home ownership are encouraged by creating Urban Home Subdistricts, which permit detached single-family homes on lots with a minimum of 3,500 square feet. Urban Home Subdistricts have been created at the following locations:

  o Mission Hill Circle and Mission Hill Drive
  o East side of Parker Lane between Wickshire Lane and Carlson Drive

Multifamily
The combined planning area is unique in comparison to many parts of the city in that it has a dominance of multifamily development, primarily in the form of apartments. An overabundance of multifamily housing has resulted in problems related to traffic congestion, a high crime rate and inadequate infrastructure, and does not promote home ownership. Neighborhood Planning participants want to increase home ownership opportunities; more home-owning residents will enhance a sense of permanence and investment in the area. Neighborhood Planning participants desire to maintain a diverse range of housing opportunities for all stages of life and income levels as well as encourage a better housing balance.

A key element reflected on the FLUM is:
  - Existing multifamily (MF) uses have been maintained as MF for most properties except in cases where alternative options might be appropriate for redevelopment. (The intent is to allow existing MF uses to remain conforming uses according to City Code, and to make some commercial and office options available with redevelopment, specifically, Barcelona – 2101 Elmont Drive; Canyon Oaks – 1708 Burton Drive; Lafayette Landing – 1845 Burton Drive; and the palm reader location – 4825 E. Riverside Drive)

Mixed Use
The application of mixed use reflects the desire to see certain parts of the area develop or redevelop with projects that are pedestrian friendly, offer convenient neighborhood services, promote human-scale activity on the street, provide community open space and improve the appearance of particular retail corridors.
It is very important to note two major concerns regarding mixed use that have been voiced continually throughout the planning process:

1. Because of the overwhelming proportion of multifamily in this NPA, uses such as office and retail and condominiums and townhouses are all preferred to any multifamily uses; and,
2. Mixed use is supported only when it is a true mix of uses.

These concerns must be kept in the forefront when reading the following explanations and implementations concerning mixed use.

A concern related to possible future (re)development raised by participants during Neighborhood Planning meetings addressed the trend of new residential construction in the inner-city that is unaffordable to many Austinites. The desire to see new and higher quality development was overwhelmingly supported in order to improve the appearance of the area and offer a wider variety of uses to local residents; however, residential development should be sensitive to the diversity of income levels found within the Planning Area. Any concessions in height, setbacks, and/or FAR should be tied to a percentage of significant community open space and low-income units (60% of the median income).

Existing commercial development along Riverside Drive designated as mixed-use on the FLUM

Key elements reflected on the FLUM include:
- Properties with MUB and NUC options – indicated by large asterisks
- Waterfront Overlay properties – indicated by diagonal

Implementation of Mixed Use on specific properties within this planning area follows the descriptions below.
Types of Mixed Use

1 - The Mixed Use Combining District (MU)
During the neighborhood planning process stakeholders identified properties where mixed use was appropriate and desired. Although represented on the FLUM with a designation of mixed use, the specific type of mixed use is actually implemented or achieved via zoning; one way to do this is with the addition of the Mixed Use (MU) combining district to the commercial or office base zoning district. The addition of MU to a base zoning district means that several residential uses would be permitted in addition to the commercial and office uses allowed under the base zoning. The MU addition to a base zoning district is suitable when a very flexible zoning district is appropriate and desired as it allows for an entirely commercial and/or office development, an entirely residential development (from single-family homes to an apartment complex), or for a combination of these uses on the same site. However, as has already been illustrated, the three planning areas within the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan already contain a large amount of multifamily development. As such, there was much discussion during land use and zoning meetings regarding if and how the mixed-use concept could be appropriately applied to this specific part of town using the MU combining district.

2 - Special Use Infill Options
Another way that mixed use can be implemented through the neighborhood planning process is through the adoption of special development tools called the Special Use Infill Options. The term infill refers to “filling in” vacant or underutilized parcels of land in existing developed areas. A goal of the Special Options is to allow for development that will provide benefits such as accessibility to services and amenities by means other than the auto and a diversity of housing for different ages, incomes and lifestyles. The primary mixed-use Infill Options include the Mixed Use Building (MUB) and the Neighborhood Urban Center (NUC).

The Neighborhood Mixed Use Building Special Use permits a mix of uses, including residential, within a single building on a site. This special use should not be confused with the Mixed Use (MU) combining district described above. A major distinction between them is that the Neighborhood Mixed Use Building (MUB) prescribes a mix of commercial and residential in one building structure that has pedestrian-oriented design standards. The MUB must comply with special site development regulations that pertain to things such as setbacks, parking, lighting and the building façade.

The Mixed Use combining district, on the other hand, allows the construction of commercial or residential or a mix of both on a particular site without any special design or development regulations (the site development standards of the base zoning district apply). The Neighborhood Urban Center special use permits the redevelopment of an existing commercial center, or development of a large vacant site, into a mixed-use, pedestrian and transit-oriented center. There are specific site development and design standards that apply to each use within an NUC development.

Implementation of Mixed Use

The following paragraphs describe the details of how the mixed-use concept is to be implemented through this neighborhood plan:

For specific properties on:
- The north side of Lakeshore Blvd., just off Riverside Drive
- The south side of Lakeshore Blvd.
- The north side of Riverside Drive from IH-35 to Lakeshore Blvd.

Neighborhood Planning participants support a true mixed-use future land use designation on these properties. These properties are very important to nearby residents as they are located along the lakeshore in the Riverside Planning Area. Residents are especially sensitive to building heights, allowable uses and traffic generation at these locations and as such, prefer not to implement the mixed-use idea with zoning at the time of plan adoption. At the time that a property owner or developer expresses serious interest in redeveloping these properties, then discussions can occur between him/her and the NPCT regarding an appropriate mixed-use zoning strategy. Neighborhood Planning participants understand the Waterfront Overlay adds some mixed-use elements to these properties.

For specific properties on:
- The south side of Riverside Drive from Parker Lane to Pleasant Valley Road (The north side of Riverside Drive from Lakeshore Blvd. to Pleasant Valley Road was intentionally not selected by planning participants as appropriate for mixed-use development; there were concerns that creating mixed use opportunities on both sides of Riverside Drive would allow for the construction of new buildings that would have higher heights than existing buildings on both sides of the street and create a canyon-like effect.)
- The west side of Pleasant Valley Road from Riverside Drive to Lakeshore Blvd.
- The northwest and southeast corners of Oltorf Street and Parker Lane (MUB option only).

Neighborhood Planning participants support MUB and NUC options on these properties. It is not the desire of planning participants to see these lots develop entirely as residential since these are important locations that service the retail and office needs of the community. As previously described, these options allow for development that will provide benefits such as accessibility to services and amenities by means other than the automobile and a diversity of housing for different ages, incomes and lifestyles. The Neighborhood Mixed Use Building Special Use permits a mix of uses, including residential, within a single building on a site. The Neighborhood Urban Center Special Use permits the redevelopment of an existing commercial center, or development of a large vacant site, into a mixed-use, pedestrian and transit-oriented center.

Although the Mixed Use (MU) combining district is not recommended for these properties at the time of plan adoption, planning participants are willing to look at the possibility of adding mixed use in the future. As a result of this planning process, a code amendment was approved for the mixed use combining district to allow for the prohibition of multifamily residential. This conditional overlay is desired by the neighborhood for mixed use projects in an effort to limit the amount of additional multifamily residential in the already over saturated area. To determine which properties are affected by this conditional overlay, refer to the zoning on specific tracts.
Commercial and Office
There are specific corridors where the majority of properties are reserved on the FLUM for pure office and commercial development. In order to provide needed retail and office services to existing and future residents, certain properties should be maintained for non-residential uses.

Neighborhood Planning participants support the addition of small, locally owned businesses and offices. Given the population density and the need to encourage a walkable environment, any development should consider the area’s need for commercial services and diverse employment opportunities.

Neighborhood Planning participants generally prefer diverse non-residential corridors that provide a mixture of both office and commercial uses. Where these properties abut established residential neighborhoods, residents generally encourage office development instead of more intense commercial uses.
Key plan elements reflected on the FLUM:

- Maintain or create the opportunity for commercial and/or office development for specific properties on:
  - Oltorf Road between IH-35 and Pleasant Valley Road
  - The northwest corner of Pleasant Valley Road north of Riverside Drive
  - The north side of Ben White Blvd.
  - The northbound IH-35 access road
  - The north side of Riverside Drive between S. Lakeshore Blvd. and Pleasant Valley Road

Industrial

Industrial areas are represented on the FLUM by properties where there is existing industrial development. All of these sites are located in the southeast corner of the combined planning area and are predominantly occupied by large high-tech companies such as AMD, SEMATECH and Tokyo Electron. Neighborhood Planning participants consider the presence of these industrial companies in the planning area as a strength to the community and the Austin economy. Residents like the aesthetics of their industrial park campuses and the fact that the properties are well-maintained. These companies have developed solid relationships with nearby residents by acknowledging and respecting the presence of adjacent residential neighborhoods. Residents consider these major employers to be “good neighbors” and desire to maintain their existence as they contribute positively to the immediate area and to the entire city. Any future industrial development within these planning areas should incorporate the high quality characteristics of existing industrial development, maintain the existing campus-style structure, and adopt the practice of communicating and working with members of the community in which they have chosen to locate their business.
Riverside Drive

Encouraging desirable redevelopment along Riverside Drive with respect to both land use and urban design is a key component of this neighborhood plan. Riverside Drive is important as a commercial center to the diverse groups of residents living in proximity to the roadway, in addition to serving as a gateway to downtown for visitors since it is a primary route to and from the Austin Bergstrom International Airport. The views of downtown that one experiences while traveling westbound on Riverside Drive are spectacular and it is recommended that the views be protected, not only for vehicular traffic, but for the many pedestrians who already traverse Riverside Drive on a daily basis. However, throughout this process it has become abundantly clear that the services available on Riverside Drive are limited in scope regarding what they offer local residents. In addition, the current appearance of the Riverside Drive streetscape, predominantly west of Pleasant Valley Road, does not represent the city well.

The strip shopping malls along Riverside Drive epitomize the car-dominated environment that is, unfortunately, typical of much of the modern American landscape. As a major gateway to the city of Austin, the first impression that many visitors have is of a sprawl of low rise buildings or under-utilized and/or vacant retail space, and the associated sea of mostly deserted parking lots. The current appearance is dominated by a cacophony of commercial signs, blistering parking lot asphalt, and a distinct lack of both vegetation and quality architecture. Although extremely dangerous, pedestrian activity along Riverside Drive is much heavier than one would expect. Many residents rely on public transportation and have no option but to walk to and from grocery stores, bus stops, and existing retail establishments. After dark, there is even more pedestrian activity along Riverside Drive. One of the Neighborhood Plan Goals is to make this area safe for pedestrians and to encourage more pedestrian traffic. Many neighborhood stakeholders have expressed their desire throughout this planning process to see more diverse eating and shopping options, a wider range of office services, functional civic spaces, and attractive landscaping.

Corridors like the Riverside Drive commercial strip are increasingly being seen as among the best opportunities for developing more mixed use, transit-oriented neighborhoods. This mixed use form of development can include jobs, retail, public space, mixed income housing, and other activities conducive to a higher quality of life. The Urban Land Institute\(^8\) identifies the following metropolitan trends that are acting to redirect growth into existing communities and thereby supporting the redevelopment of retail strips like Riverside Drive:

1. Increasing popularity of urban lifestyles among empty nesters, singles, and non-traditional households;
2. The popularity with immigrants of urban retail locations as low cost locations for small businesses, stores, and restaurants;
3. Renewed interest in urban retail locations due to the saturation of suburban markets;
4. The preference of consumers for pedestrian-oriented, street front retail environments.

However, the Urban Land Institute also adds that these factors alone are insufficient to encourage redevelopment of commercial strips. They argue that partnerships between the public and private sector are also important. Neighborhood plans can also assist this process by helping to describe a clear vision for how the local stakeholders would like to see a strip like Riverside Drive change. A clearly defined vision for Riverside Drive developed by a broad cross-section of stakeholders through the neighborhood planning process can be an extremely useful tool in aiding the redevelopment of the corridor. As such, particular attention should be paid to the desired forms of mixed use described above for portions of Riverside Drive in addition to the preferred urban design characteristics, which can be found in the Urban Design Chapter.

It is the desire of the Neighborhood Planning Participants that a focused corridor study as outlined in Goal 3 consider, but not be limited to, the following elements:

LARGE SITES
Beyond the small number of government-owned sites like the Mueller Airport and the Triangle at Lamar and Guadalupe, it is difficult to locate sites in the urban core of Austin that are large enough to justify the increased costs and risks involved in infill development. Neighborhood Planning participants support redevelopment of commercial strip sites along Riverside Drive and welcome the opportunity to discuss options with developers.

TRANSIT ACCESSIBILITY
The strip malls along Riverside Drive are located on existing bus and shuttle lines that cater to this area and the surrounding apartment complexes. The addition of Dillo circulators as recommended by Neighborhood Planning participants will further support development of new activity centers in the area.

NEIGHBORHOOD CENTERS
Sites like the strip malls along Riverside Drive are large enough to accommodate whole new neighborhood centers, providing opportunities for live/work options and community open space.
CIVIC SPACE
Attractive public gathering spaces that promote informal interaction among neighbors is a missing component of much of recent urban development. Austin is fortunate enough to possess great public spaces like Zilker Park and the Town Lake Trail, but like many other cities the list of prime “people watching” and vibrant public gathering spaces is short. Any redevelopment of Riverside Drive should incorporate quality public spaces in the form of parks, plazas, squares, etc. These spaces should form the heart of the neighborhood center.
5. Transportation

Introduction

The goal of this plan with respect to transportation is to:

- Enhance the transportation network to allow residents and visitors to travel around safely and efficiently by foot, bicycle, automobile and public transit.

Throughout this Neighborhood Planning process many concerns and issues related to the transportation network were expressed and identified by stakeholders in the area. The principal themes that encapsulate these concerns are:

- The transportation network should be safer for all users: autos, pedestrians, cyclists, etc.
  The combined NPA, and each individual NPA, is surrounded by major roadways on which a huge number of automobiles pass through this part of town on a daily basis. These roads serve as principal routes to and from the airport in addition to downtown Austin. Cut-through traffic and speeding have been identified as major concerns of planning participants on many roads within the combined NPA. Several of the recommendations that came from planning participants attempt to address these issues.

- Roadways should not be barriers and impede pedestrian and bicycle travel.
  Several of the roads that bound and bisect this area are wide and contain numerous traffic lanes, which makes it very challenging for non-automobile users to safely and efficiently traverse from one part of the area to another. Coupled with insufficient pedestrian and bicycle infrastructure, this creates problems and annoyances for those who would like to access services and local amenities on both sides of a roadway. A good example of such a barrier is Riverside Drive. The residents south of the road would like to have safe and easy access to Town Lake and the hike-and-bike trail and it is probable that many of the residents in the apartments to the north of Riverside Drive would like the same type of access to the businesses on the south side of the street.
Roadways should not disrupt and create dangers for established single family neighborhoods.
As the land use section illustrates, single-family development within the combined NPA is not the predominant type of land use. Single-family neighborhoods have established themselves over the years in pockets and have gradually become surrounded by higher density development (both residential and non-residential) in addition to major roadways. As a result, several of the transportation recommendations aim to preserve these neighborhoods not only with respect to land use, but also in character and quality of life.

There should be more transportation options to move people to different parts of the area.
There are many amenities within the boundaries of the combined NPA that attract locals and non-locals alike. Major destinations include: Town Lake, the Hike and Bike Trail, retail services along Riverside Drive and Oltorf Street, the Colorado River Park, the Daniel Ruiz Library, ACC Riverside Campus, etc. A desire of the participants in this planning process is to see more transportation options so that people can take advantage of these amenities. Residents and workers in the area would benefit greatly from improvements in pedestrian, bicycle and transit infrastructure and services.

Lastly, specific recommendations made towards realizing each of the transportation goals can be found in Section 3. Any land use recommendation not supported by the City can be found in Appendix A. Immediately following this introduction is a documentation of historical or background information with respect to the transportation network in this area and following that is a table of the CAMPO and AMATP Transportation Plan recommendations for the roadways within the combined NPA.
History/Background

As noted in the land use section, the road network developed over time, usually in tandem with adjacent residential or commercial development. While some roadways, such as Parker Lane, are relatively old, others such as Oltorf Street are relatively new.

Riverside Drive is one of the oldest roadways, not just in the combined Neighborhood Planning Area, but in the City of Austin. Land for its right-of-way was deeded to Travis County in 1886. For much of its history, Riverside Drive served as means for transportation, rather than a destination of commerce in itself. In fact, according to maps prepared for the Travis County Commissioners Court in 1902, Riverside Drive extended from Lamar Blvd. eastward all the way to what was then known as Bastrop Road (not to be confused with Bastrop Highway). Bastrop Road was located just east of the present day US Highway 183, which is also known as Bastrop Highway. Later, Riverside Drive was extended to connect with State Highway 71, also known as Ben White Boulevard, and named in honor of "Uncle Ben" White who served from 1951-1967 on the Austin City Council. In addition to Riverside Drive’s early connection with roadways to Bastrop and beyond, it later served as a major route to and from the Bergstrom Air Force Base (the current site for the Austin Bergstrom International Airport).

Used as a base to train pilots fighting in World War II, the base was renamed Bergstrom Army Air Field in 1943. During and especially after the end of the War, many military families moved to the Del Valle area around the base, thus increasing demand for transportation connections between the base area and downtown Austin. In 1959, after completion of IH-35, additional right-of-way for Riverside Drive was deeded to the County to widen it east of Parker Lane.

Other major roads in the Planning Area, such as Burleson Road, Metcalfe Lane and Parker Lane, also predate most land development. Burleson Road (of which Metcalfe Lane was a part of prior to realignment), dates from 1925 when its right-of-way was deeded to the County. Several of these connected with roads south of State Highway 71 such as Burleson Road, Todd Lane, and Nuckols Crossing, which had existed to some degree in their current alignment since the end of the nineteenth century.

State Highway 71, the southern boundary of the Combined Neighborhood Planning Area, which in 1939 was described as extending from Bastrop via Smithville, La Grange, Columbus, El Campo, and Midfield to a point, was well-traveled and was extended to Austin by 1951. However, the origins of this highway are actually much earlier. Bastrop Highway was a “historical road” on the 1898-1902 roadway map adopted by the Commissioners Court of Travis County. It was improved by the City of Austin while in the City’s jurisdiction and named after a Mayor for the City. In 1960, the City began construction on what would become the Ben White Boulevard and US Highway 183 interchange.

Interregional Highway Number 35, or IH-35 as it is commonly called, serves as the western boundary of the Combined Planning Area. The interstate highway system began in 1956, when the US Congress established the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. Construction of IH-35 through Austin was among some of the first Interstate projects, and already by 1959 the Interstate extended from the International Boundary at Laredo to the Texas/Oklahoma State Line.

Montopolis Drive and Grove Boulevard, which serve as the eastern boundary of the Combined Planning Area, are relatively old (Montopolis Drive) and relatively new and incomplete (Grove Blvd). Montopolis Drive, deeded as right-of-way to the County in 1949, served as the primary entry point into Montopolis, a separate community established on the outskirts of Austin. Grove Boulevard was constructed in the 1980’s and 1990’s, when the underlying and adjacent property was already in the City’s jurisdiction. Today, Grove Boulevard effectively ends at the Roy G. Guererro Colorado River Park. However, it was planned to eventually connect with Montopolis Drive in order to provide additional north-south connectivity. The extension of Grove Boulevard remains in the adopted Austin Metropolitan Area Transportation Plan (AMATP 2025), the official Long Range Transportation Plan for the Austin Metropolitan Area.

Shortly before the beginning of this neighborhood planning process, Pleasant Valley Road was extended south of Oltorf Street (seen above at the stoplight). Later, a ten-foot wide shared-use path was constructed for pedestrians and bicyclists. The path extends to Burleson Road along a utility right-of-way.
CAMPO and AMATP Transportation Plans

There are two major organizations that plan roadways in Austin. The first is the Capital Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (CAMPO), created by federal mandate and charged with developing an integrated transportation plan for the regional area of Central Texas. Federally mandated metropolitan planning organizations exist all over the country and are expected to conduct exhaustive data analyses in preparation for their roadway and transportation plans. The CAMPO 2025 Plan serves as a guide for long-range planning for federally funded transportation projects and serves as a comprehensive transportation plan for the governmental jurisdictions within the CAMPO area. These include the Texas Department of Transportation, Capital Metropolitan Transportation Authority, nineteen municipalities, and all of Travis, Williamson, and Hays counties.

The Austin Metropolitan Area Transportation Plan (AMATP) is intended to guide arterial roadway network decisions for approximately the next twenty-five years. The AMATP does not mandate a schedule for roadway construction projects, but rather identifies a proposed future major roadway system. It uses the CAMPO 2025 Plan as its foundation and adds alternative recommendations and additional data where the AMATP planning team deems appropriate. City Council has adopted the AMATP and the City of Austin supports its implementation, although on occasion, the Council will amend the plan.

6. Parks, Trails, Open Space and the Natural Environment

Introduction

The East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning process addresses not only the built environment but also the natural environment. Generally speaking, planning participants respect and enjoy the environmental resources and amenities within this part of Austin. There is much enthusiasm and energy to see existing green spaces preserved and a strong desire to augment them. With the understanding that this part of town is within the inner city, close to downtown and subject to high development pressure, planning participants would like a more reasonable balance between the built and natural environment. The natural environment should not be considered separate from urban life; rather, it should be integrated with urban living. The goals in this Plan that address park, trails, open space and the natural environment are:

- Protect and enhance the Town Lake Waterfront as well as creek areas and other natural amenities.
- Preserve and enhance existing parks, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course and other open spaces and create opportunities for additional public open space.

There were several prevalent themes that arose out of the Neighborhood Planning process related to this subject:

- Creek areas should be protected from development so that their natural state is maintained for the enjoyment of residents and to mitigate flooding hazards and poor water quality.
- Sensitive environmental features such as springs, wetlands and ponds should be identified and documented so that they can be protected from development.
- The natural character of the waterfront environment should be preserved. These areas should also be accessible to the public as a natural amenity for all to enjoy.
- Opportunities to create small parks (i.e. “pocket parks” or “neighborhood greens”) within neighborhoods should be explored. There is much parkland within the boundaries of the combined NPA. However, much of this parkland is not within close distance of existing neighborhoods and is separated by Riverside Drive, a wide and very busy roadway.
Connections between existing park/open spaces should be created or improved, especially the gap in the Town Lake Trail. People should be able to safely access park space utilizing a variety of travel modes.

A trail system should be created along Country Club Creek. The creek system is a major natural asset within this part of Austin and it should be preserved and made accessible to enjoy as a natural resource, similar to the Blunn Creek Trail just west of IH-35. Trails could create connections to different parts of the area where none currently exist and provide a much desired recreational amenity.

Existing parks, primarily Mabel Davis Park and the Colorado River Park, should respond to the diverse recreational needs of the surrounding community.

The Riverside Golf Course should be preserved as a golf course. The general desire of Neighborhood Planning participants is to see this property remain in its current state. Residents enjoy the open nature of the site and its historical significance; the Riverside Golf Course has become a fond neighbor to many. The owner, Austin Community College, is uncertain about its plans for this site since they are about to engage in a campus-wide master planning process to determine which, if any, of their existing campus facilities should be expanded.

The following pages document the history/background of the green/open spaces located within the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Neighborhood Planning Areas. The next part introduces the Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance and explores the work that has been done by this group towards creating a system of trails along County Club Creek.

The Plan’s recommendations that aim to achieve the goals listed above can be found in Section 3 of this plan. Any recommendation not supported by the City can be found in Appendix A. Supplemental environmental information related to this NPA can be found in Appendix C.
History/Background

The Longhorn Dam on The Colorado River
Town Lake, stretching from Tom Miller Dam at the west to Longhorn Dam at the east, is the youngest “constructed” lake on the Colorado River in Central Texas. Unlike the six dams constructed and operated by the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA), Longhorn Dam was constructed, and is maintained, by the City of Austin. Also unique to Town Lake is that it is in the heart of Austin and nearly inseparable from the identity of Austin as an urban oasis within Texas, however, that was not always the case.

Longhorn Dam

Even though the Longhorn Dam did not become a reality until the 1960’s, planning for the low-water dam, as it was then called, and the resulting lake began at least by 1927, one year after Austin adopted its city manager form of government and about the same time Austin established its parks and playgrounds system. According to a 1932 report to the City Council, the purpose of the proposed dam was to create a lake in the City of Austin as a means of beautification of the river front and a possible resort for visitors to and the citizens of Austin (Helland, 1932). This report analyzed two possible locations for the dam, one at Comal Street and the other at the East City Limit line (about 1.25 miles to the east of Comal); considerations included the impact to existing storm sewers, elevated water levels in creeks, and the number of acres which would be flooded. The project was determined feasible, with the proviso that it not cause damage to the Barton Springs pool, and recognition that it may benefit the Water and Light Plant. The cost of the dam, excluding landscaping and beautification, was estimated at anywhere from $209,000 to $248,000, depending on specific site location.

Chain of Highland Lakes and Dams

Buchanan Dam – Constructed from 1935 – 1937 primarily to store water and supply hydroelectricity – forms Lake Buchanan.

Inks Dam – Constructed from 1936 – 1938 primarily in tandem with Buchanan, as it has the smallest hydroelectric power plant and no floodgates – forms Inks Lake.

Wirtz Dam – constructed from 1949 to 1950 primarily to provide additional hydroelectric power and provides cooling water for LCRA’s Ferguson Power Plant along Horseshoe Bay. The Dam and Lake were originally called Granite Shoals; the dam was renamed in 1952 for Alvin J. Wirtz who was instrumental in LCRA’s creation and served as its first general counsel. The lake was renamed in 1965 for another advocate of LCRA, President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Starcke Dam – Constructed 1949 – 1951 for hydroelectricity – forms Lake Marble Falls. Originally named Marble Falls, the dam was renamed in 1962 for Max Starcke, LCRA’s second general manager.

Mansfield Dam - Constructed from 1937 – 1941 – specifically designed to contain floodwaters in the lower Colorado River basin – forms Lake Travis. Originally known as the Marshall Ford Dam, it was renamed in 1941 for U.S. Rep. J.J. Mansfield, who assisted in the project’s development. The Corps of Engineers, however, still refers to the structure as the Marshall Ford Dam.

Tom Miller Dam – Constructed from 1938 – 1940 to provide hydroelectricity and store water – forms Lake Austin. Constructed on top of the remains of two earlier structures, both called Austin Dam, built from 1890-1893 and 1909-1912, respectively. Massive floods destroyed both structures. The lake originally was called Lake McDonald. The final dam is named for an Austin Mayor, and is leased to the LCRA by the City of Austin until 2020.

(Source: Lower Colorado River Authority)

A few years later, in preparation of the 1936 Texas Centennial, it was decided that construction of the dam was necessary, not just for Centennial uses but for the general benefit of the City and the Water & Light Department; a proposal to borrow $250,000 for the purpose of building the low water dam and incidental expenses followed.

Despite that call, the dam was not built by the time of the Texas Centennial. In 1938, Tom Miller, Mayor of Austin from 1933-49; 1955-61 (and for whom the Austin Dam was renamed after reconstruction due to flooding), lobbied for federal funds under a Public Works Administration matching-funds grant. According to a newspaper article that same year, the low-water dam proposal had been the subject of discussion for over two decades; the planning for this dam likely preceded the planning of the Chain of Highland Lakes and Dams (refer to previous page for information on the Highland Lakes and Dams). The proposal was considered ready for action in view of the expected early termination of negotiations for the completion of the Tom Miller Dam (Statesman, 1938). Mayor Miller declared that the proposed structure would give Austin “the most beautiful river front in the country” and would provide a “gateway to the chain of dams along the Colorado.” (ibid).

The ultimate decision to construct the dam was made in 1956, although it was made without a firm timeline or specific location. Bonds totaling $1,250,000 had been previously authorized for the construction of a low-water dam that would create a lake in the heart of the city and boost the city’s power producing capacity. As for location, the proposed site was “half way” between the Interregional Highway and the Montopolis Bridge (Statesman, 1956).

The primary purpose of the dam had changed from one of beautification to one of utility; it was to guarantee a consistent water level for the municipal power plant’s water intake. Designed in conjunction with a new power plant, the collapsible dam (so as not to impede flood waters), was to provide a small “town lake” needed to assure an adequate water supply for both the old and new power plants. The new power plant was scheduled to be online by the summer of 1960 so that Austin could meet its rapidly increasing energy demands and not have to buy electricity elsewhere. In addition to impounding water for the Holly and Seaholm power plants, the 506-foot long dam also provided water for the renamed Thomas C. Green Water Treatment Plant, which originally began operations in 1925.

Today, many anglers, especially fly fishermen, enjoy the stretch of river below Longhorn Dam where long-rodders catch largemouth bass, bluegills and Guadalupe bass. In addition, the water released at the dam has been rated as Class I - II by American Whitewater and is popular among members of the Austin Paddling Club.

Why is it named the “Longhorn Dam”?

The name Longhorn Dam is reminiscent of the cattle drives that used to navigate the low-water crossing at this site. This crossing was once an essential link in the Chisholm Trail, a route that took longhorn cattle to market from some ranches at least twenty-five miles south of Austin to Kansas, and then brought market goods back. In The Longhorn Crossing, author Walter E. Long describes why this crossing was preferred over others:

> The East Austin crossing…was the favorite one since the water was spread over a rather even rock floor. There were no dangerous holes and no quicksand. The letters of old trail drivers indicate that they had less trouble crossing the Colorado than any other major river on their route. Even floods lasted only a short time since this semi-mountainous river had a quick run-off.

Interestingly enough, the first longhorn crossing at the site, in 1867, resulted in a stampede. Apparently, when the first large herds of cattle came in sight of the white outcropping of limestone with the sun shining on the water, the cattle stampeded. Although it took several hours to gather the cattle, this stampede and the drive (which continued) helped establish Austin’s importance as it specified a crossing which came to be known as the Longhorn Crossing.

Town Lake Metropolitan Park

This collection of connected parks along both the north and south banks of Town Lake, including Auditorium Shores, Butler Shores, Festival Beach, Holly Shores, Lakeshore, Lamar Beach, Longhorn Shores, Norwood Tract, Shoal Beach, and Waller Beach, totals over five-hundred (508.89) acres. Lakeshore and Longhorn Shores, at 14.03 and 10.93 acres respectively, flank the south side of Town Lake and are within the Combined Neighborhood Planning Area. Perhaps best known for its 10.1 miles of gravelled hike-and-bike trails, which are popular with joggers, walkers, bicyclists, and dog-walkers, the Park also includes picnic tables and pavilions, baseball, softball, and soccer fields, playgrounds, fishing piers and boat ramps, and, of course, restroom and parking facilities throughout.
A segment of the Town Lake Hike and Bike Trail

The system of trails and the flowering trees along Town Lake can be thought of as a lasting legacy from Ladybird Johnson. Development of the Park and establishment of its trails began in the late 1960s. In the mid 1970s, the former First Lady spearheaded a campaign known as the Town Lake Beautification Project; other people involved in the project include Roberta Crenshaw, who served as chair of the Parks Board.9 Austin voters approved $2.5 million in bond money for the 1975-1977 capital improvement project.

Additional picnic areas, fishing points, trail development, a playscape, landscaping, restrooms and rest areas, and parking facilities, resulted from this Project. Also included were many trees planted along Town Lake, which included the following varieties: Bald Cypress, Chinese Tallow, Crepe Myrtle, Golden Rain, Live Oak, Pecan, Redbud, Spanish Oak, Weeping Willow, and Yaupon Holly. Already by the end of 1975, the Project had received state and national awards, including an outdoor recreation award from the National Trail Systems and Best Example of Texas Public Architecture by the Texas Society of Landscape Architects for the gazebo at Lou Neff Point.

9 Roberta Crenshaw was said to be the one - or one of the ones – who was primarily responsible for the Town Lake area being redone as green space and a park area per a 1997 interview with Mary Arnold conducted by David Todd as part of the Texas Legacy Project (Interview transcript available at http://www.texaslegacy.org/m/transcripts/arnoldmarytxt.htm).
To recognize the contribution from Ladybird Johnson, the City Council, in the late 1970s designated the network of trails along Town Lake and its main tributaries as the "Ladybird Johnson Trail System." A Trail and Waterway Development Fund was created by the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board to provide for the continuation of efforts started by the Town Lake Beautification Committee. As summarized by one writer over twenty years ago:

The creation of parkland along Town Lake has provided Austin with a central point of beauty and recreational facilities unsurpassed by other cities. Under the leadership of Lady Bird Johnson, Town Lake, a once unattractive disruption of urban geography, has been turned into an escape from urban monotony for the people of Austin.

From what had been an underdeveloped section of town referenced to as “the lower part,” there has arisen, with the rebirth of central Austin, a desire among developers to utilize the asset provided by the lakes to create a new town from the land originally surveyed by Mr. Sandusky and Mr. Waller in 1839. (Harris, 1984)

Indeed, it could have turned out differently. As explained by the same author, when the Lake was formed it was an unpolished gem that provided opportunity for careful refinement and development. It was ignored, however, because of a general lack of interest in the “lower end of town” among Austinites. Despite the new auditorium built on the south shore in 1959, little changed and the City neglected the water. The situation continually deteriorated to the point where citizens would refer to the area as Austin’s “backyard basin for refuse”, and some even suggested that it be filled in.

In 1968, a comprehensive master plan for Town Lake Development was approved by the City Council. Today, the result is an area that has changed from a “geographic barrier and overlooked industrial quagmire to an inner city unifier tying together north and south” (ibid).

In addition to the hike and bike trail’s popularity among Austinites noted above, the Lakeshore and Longhorn Shore Parks, along with the Colorado River Park, are popular spots among amateur ornithologists. According to data compiled by Texas Parks and Wildlife, the trees and vegetation along the lakefront provide habitat for migrant and wintering birds such as the yellow warbler (common during migration) and the ringed kingfisher (an occasional rarity). Wood ducks also nest in the vicinity, bringing their broods in late spring and early summer.

In addition, Town Lake also hosts thousands of over-wintering water birds, mostly American coots, lesser scaup, and double-crested cormorants. Occasionally, ospreys and common loons are reported. Western kingbirds and monk parakeets nest in and around ball fields at the Krieg Field complex. The Colorado River just below Longhorn Dam is also worth investigating if water is low – rarities found here have included the American dipper. The fields and thickets of the Colorado River Greenbelt are popular during migration, when one may see clay-colored sparrows, crested caracara and painted bunting.

Roy G. Guerrero Colorado River Park
Formerly known as the Colorado River Park, the Park was renamed in August 2001 in honor of Mr. Roy G. Guerrero. The first portion of Roy G. Guerrero Colorado River Park was acquired in 1958. Adjacent properties were acquired by donation or purchase, with the final portion being acquired in 1994. In 1996 a plan was produced that identified a wish list of $50 million in features; regrettably, that plan did not take into account flood plains and other natural features that would challenge the development of wish list items. Later, the Austin Parks Foundation conducted an analysis of the property and spent more than $100,000 in private donations for master-planning the Park, which was completed in June 2000.

Today the Roy G. Guerrero Metropolitan Park is approximately 374 acres, slightly larger in size than Zilker Park. Of those acres, approximately 364 (97.3%) are within the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning Area. The park lies adjacent to the Montopolis Youth Sports Complex and together, the parks contain five lighted baseball fields and eleven lighted softball fields. Improvements for the park include a multiple-purpose field and two miles of trails. In addition, there are also plans for other recreational opportunities such as picnic areas, nature trails, a celebration area, an outdoor special events area

10 According to information provided by the City of Austin Parks and Recreation Department (PARD) prior to the dedication ceremony, Roy G. Guerrero, also known as "Mr. G" – as in Giant - and "Mr. Recreation," spent thirty-four years with PARD. He started as an activity leader in east Austin, and worked his way up to deputy director. During his tenure, he remained active in many community organizations - always finding new ways to inspire youth to become better adults, encouraging them to give back to their community. He is one of the founders of the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation, is past president of the Texas Recreation and Park Society, has served on several boards, and has received numerous community awards. and a pavilion. All improvements are part of a larger capital improvement project funded by the 1998 bond election.

Roy G. Guerrero Colorado River Park Chronology

1958 – Acquired 63 acres along Pleasant Valley Road near Longhorn dam, which were later developed into the Krieg Field Sports Complex.

1977 – Roberta Crenshaw, local parks advocate, donates 20 acres along the Colorado River.

1980 – Colorado River land acquisition bond passed for $300,000.

1980 – Acquired 31 acres along the Colorado River near the Montopolis Bridge.

1985 – Colorado River Park bond passed for $3,180,000.

1986 – Acquired 26 acres in order to expand parkland along the Colorado River.

Late – Adjacent College Park subdivision development fails. The property passes through a Savings and Loan failure to the federal Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC).

1992 – Montopolis Sports Complex bond passes for $2,950,000. The neighborhood chooses the Colorado River Park as the preferred location for the complex.

1993 – The Trust for Public Land buys the College Park subdivision from the RTC. The Trust agrees to sell the land to Austin on a lease/purchase plan.

1996 – The Colorado River Park planning committee produces a vision statement for the Park, a conceptual plan, and preliminary cost estimates for park development.

1997 – The City completes the acquisition of the Park and takes final ownership from the Trust for Public Land. The acquisition adds another 223 acres of land to the park.

1998 - Colorado River Park bond passes for $10,000,000 to complete Phase I of the park.

2000 – Master Plan approved.

Mabel Davis Park

Mabel Davis Park, a municipal park of just over fifty (50) acres, was acquired by the City over three decades ago, in 1974. Named for Mrs. Alden (Mabel) Davis, who helped organize the Austin Area Garden Center and served as the Center’s first President, it was developed in the late 1970’s and opened in 1979. Features of the park include a swimming pool, picnic pavilion, two basketball courts, one softball field, one multiple-purpose field and a one-quarter mile nature trail.

Unfortunately, natural areas in the park are currently closed. Part of the park is located over a portion of an old landfill that was operated from 1944 to 1955. In March 2000, while preparing to do maintenance work on the landfill, the City discovered elevated levels of lead contained in old battery casings and nearby soils in relatively inaccessible areas of the park. Additional fieldwork uncovered elevated levels of a number of pesticides in several areas. Although no contaminants were found in surface water or groundwater and no pesticides or lead were found in the playscape area, the park was closed in May 2000 for remediation, except for the pool.

Components of the mediation project include:

- Remove lead-contaminated soil, cap or remove pesticide-contaminated soils, remove contaminated sediment from Newell Pond.
- Rebuild and restore headwaters of Country Club Creek over landfill.
- Stop groundwater filtering through landfill and into creek.
- Cover exposed waste and stabilize landfill erosion.
- Rebuild pond dam and install 2 bridges over creek.
- Replace and upgrade an existing wastewater line.

A clay slurry being placed into a trench approximately two feet wide, thirty feet deep and three hundred feet long through the pond dam. This “cutoff wall” will prevent water from the pond from migrating into the landfill and then coming back out into the creek as leachate.

Remediation project at Mabel Davis Park
The mediation project is managed by the City’s Public Works, Solid Waste Services, and Watershed Protection and Development Review Departments, while the actual contract work is being done by private party. Funding for the $8-$9 million project is provided primarily from City issued bonds, although approximately $500 thousand was provided by the City’s Brownfields program.

The City has been working closely with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) on the cleanup. As noted, the remediation involves removing contaminated soil in some areas and “capping” contaminated soil in other areas. The City will inspect the cap and landfill on a yearly basis. In addition to the work being done to address soil contamination, the project includes fixing problems associated with the landfill, such as rebuilding the creek (which has caused erosion into the landfill exposing landfill waste), regrading and capping the top of the landfill, rebuilding the pond dam, and installing a leachate collection system. In addition, the City Council recently approved $390,000 for the design and construction of a skateboard facility. All work is scheduled for completion by the end of summer, with the park reopening in October 2005. Once remediation is complete, approximately 20 acres of the park that were previously inaccessible due to trees and underbrush will be available for use by park visitors. New open areas will be planted with native grasses, wildflowers, and Bermuda grass.

Artist’s Rendering of Mabel Davis Park after Remediation and Improvements
Certain areas of the park (such as that above the landfill and under the pesticide cap) will have restrictions on excavation and foundations for structures, so as not to disturb the clay cap. Most areas, however, will have no other restrictions on use.

The Riverside Golf Course
The Riverside Golf course is an 18-hole par-71 golf course nestled into the southern portion of the Roy G. Guerrero Colorado River Park, west of Grove Boulevard. Currently owned by Austin Community College who leases out the golf course management, the course was originally developed and used by the Austin Country Club.

Riverside Golf Course

History of the Austin Country Club and Harvey Penick
The Austin Country Club was established in 1899 by Lewis Hancock, mayor of the City of Austin. The Club built, owned and used what is now known as the Riverside Golf Course from 1950 to 1984, before they relocated to Davenport Ranch (Trimble, 1999). Prior to their tenure at Riverside, the Austin Country Club could be found at 811 E. 41st Street, now known as the Hancock Golf

11 Originally chartered as Austin Golf Club, the name changed to Austin Country Club in 1905; it later changed to Country Club of Austin and then back to Austin Country Club.
Course. Harvey Penick started his golf career at the Hancock location at the age of eight, when he became a caddy for the Austin County Club; by age thirteen he was assistant pro and was elevated to head professional in 1923 upon graduation from high school.12 He retained that title for the next forty-eight years.

In 1949, the Austin Country Club determined that they needed more space, and decided to move to the Grove Boulevard location, selling the Hancock Golf Course to the City of Austin. Harvey Penick and the Board of Directors of the Austin Country Club selected Perry Maxwell, the preeminent golf architect of the classical period of golf architecture (1890 – 1941), to design and build the Grove Boulevard golf course. Perry Maxwell, working with his son, J. Press Maxwell, and Harvey Penick completed the course construction in two years (1948-1949).

Perry Maxwell golf courses are revered by golfers and have been repeatedly used by the PGA for major golf tournaments. In 2002, Perry Maxwell’s Southern Hills Country Club (Tulsa, Oklahoma – completed 1935) hosted the US Open. In July 2006, another Perry Maxwell masterpiece, Prairie Dunes Country Club (Hutchinson, Kansas – completed 1937) was the site of the Seniors Open. Maxwell’s Southern Hills and Prairie Dunes golf courses have hosted more major tournaments (US Opens and PGA Championships) than any other golf course with one notable exception. The Masters is played annually at Augusta National Golf Club, a course Maxwell also co-designed, built (completed 1934), and then prepared for every successive Masters until his death in 1952. During that 18-year period, Maxwell became known as the “Open Doctor,” because he was also the first golf architect given the honor and responsibility of preparing the course selected for the US Open each year.

Perry Maxwell was a “minimalist,” known for his ability to work with the land. He and Harney Penick spent most of 1946 and 1947 looking for the best possible site for the new Austin Country Club. They had two criteria: soil and water. The Grove Boulevard site provided the very best of both, well-draining sandy loam soil and a highly productive water well.

When the Austin Country Club relocated to the Grove Blvd. site, so did Harvey Penick. He and his wife Helen subdivided a 10.8-acre parcel just south of the golf course into fourteen lots known as Penick Place. Throughout his 70-year career at the Austin County Club, and his thirty-two years of coaching the University of Texas Golf Team, Penick compiled a notebook of things he had seen and learned about some of the great golfers he taught. His observations were ultimately published in 1992 as Harvey Penick’s Little Red Book: Lessons and Teachings from a Lifetime in Golf; the book remained on the New York Times “Bestseller List” for over fifty-two weeks.

In its glory days as home to the Austin Country Club, the Grove Blvd. course saw “scores of champions—both amateur and professional as they made their way around the storied links, many to hone their craft at the hand of the late great teaching professional, Harvey Penick.
Two time Masters champion Ben Crenshaw whetted his putting touch on the original Maxwell greens, 16 of which—plus the original putting green—are still being enjoyed by golfers today.

Austin’s Tom Kite, the 1992 US Open champion, developed his world class swing mechanics as a junior player, by hitting tens of thousands of shots at the ACC practice range—now a parking lot adjacent to the No. 3 tee. Even LPGA Hall of Famer Sandra Haynie—an Austin girl—had her breakout tournament as a professional at Riverside in the 1962 Austin Civitan Open. Haynie triumphed victorious—in playoff against Mickey Wright—the LPGA legend some consider the greatest female player in history.

Before his death in the service of his country, Air Force Lt. Morris Williams Jr., played many rounds at the old country club. Williams was a golfing phenom before the world ever heard of names like Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus. Penick himself always included Williams in the same swath of greatness as Crenshaw and Kite. And today, the US Air Force Golf Championship trophy is named in Williams’ honor, as is Austin’s own Morris Williams Golf Course.

Major champions Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret and Don January toured the Riverside course on occasion; as did legendary hustlers Titanic Thompson and George Low. Many of the past and current Texan members on the Champions Tour have played the ACC/Riverside course at one time or another—such as Frank Conner of San Antonio. Austinites Randy Petri and Terry Dill, Rik Massengale, Billy Maxwell and the University of Texas players of the 50’s, 60’s, 70’s and early 80’s, all familiar faces on the fairways of old Riverside.

Even the amateurs who played the Maxwell design had games that resonated far and wide. Crenshaw often told folks he only wanted a putting stroke as fluid as amateur Jimmy Connolly—an Austin city and Texas state champion, whom Crenshaw watched on the Riverside putting green as a little boy. Other amateur champions—too many to mention all—saw their games blossom at the ACC/Riverside tract: Roane Puett, George McCall, Sonny Rhodes, Bill Gainer, Chuck Munson, Richard Buratti, and the late Billy Penn, all polished their games to scratch handicaps at the East Austin layout.

Among LPGA professionals, few pilgrimages were made more often than to the Austin Country Club and no teacher of the game was more sought after than Penick. LPGA Hall of Famers Betsy Rawls, Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Palmer all returned to Austin on a regular basis to the Maxwell course for a dose of swing remedy from Penick. Hall of Famer Judy Rankin, of Midland, an ABC golf analyst and US Solheim Cup captain, would play the course when she came to Austin. Austin’s own Barbara Puett, now an accomplished author and renowned teaching pro in her own right, learned most all her teaching methods based on what Penick taught her at old Riverside.”

The 18-hole golf course was built primarily with native plant materials but some plant materials such as the initial bent grass greens were introduced. The facilities included maintenance and storage facilities, golf cart storage, driving range and golf professional shop. In addition the Austin Country Club offered swimming, tennis, fine dining and a place for civic activities and good fellowship.

By the late Seventies, the Austin Country Club was once again experiencing growing pains and began to consider relocation. In 1977, the Parks and Recreation Department was contacted by the Austin Country Club to see if the City was interested in acquiring the facilities. Both the continuation of the current use as a golf course or converting the grounds and facilities for metropolitan park usage were determined to be viable options.

However, PARD thought that the next metropolitan park should be located in the far south based on a projected growth pattern along a north-south corridor. Additionally, there was no indication of a significant growth pattern toward the Bergstrom/Del Valle area, which would include a large portion of the area to be served by the site. Existing neighborhood and district parks were thought adequate to meet the needs of the area. Future facilities, such as Yates Park, additional development of the Pleasant Valley Park as a sports area, and the extension of the greenbelt along the Colorado River, were seen to be more than adequate to meet the projected needs of the area.

As for additional golf courses, the next golf course should be located north of Highway 183, in accordance with a previous 1974 PARD initiated “Golf Study.”

13 Information provided by Del Lemon, taken from Perry Maxwell and Harvey Penick and the Riverside Golf Course: A Brief History (2005)
14 Information on the City’s feasibility study is drawn from Austin County Club Acquisition Study, authored by the Parks and Recreation Department, 1977
The Hancock, Morris Williams and the Lion’s Municipal Golf Courses (all maintained by PARD) offered publicly accessible 9-hole and 18-hole courses in close proximity to the central city.

Given that acquisition of the property for conversion to a metropolitan park or public golf course was considered “supplemental,” the cost to taxpayers was carefully scrutinized. The total projected costs for the conversion to a metropolitan park were calculated to be approximately $6.2 million. In contrast, projected costs for the conversion to a public golf course and special use facility were estimated at $4.4 million. With limited opportunities for revenue generation, both would operate at a loss, in addition to bond debt repayment. After reviewing current and proposed bond fund appropriations, the Parks and Recreation Department could not identify funds that would be available for this project.

ACC and the Riverside Golf Course

In the spring of 1984, Austin Community College, which by now was twelve years old and growing rapidly, acquired the 195-acre holdings of the Austin Country Club. Within a couple of years, they had rezoned the property, subdivided a portion of it, and initiated construction of their new Riverside Campus. The golf course was leased to a private third party for repairs, maintenance, and operation as a public golf course.
Fifteen years after the City was first approached to acquire the property, the City decided to approach the owner about acquisition. In 2002, after significant acquisition and development of the Colorado River Park, the City made an offer to purchase the Riverside Golf Course from Austin Community College. After a cost/benefit analysis was completed, the ACC Board voted to retain the golf course but continue annual cost/benefit analyses, incorporating any changes in economic conditions, contract provisions, or significant changes that may affect continued ownership of the golf course into those analyses.15

The course today is open to the public and memberships are available. The Bermuda grass course (greens, tees, and fairway) includes a putting and chipping green, offers lessons, rents clubs and carts, maintains a pro shop for equipment rental and repair, and serves breakfast and lunch at the Tin Cup Grill and Bar. In addition to the many large and mature trees found throughout the Riverside Golf Course and the four water hazards (that are both scenic and challenging to the golfers) are clear views of the downtown skyline.

15 The Texas School Performance Review filed by Austin Community College in November 2002 with the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts (available at: http://www.window.state.tx.us/tspr/acc/) indicates there remained a 15-year lease and management contract on the golf course property. Given the remaining number and guaranteed amounts of payments generated by that contract, ACC determined a break-even selling point that was nearly triple the amount the COA had offered. That price was based on the presumption that ACC would hold the property for the remainder of the lease, and at the end of that lease, sell the property for its highest and best use (which according to an appraisal conducted for ACC, was as a mixed use development including a corporate campus, multifamily units and high density single family residential.)

The Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance

The Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance was created during this planning process and is comprised of individuals who are dedicated to realizing their trail vision for the area. The mission of this group is to:

Establish a viable hike and bike trail along Country Club Creek and Town Lake with connections to trails in the Colorado River Park.

Much has been accomplished by this group, which has met many times over the duration of this planning process. Members planned and strategized, conducted fieldwork assessments, created maps, contacted and met with property owners along the creek, talked with the Parks and Recreation Department staff for technical assistance and information, met with Watershed Protection and Development Review staff to identify sensitive environmental features around creek areas, researched possible funding sources and last but not least, contributed towards the development of this section of the Neighborhood Plan. In the future the group may choose to investigate attaining non-profit status as this may open up some funding options. The Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance was the winner of Keep Austin Beautiful’s 2006 Community Involvement Award.

The proposed trail system along Country Club Creek is still in the beginning stages, but this group is determined and energetic about making the project a reality. The group believes that with the exception of a few difficult areas, this is a very feasible trail project. Members have decided to focus their efforts closest to the Colorado River Park with the hope that once the first section is completed and accessible to the public, it should be easier to get the subsequent sections started.

The group has identified several possible funding options to build the proposed trail. First, the trail proposal is included in this Neighborhood Plan and the PARD is supportive of it, meaning the City could possibly secure some funding for the project in the future. Second, Texas Parks and Wildlife offers numerous recreational facility grants, including trail grants. Third, the apartment communities adjacent to the trail may be willing to provide some funding to benefit their residents. Fourth, area businesses that directly benefit from the trail (AMD in particular, among others) might take a serious interest in the project. Fifth, there is a large population in this area from which to draw volunteer labor. for the construction and maintenance of this trail. This volunteer time can also be used as a match for grants. Specific details of the proposed project follow.

The Country Club Creek (CCC) Proposed Trail Project
The following information provides specific details of the proposed trail system along Country Club Creek. It was prepared by Jim Temple, a member of the Southeast Austin Trails and Greenways Alliance, after extensive planning and fieldwork. The section descriptions in this narrative follow the trail route outlined in the maps following the narrative. The sections are divided based on length of trail and some contain both easy and difficult portions.

TRAIL HEAD TO ELMONT
The CCC Trail northernmost trailhead connects to existing trails at the parking lot for Krieg Fields in Guerrero/Colorado River Park (G/CRP). From this point the first section of trail goes south along the driveway until the drive curves. At this point, the trail goes up a short rise into the wooded area. This rise is the only challenging portion of the first trail section. A portion of the hillside will need to be graded to provide handicap access, and some trees and vegetation will need to be removed. From that point, the trail meanders around trees and through a fairly open space.

The first intersection of the trail is in the center of a large open area, and the first major branch of the main trail extends west to the intersection of Pleasant Valley Road and Lakeshore Drive. This side trail is situated to avoid a large dumpsite that will eventually need to be cleaned up as this trail gets more use. At the road intersection, pedestrian crossing signals will need to be installed.

The primary trail continues south along the creek. Shortly beyond the intersection, the trail crosses onto private property, owned by the Texas Student Housing Authority (TSHA). The tentative plan calls for two trail access points to the apartment complex, however negotiations with the owner/manager may influence those access points. This section of trail also crosses two drainage channels, the first one at about the midpoint of the TSHA property, and the other at the terminus of Elmont Drive. The original concept was to construct a timber bridge across these drainages; however upon further evaluation it seems that large metal culverts will be more suitable and much less expensive.

Access to the Melrose Apartments of Austin can be provided, however the access to this apartment community will need to cross the creek. There are two options for this access, the first being a concrete low water crossing similar to the one further downstream in G/CRP, or a timber bridge similar to the one that links both sides of The Landing at College Park apartments further south. A specific location for that crossing has not yet been evaluated.

The first section of the CCC Trail ends at the terminus of Elmont Drive. Even considering the two culverts and handicap access that will need to be provided at Krieg Fields, this is a fairly straightforward and simple section of the trail.

ELMONT/WICKERSHAM

At this point, there is a decision to make. The first and easiest option is to route the trail on existing sidewalks along Elmont Drive and Wickersham Lane. Signage will need to be provided to indicate the trail route. The other option is to continue the trail access along the creek. The issue with this particular portion of the creek corridor is that the grade drops to creek level immediately outside the apartment complex’s fence, and this area is perennially soggy. For this area to be feasible, gabions (heavy wire baskets filled with rock) or some other retaining structure will need to be constructed the entire length of the creek between Elmont Drive and Wickersham Lane to create a “bench” or flat area for the trail to sit on out of the flood prone area. This bench would be most appropriate on the western side of the creek. The section along existing sidewalks eliminates or postpones a significant construction cost, however it also denies direct access to two apartment complexes, the east side of The Landing at College Park apartments, and The Village at Riverside.

Where the creek crosses Wickersham Lane, the two trail sections converge again. The trail follows existing sidewalks across the bridge, and utilizes existing pedestrian crossing signals to cross Riverside Drive and Wickersham Lane. The original concept was for the trail to be placed under the Wickersham and Riverside bridges. Unfortunately, there is not enough clearance under Wickersham Lane, and there are significant erosion issues under Riverside Drive. Construction of a trail under these three bridges will be very difficult without massive investment in creek reconstruction and channelization.

The trail does not cross the creek again along Riverside Drive, but instead turns south along the creek through the Country Club Creek Apartments, and stays on the eastern side of the creek. The clearance around some of the buildings is a little tight in this area, but certainly feasible. A bridge connects both sides of the complex in the center of the property. The second section of the trail ends where it meets the cul-de-sac at Sheringham Drive.
SHERINGHAM DRIVE

The third section of the trail begins at Sheringham Drive, and the route becomes slightly difficult. The detention area for the Austin Student Housing apartment complex is directly adjacent to the cul-de-sac. Three potential options exist to traverse the area: 1) a boardwalk over the boggy areas below the water control structures; 2) a bridge constructed over the top of the structure; or 3) route the trail on the dry area between the detention pond and parking lot. The most direct route would be the boardwalk, the most expensive would be the bridge, and the easiest but narrow and most circuitous route would be the 3rd option.

Beyond the detention obstacle, the trail can easily stay on the upper section of the Austin Student Housing apartments, just west of the parking lot. The ornamental fencing will require modifications at the entrance close to Oltorf Street. The trail will pick up on the existing sidewalk and turn west to Pleasant Valley Road, cross the creek, and use existing pedestrian signals to cross Oltorf Street. From here, the trail will follow the existing wide sidewalk south along the new Pleasant Valley Road extension to the cul-de-sac.

An alternate trail route has been discussed for section three along the south extension of Pleasant Valley Road. Access can be provided to the Chevy Chase Downs apartment complex through the undeveloped wooded area behind the property. In addition, James Crockett, the owner of property between the Pleasant Valley Villas and the Sunridge neighborhood, has agreed to provide a sizeable trail easement along the creek in association with the development he would like to create on his property. This alternate trail would also require the cooperation of the Most Reverend John McCarthy for a continuation of the trail easement along the creek. Access for the Sunridge neighborhoods can be provided to this particular trail at the ends of several cul-de-sacs. A trail section may be considered in the future that extends south to Ben White Blvd. and may connect to other trails being developed south of Ben White Blvd. at some point in the future.

EXTENSION TO AMD

The fourth section of the primary trail picks up along a gas pipeline Right-Of-Way (ROW) and turns east. This ROW extends all the way to AMD (Advanced Micro Devices), and can access their existing trail loop. Two access points exist to this pipeline, one from the end of the short disconnected section of Pleasant Valley Road (independent of the recently completed south extension), and the other that will connect to the St Peter the Apostle Catholic Center.

PLEASANT VALLEY TO BURLESON

Section five of the trail also begins at the end of Pleasant Valley Road. This branch continues along the power line ROW to Burleson Road, crosses Burleson, and turns south again and continues to Mission Hill Drive. Pedestrian signage and a blinking yellow light (similar to a school zone sign) will need to be installed on Burleson Rd to warn drivers of pedestrian/bicycle presence.

MABEL DAVIS PARK AND PARKER LANE

Section six is the western extension of the trail to Mabel Davis Park and Parker Lane (as mentioned earlier), and becomes increasingly difficult in some parts. The trail turns from the main path at Pleasant Valley Road and heads west along a branch of CCC. The proposed alignment would stay south (inside) the ornamental metal fence that comprises the park area for the Pleasant Valley Villas. At the property line of the Villas, it is unclear which direction the trail should take, as the terrain in this area is particularly difficult. Upon first evaluation, the most feasible route would involve a steel pedestrian bridge across the creek near the corner of the Bridge Oak Lodge apartments. The trail will follow a utility cut for a short distance, and then access the back side of the Douglas Street Landings property. There are a series of detention areas behind the buildings, and the berms for those ponds provide an ideal trail location. At one point along the detention area, a short span will need to be built over a water control structure. A short section of trail will access the Douglas Street cul-de-sac.

From the Douglas St Landings, the proposed trail turns south to the Burleson Heights neighborhood. This section is also fairly difficult terrain. Douglas St was at one time proposed to be one continuous street; however it was never built all the way through. The advantage of this particular situation is that the street ROW still exists and can be used for the trail location. The downside of this alignment, however, is that the trail will need to cross 2 to 3 braided sections of the creek bed in a couple of areas, increasing the construction costs significantly.
Another option may be to keep the trail on one side or the other and only provide one bridge if at all possible. The Parks and Recreation Department (PARD) might need to consider the purchase of several floodplain lots in the Burleson Heights neighborhood that would otherwise be very difficult to develop. This would also provide the opportunity for a pocket park serving Burleson Heights, Douglas St Landings, and Bristol Square apartments.
Regardless of the route in this area, the trail will cross the Bristol Square property along the creek, and provides an opportunity for access for the residents of that apartment complex.

As the trail continues west, it will need to cross Burleson Road. Pedestrian signage and perhaps a blinking yellow light (similar to a school zone sign) will need to be installed on Burleson Road to warn drivers of pedestrian/bicycle presence. The trail should stay south of the creek in this section. The property lines of the homes in that area extend all the way to the creek centerline; however most of their lots are fenced off at their retaining walls. This creates an ideal bench area for a trail. Unfortunately, erosion on this particular section of the creek is terribly aggressive. Gabions or other erosion control will need to be installed along this section to prevent further loss.

The trail crosses Metcalfe Road by the bridge, and turns south again. The developer of the proposed Shire’s Court has agreed to provide trail access along his property boundary adjacent to Linder Elementary, and also a ROW west to the small dead end street, Carlson Drive. The south extension adjacent to Linder will provide children access to the trail, and also connect the CCC Trail to Mabel Davis Park, which is currently under landfill remediation. Once Mabel Davis is open to the public again, this trail access will provide a massive extension of the recreational opportunities to park users.

TRAIL SURFACE OPTIONS

The trail surface is certainly up for discussion. At the very minimum, and in the beginning to establish the trail corridor, a natural earth path will need to be established. Several soil stabilization products exist on the market to create a hard surface using the existing soil. Unfortunately, some of these products are largely ineffective, and others are very expensive. It might be reasonable to try small test sections of several products to attempt the installation method and evaluate them for durability after a year of use. Other trail surfaces to consider include granite gravel, asphalt, and concrete. Granite gravel is easiest to place and is preferred by walkers and runners. The downside of granite gravel is that it requires a lot of maintenance, and PARD would like to reduce the amount of maintenance on new and existing trails. While asphalt is fairly fast to install and is also easier on runners’ knees, it will require a significant amount of base material to keep from cracking and shifting over the East Austin clay soils. Also, asphalt cannot be placed in any areas that are at risk of frequent inundation in the floodplain as hydrostatic pressure will reduce it to rubble. The only other option in flood prone areas is concrete, which requires a lot more work to set up with forms and reinforcing mesh. Concrete can easily become cost prohibitive.

![Volunteers hauled a lot of trash out of the undeveloped parkland south of the Krieg Softball Complex in preparation for the Country Club Creek Trail.](Source: Malcolm Yeatts)

There are many locations where the trail crosses major thoroughfares. Several of these are at existing intersections and have existing pedestrian crossing signals. Other crossings are nowhere close to an intersection and will require independent signage. One potential product is this sign system that detects trail users and turns on a flashing yellow light (similar to a school zone sign):

7. Urban Design Guidelines

Introduction

The purpose of the voluntary design guidelines is to reinforce the positive elements, patterns, and characteristics that exist or are desired within the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Planning Areas; they help each neighborhood planning area to create a unique sense of place within the city. Adherence to the guidelines makes it possible for the existing and desired character of the planning area to be preserved, maintained, complimented and/or enhanced.

The following Neighborhood Design Guidelines for the areas within the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan provide a basis for making consistent decisions about building and streetscape design that affects the character of each area. Adherence to the guidelines is voluntary. They are not intended to limit development within the Riverside, Parker Lane and Pleasant Valley Areas. The intent is to provide ideas for the appearance of new development, redevelopment, or remodeling. These guidelines primarily focus on the streetscape— the publicly viewed area between the fronts of buildings and the street. This area includes the streets and sidewalks (public rights-of-way), front yards, building facades or fronts, porches and driveways (private property).

There were a few themes that consistently emerged throughout the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning process that the voluntary urban design guidelines in this section attempt to address:

First, the character of existing single-family residential neighborhoods should be preserved and new construction should integrate well with existing development. Consideration of existing development should be given with respect to the height and overall size of new structures. Building that encourages “neighborliness” is appreciated as is promoting a natural “green” environment.

A second theme is that existing multifamily structures that intend to redevelop as multifamily should incorporate design qualities that are visually pleasing and function and integrate well within the surrounding neighborhood environment. Since multifamily buildings tend to be very large in size within this planning area, much thought and consideration should go into the characteristics of their redevelopment. This section includes a long list of items to consider that relates to the redevelopment of such sites, since these developments will have a significant impact on the quality of life, not only for the large number of people living within the building, but also for the individuals and families in the surrounding community.

A third theme suggests that non-residential corridors, in particular the stretch of Riverside Drive from IH-35 to Pleasant Valley Road, should redevelop in such a way that makes local residents and visitors want to stop and enjoy the area and its services instead of simply passing through en route to another destination. The Urban Land Institute (2003:8) writes:

The era when anything developed in an urban neighborhood was considered to be better than nothing is over. Desperation has driven many communities to accept developments that are inappropriate for an urban street and antithetical to an enjoyable pedestrian experience. Suburban-style, pedestrian-deficient retailing with blank walls facing the sidewalk, parking lots that disrupt retail continuity, throw-away architectural quality, inappropriate building design and scale, and lack of pedestrian amenities are some of the most egregious mistakes that made many urban streets mean and decidedly unfriendly to shoppers.

Unfortunately, the latter part of the preceding quote is an appropriate description of the current state of Riverside Drive. As such, the following principles, which form the basis of the guidelines that apply to non-residential corridors, should apply to redevelopment along Riverside Drive:

- Make development more pedestrian-friendly (i.e. reorient activity on the site to face the street);
- Use site planning and architectural elements to make the redeveloped site fully part of the community;
- Emphasize public space for shared activity;
- Provide thoughtful landscaping options for the visual pleasure and comfort of the street’s patrons; and
• Re-establish a street pattern that connects with the streets of the surrounding community.

The desire of the participants in this planning process is that the non-residential corridors within the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Planning Areas, specifically Riverside Drive, become destination points in and of themselves. Wider, continuous sidewalks along Riverside Drive, that are set back and buffered from the roadway, should be a part of any redevelopment proposal for Riverside Drive. “Greening” Riverside Drive is necessary to make it more comfortable for pedestrians and generally more aesthetically pleasing. Improvements could include coherent planting of street trees that would provide shade when mature and landscaping of the right of way, including turning islands like the one at Barton Springs and South Lamar.

Special consideration should be given to the condition of Riverside Drive with respect to the creation of incentives to encourage quality retail and/or mixed use development that complies with the general design guidelines identified in this section. Specifying the precise nature of those incentives is beyond the scope of this neighborhood plan, but this plan could be used as a guide and a starting point to establish the nature of an incentives program and its intended results.

New development can be very positive from an economic and social standpoint for both the creator of a project and the surrounding community. Developers and property owners, small and large, are strongly encouraged to read these guidelines and work with the residents who live in surrounding neighborhoods to create a superior project that is mutually supported. The following goals and guidelines reflect the desires of the participants within the East Riverside/Oltorf Planning Areas to promote and experience positive change in the design of their community and make it a source of pride for residents and visitors alike.
Non Residential Guidelines (e.g. Commercial, Office, Mixed Use, Industrial)

- Urban Design Goal: Create interesting, lively, inviting, attractive, safe and comfortable non-residential environments that will encourage walking, biking and transit use and be appealing to passing motorists.

Sidewalk Areas

- Sidewalks should be wide and continuous, with winding or non-linear pedestrian paths preferred.
- Sidewalks should provide a wide green area (along very busy roadways, twenty feet is recommended) with low landscaping to buffer pedestrians from motorists; shade trees should be situated closer to the interior edge of the sidewalk for pedestrians to enjoy as they shop.
- Curb cuts along the sidewalk should be minimized so there is less opportunity for the interruption of pedestrian activity.
- Lighting and signage along the sidewalk and in public areas should be at pedestrian level. Signage should be oriented to the pedestrian and readable from the sidewalk and preferably mounted on buildings or building awnings rather than on separate or detached structures (e.g. pole mounted signage); it should not dominate the landscape.
- Bus shelters should provide shading and protection from inclement weather, seating, and lighting for visibility and safety.

Buildings

- Buildings should be pedestrian-oriented with storefronts close to the street, both in the front and on the sides to have direct access from sidewalks, except where there is a desire for outdoor seating areas or markets.
Ground floor windows should promote visibility to store interiors and buildings should include awnings to provide additional relief from sun and rain.

Buildings should be constructed at a human scale; to avoid a "canyoning effect" stepped back building heights are preferable.

A diversity of building heights and dividing and/or recessing building facades can be incorporated into the design to avoid a solid wall effect and reduce the overwhelming size of large buildings.

Public Areas

Public spaces that promote civic activities such as small music events or market squares are encouraged. These areas could include open plazas, seating areas, shading, landscaping and art.

Aesthetics and art

Mechanical equipment, utility boxes, trash disposal units, cluster mail boxes and loading docks should be placed and/or located out of sight from the street and/or screened from public view.

The integration of public art into commercial architecture is encouraged in building design and in public spaces.

Landscaped traffic islands and traffic circles are desired to not only make a more attractive roadway environment, but to also facilitate pedestrian crossings and automobile circulation.

Urban Design Goal: Create convenient and accessible parking areas that do not dominate the environment and provide safe interaction between vehicles and pedestrians.

The creative placement of automobile parking should be explored, with the ideal situation of lots and garages being behind, above or below the main building(s).
There should be a convenient place to park bicycles close to the main entrance of each building.

Shared parking that would connect adjacent businesses is encouraged; this would minimize the number of curb cuts necessary and improve overall traffic circulation and efficiency.

Where right-of-way is wide enough, parallel parking on the street is encouraged to help calm traffic and buffer pedestrians from autos.

Side lot parking should be screened from public view with a low hedge, wall or fence that still allows for security surveillance.

Walkways should provide interior as well as cross-traffic connections and be protected from automobile traffic.

Partnerships among businesses are encouraged so that there is a unified approach toward service delivery issues. The creation of a shared commercial delivery strip, or service area that is out of public view and does not interfere with the activity on the street and sidewalk is preferred.

Urban Design Goal: Minimize the visual impact of industrial properties from other districts and public spaces in the neighborhood planning area.

Industrial properties are encouraged to set back from street frontages as much as possible. Berms and landscaped buffers should be used to screen intense industrial operations from the street and adjacent non-industrial districts.

Landscaped buffers along street frontages should include shaded sidewalks or trails.

Where inhabited portions of buildings exist (such as offices and lunch rooms), they are encouraged to face the street and have windows and doors directly accessible to the street.

Parking and shipping/receiving areas should be designed to the same standard as commercial districts.
Single Family Residential Guidelines

- Urban Design Goal: Encourage urban design strategies for single-family neighborhoods that preserve, complement and enhance existing character.

Design Characteristics

- New single-family construction should mimic existing architecture. Building heights, construction materials and architectural details should enhance the existing character of the neighborhood.
- Front doors and a minimum of two ground floor windows should be oriented towards the street to promote “eyes on the street.”
- Duplex structures should have at least one framed entrance that faces the street and should reflect the scale, height and appearance of homes around them.
- Mechanical equipment (air conditioners, electric and gas meters, etc.) and garbage cans or garbage storage areas are best located to the side or rear of the house, where they cannot be seen from the street. If the location is visible from the street, it should be screened from view.
- Exterior building and site lighting should be unobtrusive and not illuminate neighboring properties.
- Utilize the Green Building Checklist whenever possible. Use local materials, maintain efficient heating and cooling systems and consider consulting a green building professional for structural details and site plans. See the COA’s Green Building Program for more information (http://www.ci.austin.tx.us/greenbuilder).

Landscaping

- Provide ample space in side and front yards for trees, landscaping or open space. Existing trees in front yards and along the street should be preserved and protected and additional trees planted to create a continuous canopy of cooling shade over the street and sidewalks. Use native and drought-tolerant plant species to the greatest extent possible to minimize water consumption.
- If a front yard fence is desired, encourage “friendly” fences or hedges along the front property line that are low enough to see over the top (less than four feet) or made of a see-through material to avoid creating a walled-off appearance.
- Front yards are usually a green landscaped area with minimal impervious paving. If larger areas of parking are needed, they should be located behind the house.
Multifamily Residential Guidelines

- Urban Design Goal: Promote multifamily structures that relate well to the surrounding environment, utilize a variety of building forms, have a thoughtful parking scheme, provide public open space and include a variety of appropriate landscaping features.

Building Shape

- Relate the overall height of the new structure to that of adjacent structures and those of the immediate neighborhood. Avoid new construction that varies greatly in height from other buildings in the area, except where the local plan calls for redeveloping the whole area at much greater height and density. To the extent feasible, relate individual floor-to-floor heights to those of neighboring buildings. In particular, consider how the first floor level relates to the street and whether this is consistent with the first floors in neighboring buildings.
- Relate the size and bulk of the new structure to the average scale of other buildings in the immediate vicinity.
- Consider utilizing a variety of building forms and roof shapes rather than box-like forms with large, unvaried roofs. Consider how the building can be efficiently manipulated to create clusters of units, including variations in height, setback and roof shape. Make sure various forms and shapes work together to create a coherent whole.

Porches, overhangs and various dormer styles enliven the facades of these condominiums at the right. (Southside Park Co-housing in Sacramento, CA; www.designadvisor.org)

Building Appearance

- Avoid creating a building that looks strange or out of place in its neighborhood. Consider a building image that fits in with the image of good quality middle-income housing in the community where the project is located.
The housing below interprets the image of the traditional neighborhood home in a row house configuration, increasing density while maintaining the look and feel of a single-family development. (Harriet Square, www.designadvisor.org)

- Consider providing as much visual and architectural complexity as possible to the building's appearance while maintaining a hierarchy of scale and a unified overall form. Consider breaking a large building into smaller units or clusters. Consider variations in height, color, setback, materials, texture, trim, and roof shape. Consider variations in the shape and placement of windows, balconies and other façade elements. Consider using landscape elements to add variety and differentiate units from each other.

- Maximize window number and size (within budget constraints) to enhance views and make spaces feel larger and lighter. Use standard size windows, but consider varying where and how they are used. Consider ways to screen and physically separate ground floor windows from walkways - through screens or plantings - to provide privacy.

- Pay careful attention to the design and detailing of front doors. Consider what the front doors convey about the quality of the project and its residents. To the extent possible, respect the placement and detailing of good quality front doors in neighboring homes.

- Relate the character of the new building façade to the façades of similar, good quality buildings in the surrounding neighborhood or region. Horizontal buildings can be made to relate to more vertical adjacent structures by breaking the façade into smaller components that individually appear more vertical. Avoid strongly horizontal or vertical façade expression unless compatible with the character of the majority of the structures in the immediate area.
The façade treatment of these townhomes gives a single family appearance and helps them to blend in to the existing neighborhood.

Metro Square, Sacramento – Townhomes, www.cnu.org

- Consider relating the roof forms of the new building to those found in similar, good quality buildings in the neighborhood or region. Avoid introducing roof shapes, pitches, materials or colors not found in the neighborhood or region.
- Respect the rhythm, size and proportion of openings - particularly on the street facades - of similar, good quality buildings in the neighborhood or surrounding area. Avoid introducing drastically new window patterns and door openings inconsistent with similar, good quality buildings in the neighborhood or surrounding area.

The size and rhythm of the doors, windows and porches for this co-housing development reflect those found in more traditional neighborhoods. (Southside Park Co-housing in Sacramento, CA; www.designadvisor.org)

- Trim and details can provide warmth and character to a building’s appearance, particularly on street facades. In general, the complexity, depth and proportion of trim should relate to that used in good quality middle-income housing in surrounding neighborhoods. Carefully consider the design of porch and stair railings, fascia boards, corners, and areas where vertical and horizontal surfaces meet - for example where a wall meets the roof. Generally put trim around windows. Consider adding simple pieces of trim to the top and bottom of porch columns.

- Creative use of materials and color can add variety and visual interest to any façade. In general consider materials and colors - for the façade (including foundation walls) and for the roof - that are compatible with those in similar, good quality buildings in the surrounding neighborhood or region. Avoid introducing drastically different colors and materials than those of the surrounding area. Consider using materials and construction details that do not require repeated or expensive maintenance. Favor materials that residents can easily maintain themselves.

- To the extent possible, provide individual identities and addresses for each dwelling unit. Consider ways to break large, repetitive structures into smaller, individually identifiable clusters. Ensure that all dwelling units have clear, individual addresses. Consider design strategies that allow residents to enhance and individualize the exterior appearance of their own units.

Large complexes can be broken down into smaller clusters. Each cluster, in turn, can be broken down into several separate buildings, which include individual entrances and identities for each unit. (Waterside Green, www.designadvisor.org)

Building Layout

- Provide as many private, ground level entries to individual units as possible. Ensure that all building entries are prominent and visible and create a sense that the user is transitioning from a public to a semi-private area. Avoid side entries and those that are not visually defined. At all entries consider issues of shelter, security, lighting, durability, and identity. For apartment buildings, allow visual access from manager’s office and/or 24 hour desk. Allow visual access to stairs and elevators from the lobby. For buildings with clustered and individual unit entries, consider providing small "porch" areas that residents can personalize with plants, seasonal decorations, etc. Limit "shared entries" to the smallest number of households possible, eight maximum. Consider providing some form of storage - for strollers, bikes, etc. - at or close to all main entries.

- Consider ease of visual and physical surveillance by the residents of areas such as the street, the main entrances to the site and the building, children's play areas, public open space and parking areas. Consider locating windows from actively used rooms such as kitchens and living rooms so that they look onto key areas. Also consider containing open spaces within the building layout and using the selection and layout of plant materials to enhance, rather than hinder, surveillance and security. Consider specific design strategies to maximize the security of the building, including adequate lighting, lockable gates and doors at all entrances to the site and the buildings, and video cameras with monitors. See also information on Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED, http://www.cptedontario.ca/)

- The entry to the site is critical to the public image of the development. Emphasize the main entrance and place central and shared facilities there if possible. Respect the street and locate buildings on the site so that they reinforce street frontages.

!Entrances to apartments are evenly spaced along the building, providing numerous points of entry while maintaining a strong and continuous presence along the street. (Paula Avenue Apartments, www.designadvisor.org)

- To the extent possible, maintain the existing setback patterns within the immediate vicinity of the building. Avoid locating a building far in front of or far behind the average setback lines of the four to five properties located on either side of the proposed development. Respect the side yard and rear yard setback lines prevalent in the area.
The buildings in this development are set back slightly relative to neighboring buildings in order to accommodate grade changes and make room for plants along the sidewalk.
(Matsusaka Townhomes, www.designadvisor.org)

- Consider placing buildings on the site so as to maximize solar access during cooler months and to control it during warmer months. Also consider maximizing natural ventilation and access to views from within the site. Avoid a layout in which adjacent buildings obstruct one another. Design the building so that sun directly enters each dwelling unit during some part of the day year round.

Landscaping

- Good landscaping is critical to the quality of any project. Consider how landscaping and planting will be handled from the very beginning of the design process. Avoid considering landscaping as an "extra" that can be added in at the end of the project or, worse, eliminated in the name of cost control.
- Provide as rich a variety of plantings - trees, shrubs, groundcover, and grass areas - as possible. Anticipate mature sizes and avoid crowding trees, shrubs and buildings. Use hardy, native species of trees and plants that are well suited to the project location and are easy to water and maintain.

The courtyard and the landscaping for this multifamily development create a small private garden for residents.
(www.designadvisor.org)
Consider how the landscape will be used by residents and specify appropriate plantings. In general, assume heavy use in all landscaped areas. Avoid delicate plants and shrubs in heavily trafficked areas, especially in locations where they can be trampled by children.

Recognize that some paved area will be necessary in family housing to facilitate children's play. However, large, empty paved areas should be avoided. Consider using alternative landscape approaches - plantings, play equipment, outdoor furniture, trees and grass - to break these areas up into smaller functional units.

Outdoor seating should be an integral part of any landscape plan and should be thoughtfully designed and located. Avoid simply scattering seats at random through the site. Consider what the seating looks at and what looks at it. Consider how the seating is oriented with respect to the sun and breezes and whether it needs protection from rain or wind. Avoid "one type fits all" solutions, particularly in larger projects. Consider providing different seating for different users. Also consider providing some moveable seating if appropriate.

Pedestrian paths and walkways are critical to the smooth functioning of any affordable housing project, particularly larger, multi-unit developments. Consider the wide range of uses that any path must accommodate - children, adults, bicycles, skate boards, walkers, pets, furniture moving, etc. - and design with this range of uses in mind. Avoid paths that are too narrow to accommodate multiple users at the same time. Consider rounded corners at all intersections and direction changes, especially in projects with children. Ensure that paths are well lighted so that users can see where they are going and be seen by other people.
Consider designing path edges so that they encourage users to stay on the path and not trample on adjacent plantings (e.g. through changes in slope or materials or by providing raised edges). Remember that the shortest route from point A to point B is usually a straight line. Avoid forcing people to follow circuitous routes to their destinations or be prepared for the new, unplanned paths that will inevitably appear to accommodate occupant use patterns.

- Think of public open spaces - shared outdoor areas intended for use by all residents - as "outdoor rooms," and design them as carefully as any other rooms in the project. Avoid undifferentiated, empty spaces. Consider the types of activities that will occur in the "rooms," including cultural or social activities unique to specific user groups, and design the shared open space to accommodate these activities.

- Provide clear boundaries between publicly controlled spaces (streets), community controlled spaces (shared open space) and privately controlled spaces (dwellings and private open space). Consider enclosing or partially enclosing open space with project building(s) to provide clear boundaries.

Parking

- Avoid letting garages, driveways and parking lots dominate the streetscape. Consider placing them at the rear or side of the site to allow a majority of dwelling units to "front on" the street. Consider planting trees and shrubs to soften the overall impact of parking areas and to provide shade and noise reduction. At buildings with parking garages, avoid large areas of blank wall facing the street. Consider incorporating decorative elements above the garage door to soften its visual impact. Consider improving unavoidable blank walls with decorative artwork, vines, and good quality durable materials to minimize graffiti and deterioration.

- Provide locations for parking that minimize walking distance between dwelling units and cars and that allow for casual surveillance of cars from a number of different units. Avoid remote parking. Avoid large lots. Consider breaking them into multiple, smaller lots to enhance safety and accessibility and minimize the aesthetic impact of large, unbroken rows of cars. Locate handicapped and elderly parking with immediate access to their respective units. Locate visitor drop off and parking near main entrances and clearly mark all visitor parking spaces. Provide pleasant areas to wait for rides or public transportation.

The site plan for this 45 unit project has broken the parking (highlighted at left) into two modest sized lots and placed them behind the buildings. Putting the parking in the back allows a continuous line of front doors - uninterrupted by garages or parking lots - to face the street. (The Farm, www.designadvisory.org)
Design to minimize conflicts between vehicles and pedestrians. Consider separating bicycle and pedestrian paths from vehicular traffic. Consider linking open spaces so that they form an uninterrupted network of vehicle-free areas. Avoid parking layouts that erode a project's open space until only "leftover" areas are available for pedestrian use. Consider traffic calming strategies to slow down cars within the project.

RECOMMENDATIONS NOT SUPPORTED BY RESPONSIBLE CITY OF AUSTIN DEPARTMENTS

After the department review process, the following recommendations were not recommended to be implemented by the responsible department (department comments follow each recommendation).

LAND USE ITEMS

Recommendation:
Make legal notices for variance, zoning and building permit applications available on the City website by neighborhood planning area.

Departmental Comments (WPDR):
Changes to notification requirements should not be made until AMANDA (a unified database that most city departments will use interactively to perform various required activities related to case documentation, notification and review) is deployed. Building permit applications do not require a legal notice, however, submittal information is currently accessible through the current City website.

Recommendation:
Create and maintain an inventory of private and public restrictive covenants (WPDR).

It would require a major staff effort including extensive research of County deed records, and would require additional staff to conduct this research and maintain the inventory. Maintenance of the inventory would be difficult because new documents are recorded daily. The City does not enforce private restrictive covenants, and as such, the staff would have limited use of the inventory.

TRANSPORTATION ITEMS

Recommendation:
Conduct a study to determine if a crossing guard can be placed at Burleson Road and Ware Road.
Departmental Comments (PW):
We will keep this location for future pedestrian counts. The current pedestrian count is 2 children, which does not warrant a crossing guard.

Recommendation:
Amend City Code to state that any new development or redevelopment shall have a landscaped buffer between the sidewalk and the road to provide for safety.

Departmental Comments (PW):
There are too many variables to consider when deciding on a sidewalk location. Utilities, terrain, compliance with Federal and State design standards, and other site specific conditions often decide the sidewalk layout. Requiring a specific buffer width would place further restrictions on the design of sidewalks.

Departmental Comments (WPDR):
This item is not necessary. The standard location for a sidewalk is 2 feet from the property line, which leaves an unpaved buffer area of 2 to 4 feet between the curb and the sidewalk, depending on the type of road and the width of the sidewalk. Sidewalks are allowed adjacent to the curb only in unusual circumstances such as the need to avoid trees. The buffer area is normally planted with grass, but it can be landscaped. However, landscaping requires the owner to enter into a license agreement with the City to place irrigation facilities within the right-of-way. Landscaping should not be required but is already allowed at the owner’s option.

Recommendation:
Conduct a traffic study at Summit Drive and Woodland Avenue and make improvements to the intersection so that turning off of Summit onto Woodland Avenue is less dangerous because of poor visibility due to slope (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
There have been no reported collisions at this intersection since October 2001. Visibility between westbound traffic on Woodland Avenue and southbound traffic on Summit Drive at Woodland Avenue is at least 320 feet; 200 feet is adequate for stopping sight distance.

Alternative action: An “intersection ahead” symbol warning sign will be installed on Woodland Avenue in advance of Summit Drive.
Recommendation:
Conduct a traffic calming study along Burleson Road between Oltorf Street and Ben White Blvd. and apply an appropriate traffic mitigation strategy to reduce speeding vehicles (the form of traffic calming used in the Shoal Creek Project is preferred by neighborhood stakeholders) (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Burleson Road is classified as an arterial roadway contained in the AMATP Plan. The traffic calming program was established to reduce speeding on local residential streets with low traffic levels on which the impediment to mobility caused by traffic calming devices would not be an issue.

Recommendation:
Investigate the feasibility of closing Burleson Road at Ben White Blvd. to increase safety and reduce disruptions to the single-family neighborhoods along Burleson Road (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Burleson Road is classified as an arterial roadway contained in the AMATP Plan. We cannot terminate its connection to a freeway. If in future the roadway is removed from the AMATP, this issue can be reconsidered.

Recommendation:
Install appropriate signage going eastbound on Woodland Avenue to warn drivers of the upcoming 4-way stop at Parker Lane and Woodland Avenue (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Currently, in addition to stop signs on all approaches, there is an advance warning of the stop ahead for eastbound drivers at Slyvan Drive and overhead flashing red lights are visible to eastbound traffic at least 540 feet in advance of the stop signs. There has been only one reported collision at this intersection since October 2001, in which a southbound vehicle struck a westbound vehicle.

Recommendation:
Install a landscaped parkway belt between the east and west bound lanes of Riverside Drive to minimize the visual impact of the roadway (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
It appears that the neighborhood envisions a wide division between opposing lanes for aesthetic reasons. It would be necessary to purchase right-of-way to accomplish this. This would negatively impact adjacent businesses, and since we must demonstrate a public purpose to acquire right-of-way under threat of condemnation, we might not be able to demonstrate this for a purely aesthetic project. Existing lanes would require reconstruction. Depending on exactly what the neighborhood envisions, the cost would likely be tens to millions of dollars, which would be very hard to justify. Since this is an aesthetic, rather than a capacity or maintenance project, perhaps it should be considered by the Parks and Recreation Department, which would have to assume responsibility for maintenance of any landscaping that it added.

Recommendation:
Restrict truck traffic from accessing Lakeshore Blvd. between Riverside Drive and Pleasant Valley Road (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Lakeshore Blvd. is classified as an arterial roadway. Roadways classified as arterial are intended to serve as the major transportation network to provide for large volumes of traffic, including trucks. Truck prohibitions are installed only on non-arterial roadways if a specific problem with truck traffic can be identified and observed. If the neighborhood can provide details regarding what the perceived problem is and when it can be observed, we will investigate and might find another solution.

Recommendation:
Provide a safe trail crossing across Wickshire Lane from Linder Elementary School to Mabel Davis Park (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Mabel Davis Park is surrounded by a tall chain link fence with "Authorized Personnel Only" signs and has no trail or sidewalk opposite the school. There is currently a marked crosswalk across Wickshire Lane at Metcalfe Road that is the safest and most convenient location at which pedestrians can cross from the school to the park.

Recommendation:
Reinstall “No Truck” signs along Burleson Road between Oltorf Street and Ben White Blvd. (which were removed during I-35/Ben White construction) (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
Burleson Road is classified as an arterial roadway. Roadways classified as arterial are intended to serve as the major transportation network to provide for large volumes of traffic, including trucks. Truck prohibitions are installed only on non-arterial roadways if a specific problem with truck traffic can be identified and observed. If the neighborhood can provide details regarding what the perceived problem is and when it can be observed, we will investigate and might find another solution.

Recommendation:
Improve the striping of the existing bike lane along Burleson Road between Oltorf Street and Ben White Blvd. and/or investigate installing curbs or other forms of permanent separation between the bike lane and the automobile travel lane to improve safety (PW).

Departmental Comments (PW):
The bike lane on Burleson Road between Oltorf Street and Ben White Blvd. has very few impediments. There is no parking 24/7 and the sight lines are long and unobstructed. The only maintenance that will be required in future years is the re-striping. A cost for this regularly scheduled maintenance need not be considered here.

Barriers between bike lanes and traffic lanes are used when contra-flow conditions exist (e.g. southbound bike facing northbound cars). This is not a condition on Burleson Road.

PARKS, OPEN SPACE AND THE NATURAL ENVIRONMENT ITEMS

Recommendation:
Provide the following public amenities at Mabel Davis Park:
Amphitheater and stage and a fishing dock.

Departmental Comments (PARD):
This item (stage and amphitheater) requires funding through a Capital Improvement Project bond; it is not recommended due to restrictions on use of remediation cap. This item (fishing dock) requires funding through a Capital Improvement Project bond; the Department recommends that this item not be implemented in an effort to maintain local, informal fishing.

Recommendation:
Encourage PARD to purchase the undeveloped lot at 1701 Windoak Drive for future neighborhood open space.

Departmental Comments (PARD):
PARD understands that the lot is not for sale separate from the rest of the property. The asking price in March ’05 was reported to PARD to be $675,000 for approx. 3.5 acres & 5000 square feet of house. The property is best suited for continued residential use.

Recommendation:
Revise the Scenic Roadway Ordinance so that issues such as landscaping, roadway size and design, etc. are addressed.

Departmental Comments (NPZD):
- The Scenic Roadway Ordinance currently only regulates signage. Council recently approved a commercial design policy document, now being converted to ordinance language that recommends removing the Scenic Roadway designation, and instead tying sign regulations to the five design roadway types (Transit, Urban, Local, Hill Country and Highway).
- Landscaping should be regulated through the landscaping ordinance applicable to the Riverside Roadway type, which is at this time considered a Transit Roadway.
- The Council-approved Austin Area Metropolitan Plan (AMATP) regulates roadway size and design for Riverside.

Recommendation:
Add a gateway sign at some point along Riverside Drive to welcome visitors to Austin.

Departmental Comments (NPZD):
Urban Design staff may be available to assist in developing the site and design criteria for a gateway element such as a sign. Funding source for design, construction and maintenance would need to be identified.

Recommendation:
Request that the city acquire the single-family lots in the floodplain at approximately 2407-2408 Princeton Drive and 2413 Douglas Street (there are approximately 20 undeveloped lots) so that the area is protected from development and maintained as open space.

Departmental Comments (WPDR):
Currently the voluntary floodplain home buy-out program is funded for structures which are subject to high hazard of creek flooding. Due to the limitation of funding, the program is offered on a priority order based on the severity of flooding. There are several hundreds of houses that are on the list targeted for future home buyout. As there are no houses on the subject lots, there is no justification of funding for WPDR to purchase these lots. Please contact PARD to see if there is interest to purchase these lots for a park or greenbelt. (there is currently a recommendation in the plan to work with property owners and PARD to see about acquiring these properties in order to create a trail system along Country Club Creek).

Recommendation:
Encourage PARD to purchase the property at 1605 Old Riverside Drive as a neighborhood open space/pocket park (Neighborhood; PARD).

Departmental Comments (PARD)
The lot belongs to the adjacent lot with a house, which appears to be for sale as one piece. The lot is sloping, too small and too intimately related to the adjacent house for public use. The lot is best used for residential purposes.

Recommendation:
Request formal approval from PARD to allow for the construction of Country Club Creek Trail.

Departmental Comments (PARD)
The request is premature and out of sequence; refer to Recommendation 103 in the plan regarding the construction of the CCC trail. PARD questions whether the Alliance could actually apply for and receive public grant funds.

Recommendation:
Establish and maintain green islands in public rights-of-way for the beautification of corridors.
Departmental Comments (PW)
We have raised medians, which are typically vegetated, specified on new divided arterials. We support raised medians only where they are specified in the roadway plan because of the added vehicular capacity that we might obtain with left turn bays that would be included with the median. We would not reconstruct a roadway simply to add a median, unless it were called for in the roadway plan and the left turn lanes we could provide with the median greatly enhanced capacity on a congested roadway. We have no recommendation in relation to providing green islands for beautification. We oppose use of limited roadway funding to add medians purely for beautification, but would be neutral on medians funded from other sources, provided all applicable roadway design standards are met.

DOCUMENTATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL FEATURES

A site reconnaissance on September 9, 1993 confirmed the presence of a wetland located east of Riverside Farms Road and Townview Cove. This wetland is characterized by a spring-fed half acre pond and a saturated area below the pond extending several hundred feet.

The pond and saturated area below meet all three criteria for classification as a wetland and critical environmental feature, jurisdictional under City of Austin's Land Development Code:

1) Hydrology is present and apparently perennial at the pond, supplied by a seep discharging on the southeast bank. Although all nearby stream channels were dry on this date (following a drought period), this pond held a ample volume of clear, cool water to support a variety of aquatic vegetation and fish populations.

The majority of an area extending several hundred feet below the pond's earthen dam was saturated to the surface following a period of extended drought. Soils were plastic and wet enough to form ribbons when pressed between the thumb and forefinger. This area meets the hydrology requirement because it remains saturated to within one foot of the surface for more than two weeks during the growing season.

2) Wetland vegetation is dominant around and in the ponded area. Bacopa sp., Eleocharis sp. (spike rush), Ludwigia octovalvis (Water-Primrose), Polygynus hydrophiloides (Smartweed), Salix nigra (Black Willow), and Eleocharis sp. were all found growing around the pond. Submerged aquatic plants included Chara sp., Ludwigia sp., and Utricularia sp. (Bladderwort). The saturated area below the pond was populated by a lush groundcover of Eleocharis sp., and overstory of Ludwigia octovalvis (Water-Primrose). All dominant species mentioned above in both wetland areas are obligate or facultative wetland plants.

3) Wetland Soils criteria is met at both the ponded site and the saturated site. Ponded sites are exempt from the soils test, and the soil samples taken at the saturated site register a hue, shade, and chroma of 10YR 3/1 according to the Munsell Soil Color Charts. A chroma of 1 qualifies this soil as hydric.

Subject: Wetland Assessment at 2100 Parker Lane

Dear SRCC:

As requested, I am providing you my environmental assessment of an existing pond, located on a tract of land at the southwest corner of Windoak and Parker Lane, Austin, Texas. I was invited by the landowner (Michael Hamilton) to assess the pond to determine if it meets the criteria as a critical environmental feature (CEF), per City of Austin Land Development Code. As you will read, the pond is a CEF and may be protected or enhanced during as part of the development permit. I am copying the original email below:

Subject: Parker Lane and Windoak Pond Assessment, Presubmittal

Michael,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the City of Austin regulatory status of your pond during the early planning stages of a possible development on the above referenced tract. Scott Her and I investigated the pond today for the presence of critical environmental features (CEFs), including springs and wetlands. Scott concluded that the source of the water feeding the pond may or may not be a spring source, but either way the spring is located more than 150' from your property line. 150' is the standard setback for a CEF; therefore, your property would not be subject to any part of a spring CEF setback, even if one were located further up the watershed.

I identified a small fringe wetland along the shoreline of the pond, near the dam and outfall structure. Although small, this wetland indicates long-term saturation and evidence that the pond is providing a valuable water quality service to the Harper's Branch watershed (similar to a constructed water quality pond). Any area that is permanently ponded automatically meets two of the Army Corps technical criteria for a wetland: wetland hydrology and hydric soils can be assumed in a ponded environment. The only other criteria is the dominance by wetland vegetation. One 2' X 12' fringe area of the pond, near the outfall, is dominated by Obligate and/or Facultative-Wet vegetation including Water Primrose (Ludwigia octovalvis), Marsh Aster (Aster subulatus), and Gratsedge (Cyperus sp.). Constructed, isolated ponds like this one, are not regulated by the Army Corps, but are regulated as wetland CEFs by the City of Austin when meeting the technical wetland criteria.

If this case comes through the City's development review process, I will recommend a continuous setback of 50' from the normal high water mark of the pond (the outfall elevation). This is the standard setback given to isolated ponds unless additional setback can be added to the stream feeding the pond. In your case, the stream feeding the pond is off

Your property. Since the significant wetland area is so small, some setback flexibility could be considered; for example an average 50' setback, never to be less than 35'. In general, the natural character, water quality function, and wildlife value of the pond will be preserved best coupled with the best tree and native ground cover protection around the pond. In addition, since the pond is man-made, City rules allow it to be modified into a water quality wet pond or wet detention pond to fulfill City water quality and/or flood control requirements. If this is requested, enhancement of wetlands by creation of wetland benches may be required and floodplain may be necessary to provide adequate storage for flood detention.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE NEIGHBORHOOD PLAN CONTACT TEAM (NPCT)

Background
In May 1997, the City Council adopted the neighborhood planning process, followed by the neighborhood plan amendment process in March of 2003. The neighborhood plan amendment ordinance states that prior to submittal of the neighborhood plan to City Council, a neighborhood plan contact team shall be established.

What is a Neighborhood Plan Contact Team (NPCT)?
A Neighborhood Planning Contact Team is a group of individuals that upholds the vision and goals of their neighborhood plan and is the steward of the plan’s recommendations. The NPCT has been designated as the group that will officially respond to plan amendment requests in addition to having some authority to determine when plan amendment applications may be filed.

How is the Neighborhood Planning Contact Team structured?
Members of the NPCT can choose how to structure their Team. Two ways NPCTs have been organized in the past are:

1) Area-wide Structure
NPCT membership shall be open to anyone who lives, owns property or operates a business within the boundaries of the neighborhood planning area or,

2) District Structure
The neighborhood planning area can be divided into various districts that cover the entire geographic planning area. Within each district, a contact team member can be selected to sit on the Contact Team.

What are the Roles and Responsibilities of a Neighborhood Plan Contact Team?
The NPCT will act as a steward of their neighborhood plan by:

1) Working towards the implementation of the plan’s recommendations
Once the neighborhood plan is adopted by the City Council, the NPCT is responsible for monitoring and prioritizing the plan’s recommendations and communicating with implementing departments.
It will have departmental contact information at its disposal in addition to any details related to specific plan recommendations provided by these contacts during the department review process.

2) Taking a position on proposed neighborhood plan amendments
   The NPCT will be asked to attend periodic meetings organized by neighborhood planning staff to hear about proposed neighborhood plan amendments. The Team is then responsible for submitting a letter to staff prior to the Planning Commission public hearing stating whether they support or do not support the proposed plan amendment.

3) Initiating plan amendments
   The NPCT has the ability to submit an application to amend a neighborhood plan at any time. The team can also submit an application on behalf of another person who wishes to apply for an amendment out of cycle for a project that would further the goals of the neighborhood plan.

Neighborhood Planning Contact Team Criteria
The neighborhood plan amendment ordinance states that the NPCT shall include at least one representative from each of the following four groups:

- Property owners
- Non-property owner residents (i.e. renters)
- Business owners
- Neighborhood associations

Once the NPCT is established, bylaws shall be prepared to address operating procedures for the group, including membership, meetings, notice requirements, decision-making and voting procedures, and conflict of interest issues. Bylaws are self-enforced. Bylaws shall be signed by all NPCT members and submitted to neighborhood planning staff to review for consistency with the ordinance.

Additional Information
The NPCT incurs no liability but makes recommendations to the Planning Commission and the City Council; it does not make legally enforceable decisions. As noted above, a NPCT has certain rights to initiate plan amendment cases; however, there are no liability issues with respect to such an action.
In the event that the persons involved in the creation of a neighborhood plan are unable, or do not wish, to form a NPCT, the status quo will be maintained (i.e. individuals and neighborhood associations will represent their interests and positions when plan amendment cases arise). The rights granted to a NPCT will not be granted to individual neighborhood associations.

The NPCT is not intended to replace existing neighborhood associations. How this group fits in with the existing neighborhood association structure is up to the individuals within the area.

Subject: Affordability Impact Statement – East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan

The Neighborhood Housing and Community Development Office finds that the Planning Commission’s recommendations for adoption of the proposed East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan could have a positive impact on housing affordability. The Neighborhood Planning Team’s recommendations could have a positive impact on many sites in the Community preservation Zone, but create impediments on all but one-site located south of East Riverside Drive.

Community Preservation and Revitalization Zone

The Planning Commission recommends that the proposed East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan include language supporting the housing affordability goals of the Community Preservation and Revitalization (CP&R) zone. A portion of the East Riverside Planning Area north of East Riverside Drive lies within the CP&R Zone created by the City Council on April 28, 2005 (Resolution 20050428-043). The Council established the CP&R Zone and related housing affordability goals for both housing development and mixed-use development to mitigate gentrification pressures in certain neighborhoods located east of IH 35. Specifically, the City Council directed City staff to identify strategies for creating housing for families at or below 65% Median Family Income (MFI) ($46,200 for a family of four).
Applicants for zoning changes in the CP&R Zone can choose to build exclusively market rate housing or could voluntarily participate in S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ and provide some homeownership or rental opportunities for 80% MFI households. None of the applicants with pending zoning requests in the CP&R portion of the Riverside Plan have agreed to participate in S.M.A.R.T. Housing™. The net result is that only market rate housing would be constructed in this area that faces gentrification pressures identified previously identified by the City Council. The Planning Commission’s recommendation encourages applicants seeking additional entitlements to consider housing affordability goals within the CP&R Zone. The Planning Team’s recommendations identifies specific sites within the CP&R Zone where affordability is encouraged.

Homeownership

NHCD supports the neighborhood’s goal for more homeownership opportunities in the planning area. It is important to note that only one S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ zoning application to create additional homeownership opportunities in the East Riverside/Oltorf Planning Area is pending. The applicant reports that some neighborhood stakeholders have told him that they will oppose his zoning change request to create homeownership if he develops under the S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ Policy, but will support the same zoning change request if he withdraws his S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ application. Other neighborhood stakeholders, in a meeting with NHCD, have expressed support for S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ on this property.

Recommendations:

1. NHCD supports the Planning Commission recommendations for rezoning of existing multi-family development on commercially zoned lots to the appropriate MF or MU zoning category as recommended by Neighborhood Planning and Zoning Department staff. This is a policy we have consistently supported in other neighborhood plans for the policy reduces the likelihood that affordable rental housing stock could be lost if a building suffered severe damage.

2. NHCD supports the Planning Commission recommendation linking residential development entitlements to the City’s housing affordability goals established by the City Council for the Community Preservation and Revitalization Zone. Adoption of this recommendation in the East Riverside Plan would mitigate the potential impacts of intensifying gentrification pressures in the Community Preservation and Revitalization Zone. NHCD staff hopes to continue dialogue with CP&R Zone applicants and neighborhood stakeholders prior to City Council action on the proposed neighborhood plan.
3. Given the significant number of rental units in this planning units and the age of this housing stock, there are significant redevelopment or remodeling opportunities to create homeownership and rental housing opportunities for housing that is both safe and affordable.

Given the challenges created by the sloping lots and expansive soils in this planning area, NHCD supports the Planning Commission recommendation that the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan contain language similar to the North Hyde Park Neighborhood Plan where existing multi-family could be replaced by new multi-family of the same height and number of units. The proposed affordability goal would be that 10% of the homeownership or rental units serve households at 65% Median Family Income for fifteen (15) years. This could support the planning team’s goal of increasing opportunities for homeownership while not increasing the amount of multi-family housing and the City’s goal to expand S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ opportunities throughout the city.

The Neighborhood Planning Team’s recommendation mirrors the North Hyde Park standards on many sites north of East Riverside Drive, but only one site south of East Riverside Drive.

If the Planning Commission’s proposed language were not adopted, the Neighborhood Planning Team’s proposal and associated zoning changes would create significant impediments to future S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ development since many of the existing multi-family housing could not be replaced except with market-rate housing.

In summary, the Planning Commission has recommended several of the elements of the East Riverside/Oltorf Neighborhood Plan that could have a positive impact on housing affordability. The Neighborhood Planning Team’s recommendations would provide fewer opportunities for S.M.A.R.T. Housing™ redevelopment than the Planning Commission’s recommendations, and these opportunities would generally be limited in the portion of the planning area located south of East Riverside Drive.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Base District: A zoning district that establishes regulations governing land use and site development in a specific geographic area. Regulations may include:

- A minimum lot size
- A minimum lot width
- Maximum impervious coverage
- Maximum height allowances
- Required setbacks

Buffer or Buffer Strip: Landscaped areas, open spaces, fences, walls, berms, or any combination of these, used to physically separate or screen one land use or piece of property from another. Buffers are often used to block light or noise.

Built Environment: The urban environment consisting of buildings, roads, fixtures, parks, and all other improvements that form the physical character of a city.

Capital Improvement Program (CIP): A community’s plan for matching the cost of large-scale improvements—such as fixing roads, water and sewer mains—to anticipated revenues, such as taxes and bonds.

Character: The image and perception of a community as defined by its built environment, landscaping, natural features and open space, types and style of housing, and number and size of roads and sidewalks.

Combining District: A zoning designation, similar to a zoning overlay, that is used to apply additional regulations and restrictions in combination with existing zoning regulations for a geographic area such as a neighborhood. It is adopted by an ordinance passed by the City Council. Combining and overlay districts are designed to achieve special goals such as downtown design, economic redevelopment, and parkland protection. See Neighborhood Plan Combining District

Compatibility Standards: Development regulations established to minimize the effects of commercial, industrial, or intense residential development on nearby residential property. These standards usually include:

- Regulation of building height
- Minimum and maximum building setbacks
- Buffers
• Building design
• Controls to limit the impact of lighting on adjacent properties

Conditional Overlay: A zoning tool that modifies land use and development regulations to address specific circumstances presented by a particular geographic area or site. It usually imposes further requirements in addition to those required by the base district. A conditional overlay is a restrictive tool in that it can prohibit, or make conditional, specific uses, but it cannot add uses.

A conditional overlay may be combined with any base zoning district to:

• Promote compatibility between competing or potentially incompatible uses
• Ease the transition from one base district to another
• Address special concerns with specific land uses
• Guide development in unique circumstances

A conditional overlay may:

• Prohibit permitted, conditional, and accessory uses otherwise allowed in a base district
• Make a permitted use a conditional one
• Decrease the density that may be constructed
• Decrease building heights
• Increase minimum setback requirements
• Decrease the maximum impervious cover
• Restrict access to adjacent roads and require specific design features to minimize the effects of traffic

Density: The number of dwelling units (houses, apartments, townhouses, duplexes, etc.), or buildings per unit of land. In Neighborhood Planning, this is often expressed as dwelling units per acre or du/ac.

Downzone: To change the land use of a tract or parcel of land from a greater to less intense usage. An example would be a change in zoning from Light Industrial (LI) to Commercial Services (CS) or Mixed Use (MU). See Zoning for a more complete description of different zoning districts.

Façade: The exterior walls of a building that can be seen by the public.

Flood Zone—100 year: The land along a creek, dry wash, river, lake, seaside, swamp, bay, estuary, or in a low lying area or depression that has a one in one hundred chance of flooding every year.
Floor Area Ratio (FAR): The total floor area of all buildings or structures on a lot divided by the total area of the lot. FAR is a measure often used to determine the intensity of land use for a zoning district.

FAR = \frac{\text{Total Building Floor Area}}{\text{Total Lot Area}}

\text{FAR of 0.2} = \frac{2000 \text{ SF (building size)}}{10,000 \text{ SF lot size}}

Future Land Use Map (FLUM): The graphical representation of recommendations for future growth patterns in an area. It depicts where different types of development should occur (e.g. parks, schools, houses, offices) by color.

Impervious Cover: Anything that stops rainwater from soaking into the ground, including roads, sidewalks, driveways, parking lots, swimming pools, and buildings.

Infill Development: A type of development occurring in established areas of the city. Infill can occur on long-time vacant lots or on pieces of land with dilapidated buildings, or can involve changing the land use of a property from a less to a more intensive one—i.e. from a parking lot to an office building.

Land Development Code (LDC): Rules, regulations, and ordinances that govern how and where certain types of development may occur.

Land Use: The manner in which a parcel of land is used or occupied.

Mixed Use (MU): A type of development that combines residential, commercial, and/or office uses, within a commercial or office zoning district, into one development or building. For example, a mixed-use building could have several floors. On the bottom floor, the space could be dedicated to retail or offices. The remaining two or three floors could be for apartments or condominiums. A Mixed Use Combining District allows residential, commercial, retail, and office uses to be combined in a single development.

Under the Smart Growth Infill Ordinance passed in the Spring of 2000, two types of Mixed Use development are now possible in those neighborhoods with adopted neighborhood plans that include these uses as part of their plans:

- Neighborhood Urban Center allows a variety of residential types (condos, apartments, townhouses) and commercial, office, and retail uses clustered together in a development of less than forty acres.
- A Neighborhood Mixed Use Building allows residential uses above ground floor commercial uses.
Multifamily: A building that is designed to house more than one family. Examples would be a four-plex, condominiums, or apartment building.

Neighborhood Plan Combining District: This is a combining district that includes the zoning recommendations in an adopted neighborhood plan. See Combining District.

Neighborhood Design Guidelines: Guidelines developed during the neighborhood planning process that serve as recommendations as to how future residential, commercial, and industrial development should be constructed to be more compatible and better blend into an existing neighborhood.

Neighborhood Planning: A two-phase process by which members of the community develop plans to manage future development in their neighborhoods. The first phase of the process involves establishing goals and objectives and the actions required to address neighborhood issues. The second phase implements the land use and zoning changes recommended in the neighborhood plan in the form of a Neighborhood Plan Combining District.

Nonconforming Use: The use of any land, building or structure that does not conform with current zoning regulations, but was lawful or not required to comply with zoning regulations at the time a zoning district was established. They may be permitted to continue or be given time to come into compliance with the existing zoning ordinance. In addition, specific code requirements address the ability to make major substantial changes to structures designated as nonconforming uses. This is also known as a Grandfathered Use.

Open Space: An area set aside or reserved for public or private use with very few improvements. Types of open space include:

- Golf Courses
- Agricultural Land
- Parks
- Greenbelts
- Nature Preserves

In many cases, land designated as open space lies within the 100-year flood zone, has sensitive environmental features such as wetlands or aquifer recharge features such as caves and fault lines, or has unstable slopes.

Overlay: A set of zoning requirements that is applied to an area that may place further development restrictions on a zoning district. Development in an overlay district must conform to the base district as well as the overlay zoning requirements.
Pedestrian-Scaled: Development designed so a person can comfortably walk from one location to another, encourages strolling, window-shopping, and other pedestrian activities, provides a mix of commercial and civic uses (offices, a mix of different retail types, libraries and other government and social service outlets), and provides visually interesting and useful details such as:

- Public clocks
- Benches
- Public art such as murals and sculptures
- Shade structures such as canopies and covered walkways
- Decorative water fountains
- Drinking fountains
- Textured pavement such as bricks or cobblestones
- Shade trees
- Interesting light poles
- Trash bins
- Transit system maps
- Covered transit stops
- Street-level retail with storefront windows.

Planning: The process of setting development goals and policy, gathering and evaluating information, and developing alternatives for future actions based on the evaluation of the information.

Redevelopment: The conversion of a building or project from an old use to a new one. Examples are the conversions of old warehouses to bars or coffee shops or converting an old industrial complex into a shopping center like the Quarry Market in San Antonio. It is also known as Adaptive Reuse.

Rezone: To change the zoning classification of particular lots or parcels of land.

Setbacks: The minimum distance between the building and any lot line.

Small Lot Amnesty: The ability of a property owner to request a building permit without submitting a subdivision application to construct a single family home that will have sixty-five percent impervious cover on a 2,500 square foot lot. Small lot amnesty is applied when the lot in question is neither a legal nor a grandfathered lot and does not meet the current minimum standards of the base zoning district where it is located. Small lot amnesty is limited to areas with adopted neighborhood plans where it is permitted by the plan.

Streetscape: The space between the buildings on either side of a street that defines its character. The elements of a streetscape include:
• Building Frontage/Facade
• Landscaping (trees, yards, bushes, plantings, etc.)
• Sidewalks
• Street Paving
• Street Furniture (benches, kiosks, trash receptacles, fountains, etc)
• Signs
• Awnings
• Street Lighting

Urban Home: A substandard or nonconforming lot of 3,500 sq. ft. or larger. An urban home is required for a substandard corner lot. It is permitted only in areas with adopted neighborhood plans that specifically permit them. To build a house on a lot this size outside of an adopted neighborhood plan area requires a variance.

Watershed: A relatively large area of land that drains water into a river, creek or into an aquifer (an underground reservoir or lake). In Central Texas, water draining into an aquifer usually flows into recharge features such as caves or fractures in the ground.

Zoning: The method used by cities to promote the compatibility of land uses by dividing tracts of land within the city into different districts or zones. Zoning ensures that a factory is not located in the middle of a residential neighborhood or that a bar is not located next to an elementary school.

PLAN ADOPTION ORDINANCE
ORDINANCE NO. 20061116-055

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF AUSTIN:

PART 1. FINDINGS.

(A) In 1979, the City Council adopted the “Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan”

(B) Article X, Section 5 of the City Charter authorizes the City Council to adopt by ordinance additional elements of a comprehensive plan that are necessary or desirable to establish and implement policies for growth, development, and beautification, including neighborhood, community, or area-wide plans

(C) In October, 2003, an initial survey was distributed to residents in the neighborhood planning area, and subsequent meetings were held with the City of Austin Neighborhood planning staff and homeowners, renters, business owners, non-profit organizations and non-resident property owners to prepare a neighborhood plan. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan followed a process first outlined by the Citizens’ Planning Committee in 1995, and refined by the Ad Hoc Neighborhood Planning Committee in 1996. The City Council endorsed this approach for neighborhood planning in a 1997 resolution. This process mandated representation of all of the stakeholders in the neighborhood and required active public outreach. The City Council directed the Planning Commission to consider the plan in a 2003 resolution. During the planning process, the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan planning team gathered information and solicited public input through the following means:

1. neighborhood planning team meetings,
2. collection of existing data,
3. neighborhood inventory,
4. neighborhood survey,
5. neighborhood workshops, and
The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan recommends action by the neighborhood planning team, the City, and by other agencies to preserve and improve the neighborhood. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan has thirteen major goals:

1. Preserve and enhance the character of existing residential neighborhoods
2. Increase home ownership opportunities that are compatible with surrounding properties
3. Improve the appearance, vitality, and safety of existing commercial corridors and community amenities and encourage quality urban design and form that ensures adequate transition between commercial properties and adjacent residential neighborhoods
4. Encourage a balanced mix of residential, civic, commercial, office and other land uses without adversely affecting adjacent residential neighborhoods
5. Enhance the transportation network to allow residents and visitors to get around safely and efficiently by foot, bicycle, automobile, and public transit
6. Protect and enhance the Town Lake Waterfront as well as creek areas and other natural amenities
7. Preserve and enhance existing parks, the 18-hole Riverside Golf Course and other open spaces and create opportunities for additional public open space
8. Provide affordable housing opportunities through redevelopment of existing multifamily developments
9. Create interesting, lively, inviting, attractive, safe and comfortable non-residential environments that will encourage walking, biking, and transit use and be appealing to passing motorists
10. Create convenient and accessible parking areas that do not dominate the environment and provide safe interaction between vehicles and pedestrians
11. Encourage urban design strategies for single-family neighborhoods that preserve, complement and enhance existing character
(12) Promote multifamily structures that relate well to the surrounding environment, utilize a variety of building forms, have a thoughtful parking scheme, provide public open space and include a variety of appropriate landscape options.

(13) Minimize the visual impact of industrial properties from other districts and public spaces in the neighborhood planning area.

(E) The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan goals are further described in the Land Use, Urban Design, Transportation, and Parks, Trails, Open Space and the Natural Environment sections of the Plan.

(F) On June 13, 2006, the Planning Commission held a public hearing on the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan, and recommended adoption of the plan by the City Council.

(G) The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is appropriate for adoption as an element of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan furthers the City Council’s goal of achieving appropriate, compatible development within the area. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is necessary and desirable to establish and implement policies for growth, development, and beautification in the area.

PART 2. ADOPTION AND DIRECTION.

(A) Chapter 5 of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan is amended to add the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan as Section 5-21 of the Comprehensive Plan as set forth in Exhibit A, and the Future Land Use Map as set forth in Exhibit B, and which are incorporated as part of this ordinance, save and except the following properties:

1. Tract 203 2600, 2600 ½ South Pleasant Valley Road

Texas Franchise Taxpayers: Your Annual Report Is Due

Your annual franchise tax report is due on the date shown in the box in the upper right corner of this letter. Even if you have no tax due or no activity to report, Texas tax law requires that you file a franchise tax report and information report each year.

Choose a Reporting Option
There are three reporting options: No Tax Due Report, E-Z Computation Report and the Long Form report. You will need to choose the best report for your situation.

Taxable entities that are part of a combined group engaged in a unitary business must file a combined group report. A passive entity or a new veteran-owned business cannot be included in a combined group report.

You can file a No Tax Due Report if your business:
• is an entity or a combined group with annualized total revenue less than or equal to the no tax due threshold;
• has zero Texas receipts; or
• meets the statutory requirements for a passive entity, a real estate investment trust or a new veteran-owned business.

You must file an original No Tax Due Report electronically. You can file free through the Comptroller's Webfile system at www.comptroller.texas.gov/taxes/file-pay/.

You can file an E-Z Computation Report if your business is an entity or a combined group with annualized total revenue of $20 million or less.
If you choose this option, your business cannot:
• take any margin deductions (including cost of goods sold or compensation),
• take any franchise tax credits, or
• carry over that report year's temporary credit for business loss carryforward to a future period.

You must file a Long Form report if you:
• are not eligible to file either the No Tax Due Report or the E-Z Computation Report, or
• will take franchise tax credits.

Request an Extension
A $50 penalty is due on a report filed after the due date, even if no tax is due. If you need more time to file, request an extension by the due date to avoid the penalty. A combined group must include the Texas Franchise Tax Affiliate List with its first extension request.

Save Time and File Online!
With the Comptroller's secure online system, Webfile (www.comptroller.texas.gov/taxes/file-pay/), you can file a franchise tax report, pay tax due or request an extension. First-time users will need the Webfile number in the box in the upper right corner of this letter to get started. (Note: Your tax preparer may need your Webfile number to file your report electronically.)

Hi Larry, Attached is a revised version of your map. Would you mind taking a look and letting me know if this works.

I’m so sorry for the delay. We literally just got the map software working a few minutes ago.

No problem Joan.

Joan,
The east boundary is still wrong. It is shown as Burton Dr. but it is Willow Creek Dr. one street to the east. All the other boundaries are correct.
Thanks for working with me on this. Appreciate it.

Full Application

Part 9

TDHCA Review Tabs
Multifamily Finance Division staff will place scanned copies of deficiency documents behind this tab in the application .pdf
Megan and Alyssa,

Instead of creating a new deficiency template, I think it is easier to just add one additional item to the deficiency I sent earlier today. It is as follows and also regards the CRP scoring item:

4) 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iv)(I) awards points to those Applications that receive “a letter from the appropriate local official providing documentation of measurable improvements within the revitalization area.” Staff generally expects to receive these letters from executive level officials, such as Directors or City Managers. Please provide confirmation that Mr. May is the “appropriate local official” to provide input on the city of Austin’s concerted revitalization plans.

In the course of the Department’s Housing Tax Credit Eligibility/Selection/Threshold and/or Direct Loan review of the above referenced application, a possible Administrative Deficiency as defined in §11.1(d)(2) and described in §11.201(7), §11.201(7)(A) and §11.201(7)(B) of the 2019 Uniform Multifamily Rules was identified. By this notice, the Department is requesting documentation to correct the following deficiency or deficiencies. Any issue initially identified as an Administrative Deficiency may ultimately be determined to be beyond the scope of an Administrative Deficiency, and the distinction between material and non-material missing information is reserved for the Director of Multifamily Finance, Executive Director, and Board.

The Applicant has selected 7 points under 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7), Concerted Revitalization Plan (CRP). CRP has several requirements listed in 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(i)-(iii) that must be present before an Applicant can qualify for the points under 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iv).

The Applicant should clarify how the proposed CRP meets the following requirements:

1. 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(i) requires a CRP for “a distinct area that was once vital and has lapsed into a condition requiring concerted revitalization …” Please point staff to examples of language in the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood
Plan that speaks to why it was created for the purpose of revitalizing a distinct area that was once vital and now warrants reinvestment.

2. §11.9(d)(7)(A)(ii) states, in part, that “a city- or county-wide comprehensive plan, by itself, does not equate to a concerted revitalization plan.” Please explain how the proposed CRP is more than just a comprehensive plan. The City Council resolution adopting the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan identifies it as “an element of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan” (page 55). Page 1 of the CRP packet only lists the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. What are the additional features that make the proposed CRP more than just a comprehensive plan?

3. §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iii)(III) requires that the “goals of the adopted plan must have a history of sufficient, documented and committed funding to accomplish its purposes on its established timeline.” Additionally, “this funding must be flowing in accordance with the plan, such that the problems identified within the plan are currently being or have been sufficiently addressed.” Please further explain and help staff to understand the history of “sufficient, documented, committed funding” of the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. Is the $8 million in funding (summation of individual projects in the Implementation Tracking Chart) the result of a combination of capital improvement projects and city-wide bond financing?

The above list may not include all Administrative Deficiencies such as those that may be identified upon a supervisory review of the application. Notice of additional Administrative Deficiencies may appear in a separate notification.

All deficiencies must be corrected or otherwise resolved by 5 pm Austin local time on the fifth business day following the date of this deficiency notice. Deficiencies resolved after 5 pm Austin local time on the fifth business day will have 5 points deducted from the final score. For each additional day beyond the fifth day that any deficiency remains unresolved, the application will be treated in accordance with §11.201(7)(B) of the 2019 Uniform Multifamily Rules. Applications with unresolved deficiencies after 5pm Austin local time on the seventh business day may be terminated.

All deficiencies related to the Direct Loan portion of the Application must be resolved to the satisfaction of the Department by 5pm Austin local time on the fifth business day following the date of this deficiency notice. Applications with unresolved deficiencies after 5pm Austin local time on the seventh business day will be suspended from further processing, and the Applicant will be notified to that effect, until the deficiencies are resolved. If, during the period of time when the Application is suspended from review, Direct Loan funds become oversubscribed, the Applicant will be informed that unless the outstanding item(s) are resolved within one business day the Application will be terminated. For purposes of priority under the Direct Loan set-asides, if the outstanding item(s) are resolved within one business day, the date by which the item is submitted shall be the new received date pursuant to §13.5(c) of the 2019 Multifamily Direct Loan Rule. Applicants should be prepared for additional time needed for completion of staff reviews.
Unless the person that issued this deficiency notice, named below, specifies otherwise, submit all documentation at the same time and in only one file using the Department’s Serv-U HTTPS System. Once the documents are submitted to the Serv-U HTTPS system, please email the staff member issuing this notice. If you have questions regarding the Serv-U HTTPS submission process, contact Liz Cline at liz.cline@tdhca.state.tx.us or by phone at (512)475-3227. You may also contact Jason Burr at jason.burr@tdhca.state.tx.us or by phone at (512)475-3986.

All applicants should review §§11.1(b) and 11.1(h) of the 2019 QAP and Uniform Multifamily Rules as they apply to due diligence, applicant responsibility, and the competitive nature of the program for which they are applying.

All deficiencies must be corrected or clarified by 5 pm Austin local time on May 14, 2019. Please respond to this email as confirmation of receipt.

Dear Mr. Russell:

As the Community Development Administrator, City of Austin, Neighborhood Housing & Community Development Department, this letter confirms that James May is the appropriate city official to sign the letters “providing documentation of measurable improvements within the revitalization area” for all applications submitted within the city limits of the City of Austin. Mr. May leads our department's efforts in assessing all applications that submit housing tax credit applications for sites within the city limits of the City of Austin, and therefore, he is the most appropriate person to provide such a letter.

I appreciate your time and assistance. Please do not hesitate to contact me for further information.

Sincerely,

Response to CRP Deficiency -- 19288 Vi Collina

1. 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(i) requires a CRP for “a distinct area that was once vital and has lapsed into a condition requiring concerted revitalization …” Please point staff to examples of language in the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan that speaks to why it was created for the purpose of revitalizing a distinct area that was once vital and now warrants reinvestment.

The City uses the neighborhood planning process as a way to review the past demographics and trends of an area, how those demographics/trends have impacted an area, and what the city needs to do in the future for the area as a way to create a cohesive agenda for the plan’s specific area – all key to community revitalization efforts.

This specific area had issues of crime, infrastructure concerns, and decrease of owner occupancy rates that were not reflective of Urban Core in-migration patterns in surrounding neighborhoods – all indications of issues that are appropriate for a concerted revitalization plan efforts. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is the vehicle by which the city undertook those efforts.

Plan page 26 (PDF pg 96) “Two of the three planning areas (Pleasant Valley and Riverside) experienced a decrease in owner occupancy rates from 1990-2000, a trend opposite that of the Urban Core (US Census).”

“Between 2000 and 2004, 1855 multifamily units were added and only 211 single family units were added (City of Austin Demographer).”

“Crime rate in the 78741 zip code is the highest in the city, with over 14,000 crimes committed in 2005 (combination of indexed and non-indexed, Austin Police Department).”

Plan page 70 (PDF pg 140) “An overabundance of multifamily housing has resulted in problems related to traffic congestion, a high crime rate and inadequate infrastructure, and does not promote home ownership.”

Plan page 71 (PDF pg 141) “A concern related to possible future (re)development raised by participants during Neighborhood Planning meetings addressed the trend of new residential construction in the inner-city that is unaffordable to many Austinites.”

“Although extremely dangerous, pedestrian activity along Riverside Drive is much heavier than one would expect. Many residents rely on public transportation and have no option but to walk to and from grocery stores, bus stops, and existing retail establishments. After dark, there is even more pedestrian activity along Riverside Drive.”
Plan pg 81 (PDF pg 151) “Several of the roads that bound and bisect this area are wide and contain numerous traffic lanes, which makes it very challenging for non-automobile users to safely and efficiently traverse from one part of the area to another. Coupled with insufficient pedestrian and bicycle infrastructure, this creates problems and annoyances for those who would like to access services and local amenities on both sides of a roadway.”

Plan pg 150 (PDF pg 220) Neighborhood Survey Results – see excerpt below with crime being number 2, infrastructure being number 4 and revitalization being number 8 and code enforcement being number 10.

These plan area specific concerns are being addressed through the goals and objectives laid out beginning on page 26 of the plan (PDF page 96) and as confirmed in the letter from the City.

2. §11.9(d)(7)(A)(ii) states, in part, that “a city- or county-wide comprehensive plan, by itself, does not equate to a concerted revitalization plan.” Please explain how the proposed CRP is more than just a comprehensive plan. The City Council resolution adopting the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan identifies it as “an element of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan” (page 55). Page 1 of the CRP packet only lists the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. What are the additional features that make the proposed CRP more than just a comprehensive plan?

The purpose of a City’s Comprehensive Plan is to lay out a long range plan for the growth of the city as a whole. It addresses the needs and priorities of a city, and sets out goals to address those needs/priorities. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is a follow on to, but is not in itself a Comprehensive Plan. The Neighborhood Plan is intended to be a review of the problems and needs of a specific targeted, much smaller portion of the City. In other words, one is a macro look at the city, and the other is a micro look at a specific area of the city.

The CRP specifically includes working with individuals who live within the neighborhood, neighborhood specific surveys, workshops, and other public meetings to identify assets/strengths and challenges that are specific to the immediate area. Please see pages 2-7 (PDF pages 72-78) for the summaries of these neighborhood specific planning meetings and informational sessions that were conducted as part of drafting this neighborhood plan. As required by the QAP the CRP represents a “neighborhood or small group of contiguous neighborhoods with common attributes and problems.”
As identified on the map located at page xi of the plan (PDF page 70) the plan area is a very small portion of the overall city. The issues, concerns, goals and objectives outlined in the neighborhood plan are very specific to the plan area and the neighborhood itself and were the result of very specific neighborhood input and planning processes.

These differences/distinctions are confirmed in the attached letter from the city.

3. §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iii)(III) requires that the “goals of the adopted plan must have a history of sufficient, documented and committed funding to accomplish its purposes on its established timeline.” Additionally, “this funding must be flowing in accordance with the plan, such that the problems identified within the plan are currently being or have been sufficiently addressed.” Please further explain and help staff to understand the history of “sufficient, documented, committed funding” of the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. Is the $8 million in funding (summation of individual projects in the Implementation Tracking Chart) the result of a combination of capital improvement projects and city-wide bond financing?

Funding for the projects came from a variety of sources including CIP, City-wide bonds (including various mobility bonds), Austin Parks Foundation, Public Works, Austin Transportation Department, and TxDOT.

Please see attached report which outlines the goals addressed, page of plan the goal is discussed, activity undertaken, amount invested, and where the funds from come.

4. 10 TAC §11.9(d)(7)(A)(iv)(I) awards points to those Applications that receive “a letter from the appropriate local official providing documentation of measurable improvements within the revitalization area.” Staff generally expects to receive these letters from executive level officials, such as Directors or City Managers. Please provide confirmation that Mr. May is the “appropriate local official” to provide input on the city of Austin’s concerted revitalization plans.

The letter was signed by James B. May who is the Community Development Manager for the City of Austin, and is the appropriate local official to provide input into the City of Austin’s concerted revitalization plans.

This items has since been removed by TDHCA staff based on direct confirmation with the City of Austin staff.

Dear Ms. Gamble:

The development team for Vi Collina received the following request for clarification:

“Please explain how the proposed CRP is more than just a comprehensive plan. The City Council resolution adopting the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan identifies it as “an element of the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan” (page 55). Page 1 of the CRP packet only lists the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan. What are the additional features that make the proposed CRP more than just a comprehensive plan?”

Please allow me to address these concerns. The purpose of a City’s Comprehensive Plan is to lay out a long range plan for the growth of the city as a whole. It addresses the needs and priorities of a city, and sets out goals to address those needs/priorities. The Neighborhood Plan is intended to be a review of the problems and needs of a specific, targeted, much smaller portion of the City, providing greater detail and more specificity. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is identified as an element of the Comprehensive Plan so that it carries the regulatory weight of the Comprehensive Plan.

The CRP specifically includes working with individuals who live within the neighborhood, neighborhood specific surveys, workshops, and other public meetings to identify assets/strengths and challenges that are specific to the immediate area. As required by the QAP the CRP represents a “neighborhood or small group of contiguous neighborhoods with common attributes and problems.”

The City uses the neighborhood planning process as a way review the past demographics and trends of an area, how those demographics/trends have impacted an area, and what the city needs to do in the future for the area as a way to create a cohesive agenda for the plan’s specific area – all key to our community revitalization efforts. This specific area had issues of crime, infrastructure, and decrease of owner occupancy rates that were not reflective of Urban Core in-migration patterns in surrounding neighborhoods – all indications of issues that are appropriate for a concerted revitalization plan efforts. The East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan is the vehicle by which we undertook those efforts.

Staff Comments

10/2013 (PDRD): About 610’ of sidewalk was installed on the west side of Parker Lane going south from E. Riverside Drive in 2009-2011. The remaining gap measures 1,290’. 9/2011 (NPCT): Construction cost estimate for this project was $76,100 in 2008. Summit is well-walked with extremely low visibility in the north stretch from Sunnyvale to E Riverside. 5/2009 (Public Works): 2,200 linear feet @ $24/SF or $120 lineal foot for the average 5’ sidewalk. Sidewalk matrix score: Medium/High. All estimates are at today’s construction costs and subject to change in the future.

9/2011 (NPCT): Safe pedestrian walkways are critical in urban areas. This section of Parker is used by residents of the apartments and single family homes to access bus lines and retail and the lake. Riverside’s #4 priority for FY 2012-13. 10/2008: Riverside’s #8 priority for FY 2009-10.

<td>8/2015 (TXDOT): Bicycle and pedestrian facilities within this project limits (IH-35 and Riverside intersection) are currently in the preliminary design phase. We have received numerous comments from the public and are addressing these during the design. 8/2014 (PDD): Funding for sidewalk and ramp improvements in the 2013 bond project #2111. Riverside Drive has been allocated out of the 2013 bonds. 4/2014 (PDRD): Sidewalk and ramp improvements were completed at the intersection of S. Pleasant Valley Rd. and Riverside Dr. on 10/18/2013. A total of 952 linear feet of sidewalks and ramps were installed. Further improvements in the Riverside corridor are being planned under the 2012 bond project #5386.004. 6/2013 (PDRD): The Country Club Creek Trail underpass at Riverside Drive has been completed. The Wickersham crossing will likely be at grade due to low clearance and a critical environmental feature. 3/2013 (ATD): Pedestrian Hybrid Beacon (PHB) installed at 2400 E. Riverside Dr. near the HEB on 8/31/2012. 12/2011 (ATD): A corridor study is currently underway that is considering all modes of transportation including pedestrian facilities. 9/2011 (Public Works): Riverside was resurfaced to improve visibility of the striping. 7/2009 (Public Works): All intersections controlled by a traffic signal currently have pedestrian ramps, crosswalks, and pedestrian signal indications. We did note that many crosswalks are faded and need to be remarked, and have scheduled this work to be completed as a high priority.</td>
<td>9/20111: Riverside’s #8 priority FY 2012-13. 5/2011 (Contact Team): Safe crosswalks for our dense area are still a high priority. Re-stripping alone does not address that crosswalks are too far apart and traffic across 6 lanes is travelling too fast. Our NPA is not walkable. 10/2008 (POR): Riverside’s #1 priority for FY 2009-10. 8/2008 (Contact Team): Safe crosswalks for our dense area is our highest priority. Need re-stripping, safe protection within the median, better signage and signals, and crosswalks at bus stops. Pedestrians cross anywhere so documentation at any one location is difficult. Issue has surfaced repeatedly in corridor study meetings. Providing a safe way for citizens to cross Riverside at multiple locations as well as Pleasant Valley at Lakeshore is positively a priority. Locations along Riverside include: at Summit, at Lakeshore, at Parker, at Royal Crest, at Tinnin Ford, at Willow Creek, at Pleasant Valley, some point between Pleasant Valley and Willow Creek and Lakeshore at Pleasant Valley. The Country Club Creek Trailhead needs sage crossings across Pleasant Valley to both the south side of Lakeshore Blvd. and the north side.</td>

Additional projects may be identified as a result of that study. 2/2010 (WPD): Drainage Improvements for Pleasant Valley Road downstream of the intersection of Elmont and S. Pleasant Valley to just south of Lake Shore Drive were completed as part of a settlement agreement. Additionally, the reconstruction of Pleasant Valley Road by PW included culvert upgrades to improve drainage. WPD cost participated in this project and contributed funding for the culvert upgrade. Stormwater runoff along S. Pleasant Valley Rd. between E. Riverside Dr. and Lakeshore Blvd. is conveyed by roadside ditches. <td>Investigate the possibility of making the section of IH-35 frontage road at Woodland level with the interstate while maintaining the east-west underpass connection to Travis Heights to facilitate and make safer inter-neighborhood travel.</td>
<td>8/2015 (TXDOT): The overpass of Woodland Avenue is being replaced and will be designed to better accommodate pedestrian and bike users. 5/2015 (PZD): The Mobility35 project is exploring improvements for the IH-35 corridor. The current proposal would preserve east-west connectivity for pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists but would not raise the frontage roads to the highway level. Design is underway, but construction is not funded. For more information, visit http://www.mobility35.org/proposedconcepts/implementation.aspx. (2006): In the original I-35 study, we received numerous comments from residents along Woodland - the outcome was to remove the grade separated interchange (IE. Woodland would &quot;T&quot; into the frontage road on both sides of the interstate). The ramp configuration was also modified to eliminate the Woodland southbound exit ramp.</td>

<td>Any redevelopment or new development along Town Lake between IH-35 and parkland along S. Lakeshore Blvd. (which includes 1818 S. CONFIRMATION AND RATIFICATION TO FIFTH AMENDMENT TO COMMERCIAL CONTRACT – UNIMPROVED PROPERTY

THIS CONFIRMATION AND RATIFICATION TO FIFTH AMENDMENT TO COMMERCIAL CONTRACT – UNIMPROVED PROPERTY (this “Confirmation”) is entered into by and between CEDAR WILLOW CREEK, LTD., a Texas limited partnership ("Seller"), and SAIGEBROOK DEVELOPMENT, LLC, a Florida limited liability company ("Buyer").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Seller and Buyer heretofore entered into that certain Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property, dated on or about December 8, 2017 (the “Contract”), as modified and supplemented by that certain Addendum to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property of even date therewith (the “Addendum”), as amended by that certain First Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property dated April 9, 2018 (the “First Amendment”), as further amended by that certain Second Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property dated April 24, 2018 (the “Second Amendment”), as further amended by that certain Third Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property dated on or about October 25, 2018 (the “Third Amendment”), as further amended by that certain Fourth Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property dated as of February 22, 2019 (the “Fourth Amendment”), as further amended by that certain amendment inadvertently titled “Fourth Amendment” to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property dated as of March 15, 2019, by and between Seller and Vi Collina, LLC (“Vi Collina”), as successor in interest to Buyer (the “Fifth Amendment”; and together with the Contract, the Addendum, the First Amendment, the Second Amendment, the Third Amendment and the Fourth Amendment, collectively, the “Agreement”);

WHEREAS, on or about February 27, 2019, Seller executed that certain Consent to Assignment of Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property, whereby Seller acknowledged and agreed to the assignment of the Agreement from Buyer to Vi Collina;

WHEREAS, the parties acknowledge that Vi Collina has not yet been formed, and that the Fifth Amendment was intended to be executed by Buyer;

WHEREAS, the parties acknowledge that the Fifth Amendment was intended to be titled “Fifth Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property”; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire to (i) confirm and ratify the Agreement, and all of their respective obligations thereunder despite (a) Vi Collina executing the Fifth Amendment instead of Buyer and (b) the Fifth Amendment being inadvertently titled “Fourth Amendment”; and (ii) to amend the Agreement to provide that it may be assigned to an entity controlled by or under common control with O-SDA Industries, LLC, without the consent of Seller.

2. DEFINITIONS: Any capitalized terms not defined in this Confirmation shall have the meaning given to such term in the Agreement.

3. RATIFICATION OF AGREEMENT: The Agreement is hereby ratified, confirmed and reaffirmed in all respects, and shall be treated in the same manner as though (i) Buyer, instead of Vi Collina, had been the original party and signatory to the Fifth Amendment; and (ii) the Fifth Amendment was titled “Fifth Amendment to Commercial Contract – Unimproved Property”.

4. ASSIGNMENT: Notwithstanding any limitation or prohibition in the Agreement, Buyer shall be entitled to assign its right, title and interest in the Agreement to an entity controlled by or under common control with O-SDA Industries, LLC, without the necessity of Seller consent.

5. FULL FORCE AND EFFECT: Except as specifically modified by this Confirmation, all other provisions of the Agreement remain in full force and effect. To the extent of any conflict between the provisions of the Agreement and this Confirmation, the provisions of this Confirmation shall control.

6. AUTHORITY: Seller and Buyer represent and warrant to the other that such party has the full right, power, and lawful authority to enter into, execute, and perform under this Confirmation and that such actions do not violate any other agreement, covenant, or restriction placed upon such party. Seller and Buyer further represent and warrant to the other that the person signing this Confirmation on its behalf has been duly authorized to sign this Confirmation.

7. GOVERNING LAW: This Confirmation shall be governed by the laws of the State of Texas, without application of its conflict of law principles.

8. BINDING EFFECT: This Confirmation shall be binding upon, and shall inure to the benefit of, Seller, Buyer, and their respective successors or assigns.

9. HEADINGS: The headings contained in this Confirmation are for convenience of reference only and shall not be construed as limiting or defining in any way the provisions of this Confirmation.

10. COUNTERPARTS: This Confirmation may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be an original, and all of which shall constitute one and the same instrument.
